Mrs. E. P. Mossman Entertains at Pre-Easter Party

An attractive pre-Easter sociable was held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. P. Mossman on Spring avenue, when she was hostess to the members of the Women's Bible class of the First Presbyterian church and several guests.

Thirty women were present and the hostess showed colored stereopticon slides of the last week of Christ on earth, giving an interesting lesson talk as the pictures were shown.

Mrs. Mossman has an unusually fine collection of lenten pictures and it is her custom to give as many as possible an opportunity to view the pictures during the pre-Easter season.

Following the program the hostess served a dainty luncheon.

The Valencia Bridge club was entertained last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Skiff on Oak street. Four tables of bridge were at play during the evening with high scores going to Mrs. Harold Lyman and Blaise Shields and the consolation prizes going to Mrs. Claude Nash and Fred Jones.

Luncheon was served following the card games. Spring flowers were used to decorate the rooms and miniature rabbits in baskets of eggs, suggestive of Easter, were at each place.

The club will meet May 6, with Mr. and Mrs. Everett Keown.

Mrs. H. W. Riley and Mrs. Bert Hug were hostesses at a 1:15 o'clock luncheon yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Riley, the members of the N. B. B. club being their guests.

The luncheon table was prettily decorated in keeping with Easter, yellow daffodils serving as a centerpiece with Easter baskets marked with each guest's initial as place cards.

Bridge was the diversion of the afternoon following luncheon. Mrs. Boyd Pidecock made high score and the second prize went to Mrs. Jack McGhean.

The club will be entertained Thursday, April 21, at the home of Mrs. Nellie Spencer with Mrs. Spencer and Mrs. W. R. Jones as hostesses.

The Garden

MONEY IN ASPARAGUS BEDS

The home asparagus patch is the greatest money saver in the vegetable garden, particularly if the members of the family are fond of this succulent vegetable. Its season is from April till July and at its cheapest in the market it rarely sells for less than 25 cents a bunch, the size of the bunch increasing with the season. While an asparagus bed may be started from seed very easily, it is much more practical to buy plants. A hundred plants will supply an average family with an abundance and 50 plants will give a fair supply.

Some ingenious suburbanites have devised the scheme of disposing of asparagus beds by planting a border of roots around the backyard fence, the asparagus forming a feathery hedge when allowed to run up to seed. It is thus planted with the least use of space.

Set out the plants as early as the ground can be worked. The plant will begin bearing in two seasons while the seedlings will need four years to give good results. Asparagus delights in well-drained soil, preferably sandy, but with an abundant supply of moisture.

Dig out trenches 18 inches deep and three feet apart. Set the plants a foot apart in the rows, first working in six inches of manure well and covering it with six inches of soil. This will leave the plant in a six-inch depression to be filled into the soil level as the sprouts develop.

Set only a few of the stronger stalks the first year and do not prolong cutting period for more than a few weeks, allowing the plant to develop a good root system. Asparagus responds quickly to cultivation and fertilizers, although old beds produce regularly even through a mass of weeds.

Salting in spring is an excellent plan, keeping down the weeds and stimulating the plant. Even an old asparagus bed should not be cut later than July 1 except in unusually late seasons. It should be given a dressing of manure in the fall if it is obtainable. If not give commercial fertilizer in the spring and mulch with autumn leaves or straw in the fall.

OPPOSES LIQUOR OUSTED BY W. C. T. U.

HADDONFIELD, N. J.—A public declaration that she is as strongly opposed to prohibition as she is to liquor caused Mrs. Martha Shippen Irving, member of the New Jersey Board of Education to be dropped from the W. C. T. U. roster.

"Hundreds and thousands are drinking today simply because they will not supinely submit to being told that they shall not," Mrs. Irving says. "Men are only grown-up boys. When my son and his schoolmate played poker in the living room I didn't berate them and turn them out. I provided a new radio set and turned my lawn in a baseball diamond. Now they have forgotten gambling."

WOMAN FIGHTS FOR OFFICE AND WIN

CLINTON, Ky.—Woman's prerogative for the last word does not prevent her from having the last move also, especially if a political fight is involved.

Mrs. R. B. Platt, clerk of Hickman county since 1921, has proven she can fight and win such battles. Re-elected in 1925, she failed to make her term in time. The county judge issued an order ousting her from office and appointing a man to fill her place, although she claimed the judge had agreed to let her delay a week. She refused to vacate. The circuit court upheld her, and the court of appeals affirmed the decision.

"Keeping Abreast of the Times"

There are few people who have lived in this vicinity for the past few years who cannot scan back over the pages of memories and recall the time when they were buying their food items and paying for them once every six months or possibly only once a year. This method of food distribution was costly to the consumer and to the merchant. But now conditions have changed. We have only to look around us for proof of this assertion. With the modern times have come modern methods of food distribution, doing away with the long line of middle men and the extended credit, enabling the consumer to own his foods as cheap as the merchant formerly did. The modern Cash and Carry Stores are responsible for this. They have placed the opportunities to save before the people and the majority of them are taking advantage of it.
