Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Stevens were La Grande visitors Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor, of La Grande, spent Wednesday evening at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. W. Stevens, returning to La Grande Thursday morning.

Word was received here Tuesday morning of the death of Mrs. Irene Pearce, of Halfway. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Blackner and spent much of her childhood at Union. She is survived by her husband, her parents and one brother, of Halfway, and one sister, of Los Angeles, Cal. The funeral and burial was held at Halfway.

CHAPEL IS EARLIER AT MOUNT HOLYOKE

SOUTH HADLEY, Mass.—Is the college girl more energetic than the college boy? Mount Holyoke answers in the affirmative.

The faculty of Mount Holyoke has yielded to a general clamor for chapel at 8 o'clock instead of 8:30. The girls say they want to finish their work earlier in the day in order to have more time for sports and other activities in the afternoon. Incidentally, the Mount Holyoke undergraduate body conducts the chapel service itself.

AT THE THEATERS

Thrills Galore In Picture At Sherrys

If you remember back to the thrill you experienced when you saw "The Third Degree" on the stage, you will not want to miss being thrilled anew by the screen version of this well known melodrama, which opened yesterday at the Sherry theater.

Adapted for Warner Bros. by Graham Baker, this Charles Klein melodrama brings to Dolores Costello, the star, the most dramatic role of her highly successful career. As Annie, the little trapeze performer of a side show in Coney Island, who marries a young millionaire and is estranged from him by his proud father, she gives a beautifully balanced emotional performance. Miss Costello remains the greatest "find" of recent years on the screen.

Louise Dresser, who is featured in the supporting role of Annie's mother, surpasses her moving performance of the mother in "Broken Hearts of Hollywood." The scene where she confesses to Dolores Costello that she is her mother, as well as the murderer of the man who had threatened her happiness, is one of the most perfect in the production.

Of course, as the title suggests, there is the terrifying and grilling "third degree," with handsome Jason Robards the innocent victim; accused of the murder of villainous Rockliffe Fellowes, who had been blackmailing his former sweetheart now that she had married a man of wealth.

Kate Price is delightful as a circus performer, and the remainder of the cast excellent.

Comedy showing "Be Careful Deary".

Lon Chaney in Latest Film At the Arcade

Lon Chaney, he of the thousand faces, is showing his thousand-and-first visage at the Arcade theater where he is scheduled for a four-day stay.

The sinister cripple of "The Penalty"; the tragic clown of "He Who Gets Slapped"; the one-eyed monster of "The Road to Mandalay," has forsaken his weird trappings—for a disguise even more amazing.

He roars his ways through the role of a tough old Marine sergeant; years in the service; veteran of many a battle—battering the new generations of recruits into the traditions of the service that is "first to fight."

A grim old fellow, this sergeant of the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer spectacle, "Tell It To The Marines"; his boys; as fond of them as a his boys; as found of them as a father might be, even while he belabors them like a Simon Legree.

His is the story of many a tough old "top kicker" of the corps—and the explanation of the fanatical adoration Marines have for their sergeants—the tougher the better.

"Tell It To The Marines" is Simon pure entertainment—but it is more—it is the very soul of Uncle Sam's great service thrown on the screen.

It is full of sensational thrills—a great battle fleet thundering its defiance to the world; desperate battles; and with a wonderful love story woven through its laughs. The government saw its value—that is why it was made with the co-operation of the whole corps—why hundreds of Marines play in its dramatic action—why great battleships lent themselves to its needs. It does for the Marines what "The Big Parade" did for the soldiers.

William Haines, as the irrepressible recruit, has a role that was "custom made" for him, and Eleanor Boardman makes a charming heroine. Carmel Myers, Eddie Gribbon and others, including George Hill, director, merit praise.

"Telephone Girl" Now Showing At The Star

Herbert Brenon, the man who made "Beau Geste" and "Peter Pan," now turns his versatile hand to political melodrama and "The Telephone Girl," which arrived at the Star theater last night is the result. Paramount's new picture emerges as an interesting treatment of the William C. De Mille play "The Woman."

As Matthew Standish, candidate for Governor and party to an indiscreet vacation some years before, Warner Baxter makes good all the promises his "Great Gatsby" work held forth. Evidently Mr. Baxter delved deeply into this character before attempting to portray it on the screen because his delineation marks him as one of the cinema's first leading men. Holbrook Blinn, Madge Bellamy, May Allison and Lawrence Gray are others who can't be overlooked when distributing praise. Blinn is the political boss who faces ruin if Baxter should be seated and his son-in-law, Hale Hamilton, defeated. Miss Allison enacts the woman in the case with infinite artistry while Larry Gray's smiling visage lights up many a serious scene. But it is to Madge Bellamy that most of the dramatic moments are given. As the telephone girl who loves Blinn's son, inadvertently finds a dramatic climax upon her, and discovers herself to be the central character in a game of politics. Miss Bellamy proves equal to the many demands which Director Brenon has apparently made.

The sum up, "The Telephone Girl" can easily be classed with the best dramas Mr. Brenon has directed. It will be shown tonight for the last time at the Star theater.

IMBLER PERSONALS

IMBLER (Special)—The many friends of Mrs. Parilla Keefer here were sorry to learn of her death. She had made her home at Imbler for many years. The funeral was held Friday afternoon in the Summerville cemetery.

Mrs. Mary Howell has gone to Walla Walla, Wash., where she will visit her sister-in-law, Mrs. Ica Bates.

Mrs. Lynn Hasbrook and baby son, Jack, left Thursday for their Washington home after visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Prior here for several weeks.

Miss Alta Anderson has accepted a position at Hot Lake. Her sister, Gladys, will probably join her there in a short time.

There were 1436 forest fires reported on the national forests of Oregon and Washington in 1926. Of these 800 were man-caused, and 690 due to lightning.

REBOUX KNOCKS WORK TO HELP CRITICS

PARIS—Finding fault with one's own literary product in order to get more attention from the critics is the newest fashion among writers in Paris, started by Paul Reboux, noted author. In France books sent to critics for review carry a short note of praise usually written by the author.

Reboux believed even adverse criticism was better than faint praise or none, so he sent reviews that severely condemned his books along with the laudatory ones. Some hostile reviewers seemed to be disarmed by the author's apparent truthfulness so that they gave him exceptionally pleasant criticism. Now many of his colleagues are hopefully copying his style of press agentry.

BUYS COMPANY

ASTORIA, Ore., Apr. 25. (AP)—Purchase of the Green Mountain Logging company properties on the Kerry line by P. J. Brix and R. S. Shaw is reported here on excellent authority.
