

SOCIETY NEWS

Mrs. J. G. Frankel Guest At Annual Club Breakfast

Mrs. J. G. Frankel, president of Oregon Federation of Women's Clubs, made an official visit to the Grande Neighborhood club yesterday, being the guest of honor at annual club breakfast in the morning and attending the regular afternoon meeting of the club.

Mrs. A. T. Hill presided as toastress at the breakfast, which was held during the 11 o'clock hour, and Mrs. Robert S. Hill, president of the La Grande club, gave the address of welcome.

The message of the state president was then given by Mrs. Frankel. She reviewed the work of the federation, telling of the accomplishments by the various districts during the past year.

The response to the president's message was given by Mrs. George Cochran, first vice president of Oregon Federation.

Mrs. A. L. Richardson sang "The Awakening," accompanied by Mrs. E. L. Holmes at the piano, and the Neighborhood club met under the leadership of G. E. Stoddard, sang "To the Stars."

Pinched Edges

The treatment of the crown and pinched edges are the points of interest in this felt hat. Quite high, the crown is loosely set over a band of grosgrain and has a modernistic enamel ornament in front.

The breakfast tables were attractively decorated with bowls of low daffodils and lighted candles. Potted plants were arranged in the corner of the room about a piano from where the musical numbers were given.

Programs were in the shape of a pool, which was partly open, the last part being exposed. Mrs. Hill's picture was painted over center pea and in her address spoke of the club members as being peas in a pod.

A clever little verse in the first part of the program told of the peas in the pod. On the next page the program was given and the last page the menu, which consisted of grape fruit, baked apples, creamed potatoes, biscuits, jelly, sherbet, cake and coffee.

The breakfast took place in the O. F. dining room, members of the committee in charge, of which Mrs. H. S. Brown was chairman, serving.

Elect Delegates

A short business session, presided over by the president, Mrs. Hill, was held during the early part of the afternoon meeting. Delegates to the state convention to be held at Bend, were elected. They are: Mrs. Eakin, Mrs. Sherwood Williams, Mrs. Kiddle, Mrs. E. E. Knight, Mrs. H. R. Hanna, Mrs. Lloyd, Mrs. Ray Murphy and Mrs. Mrs. Phyllis.

The first part of the afternoon program was arranged by Mrs. L. Busby, state chairman of the conservation department. It consisted of a skit by La Grande showing how the natural beauty of the area is being destroyed by the cutting of trees, breaking the soil, etc., and a bird play by a group of children from Miss Imo-Russell's room of the Central school. Each of the children represented a bird, the playlet being a lesson in the conservation of birds.

Mrs. Frankel spoke again in the afternoon, making as her subject "Protections." She told of the evils of the drug habit, and how for years she had been a victim of it. She also told of her recovery from the drug habit and misery suffered while being addicted. She told of a motion picture play which is now being projected showing the evils of the drug habit.

The money from the play will be used in fighting drugs. Mrs. Florence Lynch Miller sang "The Song of the Hill" by Ross and "The Indian Love Call" in the opera "Rose Marie," accompanied by Mrs. J. D. Myers.

Mrs. Margaret Anson gave an interesting and instructive talk on "The Garden," illustrating with pictures slides, which were furnished by the state federation.

After the meeting the club members were given an opportunity to meet Mrs. Frankel.

The Art Research club will have one of the next meetings of the club.

Coming Wedding Is To Be Held in May

The approaching marriage of Catherine Marie Bowman to Mr. L. L. Lohr, of Portland, was announced last evening when Mrs.

The Westminster society of the Announcement

We are now La Grande's Agents For The Denver Post

Also The Seattle Post Intelligencer

Moon Drug Co.

Agents For The Owl Drug Co.

A striking new note in hosiery is the "top clock" worn at the knee instead of the ankle.

Announcements

The Wake-of-the-Bridge club met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Grace Shinden, three ladies of bridge being at play. Mrs. J. H. Oliver made high score and the consolation prize went to Mrs. George Clark. Mrs. E. H. Jones received the guest prize.

Because several of the club members would be unable to attend the meeting next week it was decided to meet again two weeks from yesterday, Tuesday, May 10.

The parent-teacher association of Central school is preparing to give a silver tea to be held Friday afternoon at the Central school building during the annual art exhibit which will be from 1 to 4 o'clock.

Dr. Margaret Ingle is chairman of the committee in charge. Proceeds from the tea will go to furnish the rest room of the school building.

An invitation has been extended to the members of the other three parent-teacher associations of the city to attend.

Mrs. Minnie Card, recently elected state president of the Degree of Honor Protective association, made her first official visit to the local lodge last evening, when the regular meeting was held at Eagles hall.

Mrs. Card spoke briefly about the state convention, which was held in Portland April 15, after which Mrs. E. E. Swan, delegate to the convention from the La Grande lodge, gave a detailed report of the meeting. Mrs. Card's home is at Baker. She was one of the honor guests at the state convention.

One new member, Mrs. George Meserve, was initiated last night during the regular lodge session.

