Clubwomen Make Arrangements For Annual Breakfast

One of the most attractive social affairs of the Neighborhood club year is the annual breakfast, Tuesday, April 26, is the date set for the breakfast this year, which will be in honor of Mrs. G. J. Frankel, president of the Oregon Federation of Women's clubs, who will be in La Grande at that time.

Mrs. H. S. Brownston is chairman of the large committee arranging for the breakfast and already plans are practically complete. The breakfast will be in the I. O. O. F. dining room during the 11 o'clock hour. Tickets are now on sale and may be obtained from any of the committee members.

Stanton are members of the program committee, with Mrs. Appleby as chairman.

With the Lenten season ending Easter Sunday and many La Grande people resuming their social duties a crowded social calendar for the next few weeks is expected.

Several parties postponed until after Holy week are scheduled for the near future in addition to the regular club meetings.

A number of Easter breakfasts are being planned for tomorrow morning as a beginning of the week's social events, each to follow the sunrise services at Gault park at 5 o'clock.

Among these breakfasts will be one in the First Presbyterian church dining room, where the senior and intermediate Christian Endeavor societies will gather for a joint breakfast. The meal will be prepared by the senior endevours and the intermediates are invited to attend.

They know their onions in Bermuda, but they know their lilies, too. Easter lilies grow as thickly and wildly in these isles as dandelions at home. It looks more like Christmas time than springtime, for the fields are as white as though covered with snow. But by Easter Sunday Christmas will be past in Bermuda, for most of the lilies will have been shipped to decorate our altars and homes on Easter Day.

Vacant lot vegetable growing has enjoyed a revival following its universal use during the war. With the close of the carnage overseas and the signing of the armistice, there came a relaxation in the fear of food production and many of the vacant lot gardens were abandoned. They have begun to come back in increasing numbers as those who enjoyed fresh vegetables realize more and more the difference in quality between those they grew themselves and those they buy.

It is a measure of domestic economy well worth fostering. Thousands of city families have the means in their back yards of cutting off a heavy item of living expenses by growing even a small vegetable garden, and where the back yards cannot well be utilized for gardening there are usually some vacant lots available within practical reaching distance where a garden might be grown if the head of the household made the effort to investigate.

While hardly half the available garden room is used, particularly in city property, the percentage is rapidly increasing. No one with a lot 50 by 150 feet which has clear ground need ever buy any vegetables except potatoes and sweet corn during the entire summer. Often the later is considered a profitable crop on even a small garden plot because of the difficulty of securing good quality market corn.

The vacant lot garden problem is one that is being taken up by Rotary, Kiwanis and similar civic bodies with a view to canvassing the situation and announcing through the local papers what and how much vacant lot space is available each season for gardens. It is a work that has elicited much grateful praise from families who have availed themselves of the opportunity and have cut down living expenses.

LUNCHEON—Stuffed eggs in tomato sauce, hearts of lettuce with French dressing, graham bread, quick cake with maple frosting, milk, tea.

DINNER—Boiled salmon steaks, buttered potatoes, dandelion greens, stuffed sauce, rye bread, milk, coffee.

Keep in mind that small persons find it much easier to manage any creamed dish served on cubes of toast than on a whole slice of toast. The cubes can be fitted together on individual plates and the creamed beef arranged over them, making the effect exactly the same as if a single piece of toast were used.

ing expenses and at the same time provided to better quality menu by devoting time to the cultivation of a vacant lot garden patch.

Owners in many cases welcome the use of their vacant property for gardening as it keeps down the weeds and keeps the property in better shape.

Chapter I of P. E. O. met yesterday afternoon in regular session at the home of Mrs. George R. Birnie on Fourth street, with Mrs. Frank B. Appleby assisting as hostess.

Mrs. Stella Ingle had charge of the afternoon's program and gave an interesting review of the book "Mary Glenn," by Sarah G. Miller.

The program was followed by a sociable, when the hostesses served refreshments.

Members of the Women's Society of the First Baptist church enjoyed an interesting missionary program yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. A. Fox on Third street, with Mrs. H. B. Green as assistant hostess.

Mrs. G. A. Pollard was leader and she gave a description of the missionary work of the denomination in the Philippine Islands. Articles were received for a white cross box, which will be sent to Miss Johnson, missionary teacher, in the islands.

Mrs. William Shade told a story of Miss Johnson's work among the children.

During the business session, which was presided over by Mrs. H. A. Fox, plans were made for a dinner to be held in the church basement April 28. Mrs. H. P. Nielson was appointed chairman of the dinner.

A sociable was enjoyed before the meeting adjourned, and refreshments were served by the hostesses.

The home was decorated with bouquets of daffodils and other early spring flowers. Lunch was served before adjournment.

The Allied Ladies' Aid society met Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. J. W. Lytle, 1206 G. avenue, here, with Mrs. Herbert Speckhart, Mrs. Louis Standley, Mrs. Clara Moss and Mrs. Lytle as hostesses.

About 44 women were present and during the afternoon Mrs. E. P. Mossman showed her collection of art masterpieces depicting the last week of Christ on earth.

The rooms were decorated in accordance with the Easter season. After a short business meeting the hostesses served luncheon.

COVE (Special)—Mrs. J. J. Chadwick was hostess to the Young Matrons' Bridge club Saturday afternoon, when three tables of cards were at play.

The home was decorated with bouquets of daffodils and other early spring flowers. Lunch was served before adjournment.
