Bridge Luncheon At Siegrist Home On First Street

Mrs. William Siegrist was hostess at one of the prettiest bridge luncheons of the spring season yesterday afternoon at her home on First street, when she entertained 48 guests.

Luncheon was served at 1:15 o'clock at 12 small tables, which were attractively appointed in a color scheme of lavender and yellow, daffodils, sweetpeas and other flowers of the season serving as centerpiece for each table. Place cards were in harmony with the centerpieces. Large baskets of the same flowers were used about the rooms.

Bridge was at play following luncheon, three prizes being given. Mrs. Clyde Kiddle, of Island City, received the first prize, the second prize went to Mrs. F. L. Lilly and the consolation prize to Mrs. A. T. Hill.

The Bible Searchers class of the First Presbyterian church was entertained yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Noyes, on Adams avenue, with Mrs. Chris Miller and Mrs. S. J. Skala as hostesses.

The rooms were attractively decorated in a yellow and green color scheme, bouquets of daffodils being used. Most of the afternoon was spent sewing on a layette, which the class will give to the Salvation Army, to go to a worthy case in the city.

Miss Dorothea Harrison gave two readings which were enjoyed by those present. About 30 women were in attendance.

Before adjournment the hostesses served luncheon.

The next social meeting of the class will be May 15, in the community room of the church, when Mrs. M. M. Miller and Mrs. O. J. MacDowell will be hostesses.

Hope Chapter Is Invited to Baker

Members of Hope Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, have been invited to a meeting of the Baker chapter, Monday evening, April 25, at Baker, and several are making arrangements to attend.

The floral degree team of the La Grande lodge will put on the ceremony for the meeting.

Members of the Past Matrons' club of Hope Chapter, No. 13, Order of the Eastern Star, were entertained last evening in the Matrons' lodge rooms, with Mrs. Frank Jackson and Mrs. Florence Bacon as hostesses. The evening was spent visiting, the hostesses serving refreshments at an appropriate hour.

Twenty-one past matrons were present. Mrs. Morton of Golden, Colo., Wash., who is visiting at the home of Mrs. Ed Kiddle at Island City, was a guest at the meeting.

Members of the high school girl graduates' class of the First Presbyterian Sunday school met last evening at the home of the president, Miss Lillian Sims.

A short business session was held during the early part of the evening, after which Miss Edna Ahnes gave an interesting talk on the life of Queen Esther, telling many facts concerning her life before she was mentioned in the Bible.

Puzzle games were enjoyed for a time, after which the hostess served refreshments.

The club will meet again next Tuesday, April 26.

LADD CANYON (Special)—Members of the Girl-Togger club of Ladd Canyon spent an enjoyable afternoon last Thursday, when they met at the home of Mrs. T. W. Bates. After a short business meeting committee No. 3, under the leadership of Mrs. C. Y. Beale, gave an interesting program, consisting of two readings by Mrs. Paul Rohr, a recitation by little Jack Mattot and a playlet entitled "The Old Maid's Convulsion." Mrs. Beale, Mrs. Frank Poole, Mrs. Sherrell Ewin, Mrs. Millie Williamson and Mrs. Lawrence Drummond were the character actors.

Mrs. Bates served luncheon at the close of the program.

The next meeting of the club will be April 28, at the home of Mrs. Claude Beale, with Mrs. Adolphe Pfeiler in charge of the afternoon's program. Several members from the Cove Women's club will be guests.

Announcements

The Central Parent-Teacher association will meet tomorrow afternoon, April 22, at 2:45 o'clock in the Neighborhood club rooms. The Rev. G. A. Pollard will speak on "Education for Character." Mrs. McNeese's room will furnish music. The nomination committee will report and other important items of business will come before the meeting. All members are urged to be there.

The Westway club of the W. P. A. will meet with Mrs. Vera Murchison, 2907 First street, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The Parkdale club will meet with the Cove Civic club for an art contest at the home of Mrs. E. P. Mossman, on Spring avenue, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The Riviera Parent-Teacher association will meet for a short business session tomorrow afternoon at the school. The program scheduled for tonight was postponed on account of the death of Albert Neukirchner.

The Royal Neighbors will meet tomorrow night at the K. P. hall in regular session. Plans will be made for the district convention of the lodge to be held here June 4. All officers and members of the team are urged to be there for practice. Lunch will be served. Mrs. Nellie Webb is chairman of the committee.

MENUS

By Sister Mary
BREAKFAST—Orange juice, cereal, cream, soft cooked eggs, rich waffles, maple syrup, crisp whole wheat toast, milk, coffee.
LUNCHEON—Asparagus shortcake, head lettuce with Thousand Island dressing, ginger apples, milk, tea.

DINNER—Baked shad with raisins, scalloped potatoes, dandelion greens, bran rolls, stuffed beet salad, rice custard pudding, milk, coffee.

Very often when fish is served, a hearty dessert is needed to balance the meal. Raisins are not used in the rice pudding since they appear with the fish but dates combine excellently with rice and make the pudding more interesting than if made plain.

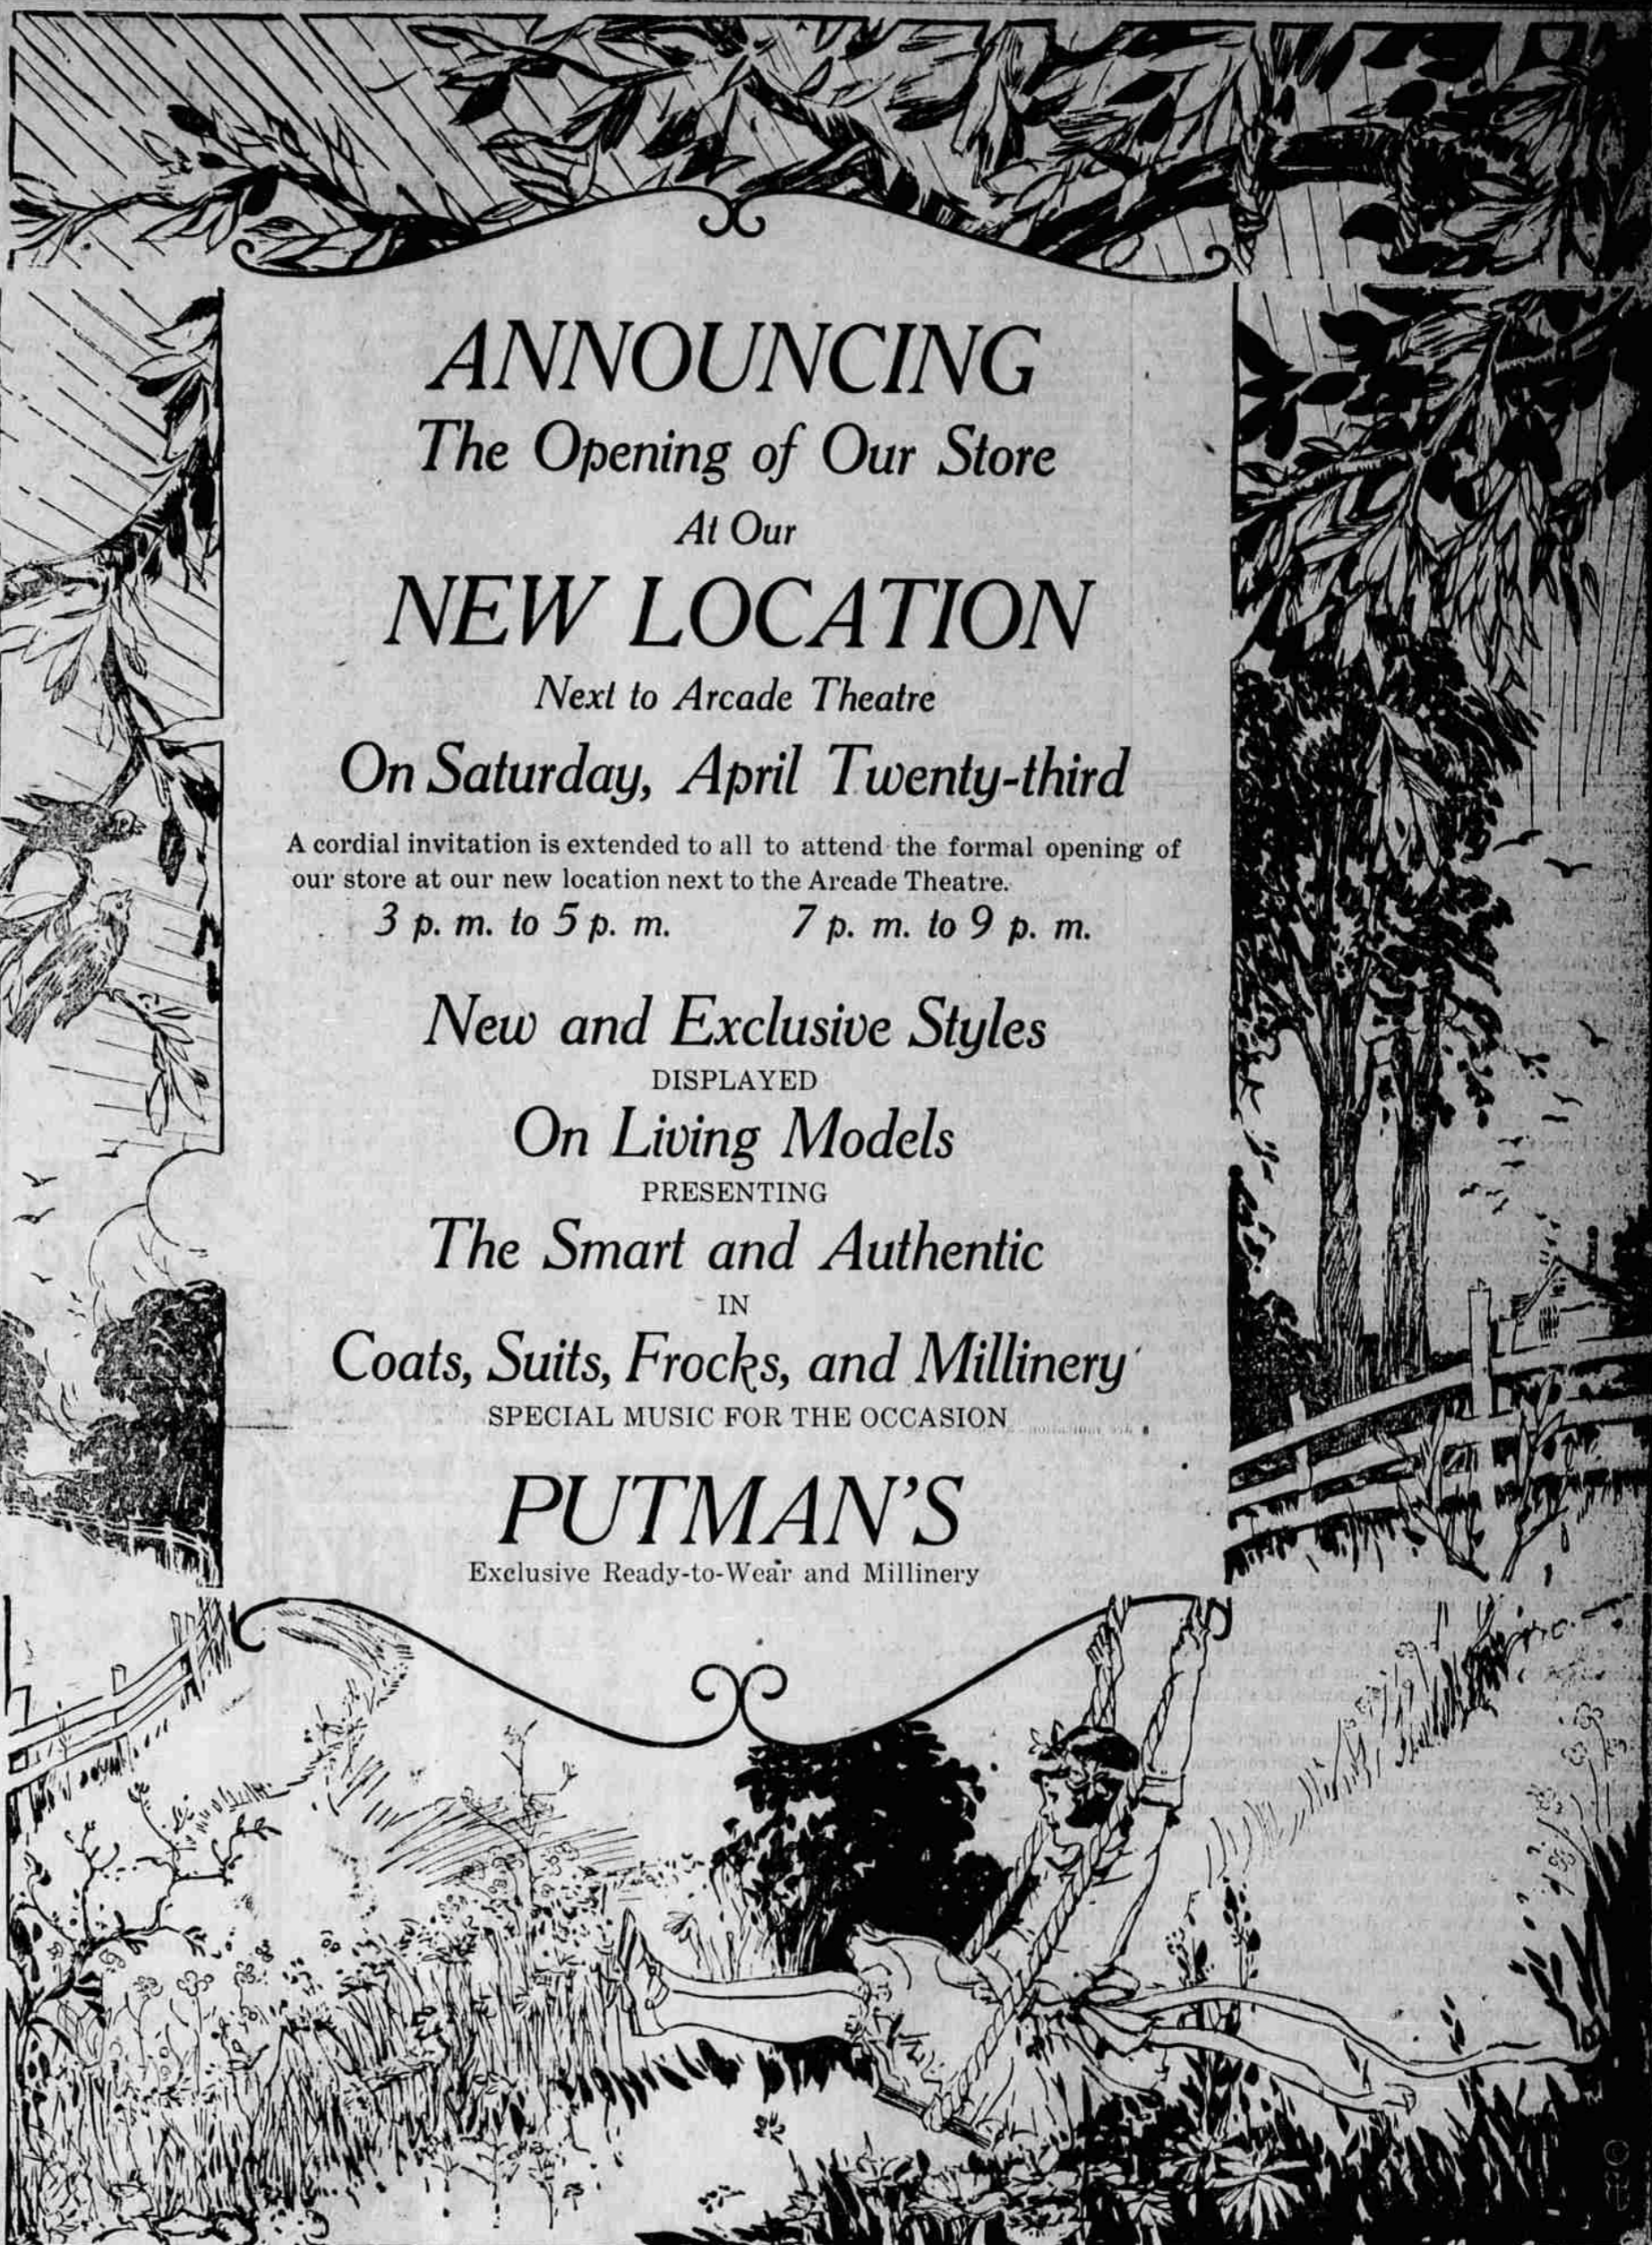

Asparagus Shortcake
Two cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons butter, 2 eggs, 1-1/2 cup rich milk, 1 bunch asparagus, 2 cups white sauce.

Mix and sift flour, salt and baking powder. Rub in butter. Beat eggs until light and add milk to them. Cut this mixture into dry ingredients. Roll on a floured molding board making a sheet about three-fourths of an inch thick. Spread half the surface with butter and fold the other over, making two layers. Bake in a hot oven for twenty minutes. Split and spread with butter. Fill with asparagus cut into inch lengths steamed until tender and combined with hot sauce. Cover top of shortcake with creamed asparagus and serve. If the asparagus is cooked in boiling water use the water that is drained from the vegetable in making the sauce.

FERTILIZE THE LAWN EVERY YEAR

Fertilize the lawn every year if you expect to have a fine velvety sward. Grass is a surface feeder. The roots form a compact mass, and they exhaust the plant food rapidly. Next to seeding, manuring is the most important factor in keeping a lawn in first-class condition.

No matter how good the soil may be, it needs the replenishing of plant food annually and the stand of grass will come more quickly and be thicker. Stable manure is an excellent fertilizer, but it is practically ruled out because of its rarity and expense and because, too, it is the frequent cause of an influx of troublesome weeds, particularly dandelions and plants.

The lawn needs surface fertilizing. The closer to the surface the fertilizer is kept the more effective it will be, and this is the reason that it may be scattered over the lawn with excellent effect, while other plants require that it be spaded into the soil. The best manures for lawns readily available are the commercially prepared pulverized sheep manure, shredded cow manure and some of the special grass fertilizers turned out by fertilizer plants, the big packing houses and seed firms.

An old theory had it that when manure was used it should be buried six inches deep. Placed in this position it is out of reach of the grass roots, which seldom penetrate more than 3 inches at most. The fertilizer should be strewn over the lawn at any time, but preferably when the spring rains carry it into the soil.

Another exploded theory is that too heavy fertilizing makes grass coarse. It will sprout at the start, but no fear of coarseness need be entertained. For a time it may appear tufty with an extra vigorous growth where the fertilizer has been dropped in lumps, but this is only temporary and will disappear with mowing. There need be no fear of over fertilizing except with some of the strong chemicals, such as nitrate of soda.

This should be scattered very thinly as a stimulant.

PRINCESS PICTURES BRING ARTIST FAME

LONDON—Mrs. Blakeney Ward, president of the Society of Women Artists, has become especially well known in London through her excellent portraits of Princess Mary. The women artists recently held an exhibition at the Royal Institute galleries in Piccadilly, which is notable for its unusual portraits of important women. This society also has a section devoted to crafts and the exhibition includes rare bookbindings, hand-made jewelry and pottery.

EASY TO RUN TOWN SAYS WOMAN MAYOR

HUMBOLDT, Kan.—The mayorship of Humboldt is just housekeeping on a large and not too difficult scale, in the opinion of Miss H. Louise Peggman, who is about to resign after two terms.

"I have proven to my own and the city's satisfaction," she says, "that sex is not the great barrier some say. I see no reason why a woman cannot serve as well as a man in municipal office."

Miss Peggman's business training enabled her to grasp the details of the city's affairs easily. She had successfully managed her large real estate holdings and extensive farm operations. Her father was one of the pioneers of the section, coming as a merchant to the town in 1856.

Evidence Chain Forged Around Dr. Dobbs Today

SEATTLE, Apr. 21 (AP)—The final links of the chain of circumstantial evidence against Dr. C. C. Dobbs, Kirkland dentist accused of the murder of Letitia Whitehall, school girl patient, were being forged by the state in superior court here today.

Professor William M. Dohm, University of Washington biologist and chemist, was expected to be the last state witness. Prosecutor Ewing D. Colvin hoped to rest the state's case by noon, unless by some chance Frank Koepfl, former coroner's deputy, and missing state witness, should appear by that time.

Koepfl's testimony is regarded by Colvin as being of negligible importance and would probably be brief and perfunctory. Koepfl was the person who delivered the specimens and exhibits to Dohm for analysis.

George H. Crandall, chief of defense counsel, said it would be a jury at least three days to present Dobbs' side of the case. He plans to launch at once into an attack of the state's evidence to prove that Letitia Whitehall was soon after she left the dentist's office and to establish an alibi alibi for Dr. Dobbs.

WINS DEATH SUIT

MEDFORD, Ore., Apr. 21 (AP)—A jury in the circuit court this morning returned a verdict for $5,570 for Fred G. Sanders against the California-Oregon Power company after an hour's deliberation. Sanders based his suit upon the death of his son Alvin, a former high school football star who was electrocuted in 1923 when the telephone line he was repairing came in contact with a power line.