After lodge the members were joined by their husbands and a dancing party, which was in the form of a reception for the returned delegate and the state president, was enjoyed during the remainder of the evening. Refreshments were served.

The next meeting of the lodge will be Tuesday, May 24, at Eagles hall.

Knee Clock

A striking new note in hosiery is the "top clock" worn at the knee instead of the ankle.

The Westminster society of the

The Westminster society of the

The Westminster society of the

The Westminster society of the

The Westminster society of the

The Westminster society of the

The Westminster society of the

The Westminster society of the

The Westminster society of the

The Westminster society of the

OUT OUR WAY

A DOGS LIFE.

First Presbyterian church met last evening at the home of Mrs. Clyde Webb, with more than 15 members in attendance.

Mrs. Lynn Bohnekamp led in the devotional and Mrs. Joel Richardson had charge of the evening's missionary lesson, which taken from the home mission study book, "For New America," by Co. Hayne.

A short musical program was given. Miss Mildred Spencer playing two piano numbers, and Miss Juanita Spencer singing two selections.

During the business session, which was presided over by the president, Mrs. Richard C. Thomas, plans were made for a cool-aid food sale to be held sometime next week.

After the program the remainder of the evening was spent in a sociable, when the hostess served refreshments.

Announcements

The Ladies Aid society of the Lutheran church will meet at the home of Mrs. Kiefer, 216 Fourteenth street, Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The Marytha Bible class will meet at the home of Mrs. Will Adler this evening for a potluck supper. Cars will be at the library building at 6:30 o'clock to take all members who have no means of transportation to the Adler home.

A short musical program was given. Miss Mildred Spencer playing two piano numbers, and Miss Juanita Spencer singing two selections.

During the business session, which was presided over by the president, Mrs. Richard C. Thomas, plans were made for a cool-aid food sale to be held sometime next week.

After the program the remainder of the evening was spent in a sociable, when the hostess served refreshments.

Announcements

The Ladies Aid society of the Lutheran church will meet at the home of Mrs. Kiefer, 216 Four-

MENUS

By Sister Mary
BREAKFAST—Stewed figs, cereal, cream, hash, pop-overs, marmalade, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Savory baked lima beans, new onions and radishes, brown bread, rolled-oats drop cookies, milk, tea.

DINNER—Haddock, baked in white sauce, new potatoes, new beets, head lettuce with Russian dressing, lemon sponge, rye bread, milk, coffee.

Very often the tops of new beets are tender and fresh when we buy them in the market. When this is the case the tops should be well cleaned and cooked separately from the beets. When tops are done, chop and season. Place in a mountain in the center of a serving dish and serve the tender, cooked beets in a ring around the tops. This makes a bunch of new beets "go" further than when the roots only are used.

Savory Baked Lima Beans
Two cups dried lima beans, 4 thin slices bacon, 2 tablespoons grated onion, 2 green peppers, 2 tablespoons molasses, 1 teaspoon paprika, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon mustard.

Wash and pick over beans. Cover with cold water and let stand overnight. In the morning, drain. Put into baking dish, add 2 cups water, cover dish and bake in a slow oven until beans are tender. It will take several hours. When beans are tender, add bacon cut in tiny pieces, grated onion, peppers finely chopped and molasses. Mix salt, paprika and mustard and stir into mixture. Be sure the ingredients are thoroughly mixed through the beans. Bake in a moderate oven, without the cover, for one hour. The top should be brown. Serve from a baking dish.

The Garden

COUSINS OF THE ONION
Domestic science, modern cooking schools and cook books bring into prominent notice the shallot, but very few people know what a shallot is, and when a recipe calls for shallots they use young onions. They are not the same.

A shallot is not an onion, but it is a close relative. It is more nearly akin to the garlic, but is of milder flavor. It grows in "cloves" as does the garlic, but while the cloves of a garlic are enclosed in an outer skin that makes the group of "cloves" appear as a single bulb, the shallot has no such covering.

To be correct in following recipes, it will be necessary to grow shallots in the home garden, and most of the larger seed houses can furnish the sets at about the same price as onion sets. The shallot has something of the garlic flavor, but is milder, and in European countries where it is used freely it is highly esteemed for pickling. Sets planted this spring will mature in July or early August. They keep well. They are multipliers and one set will produce a cluster of bulbs or cloves when mature. They have not the strong smell of the garlic.

Chives are often named in connection with shallots in salad dressings, but the chive is fairly well known, and pots of them in vegetable markets are familiar sights.

CALIFORNIA AN ISLAND? SURE! OLD MAP MAKERS HAD THE PROOF

Miss Rose Menard, San Jose, looks over the historic 1722 geography just found in her home city, which proved that California was an island.

SAN JOSE, Cal. (NEA Service)—California an island? That's what folks believed back in 1722, when the "American Islands" Geographic, Faithfully Extracted from the Most Modern Travelers and the Most Esteemed Historians, was issued from London.

Testimony of those on a Spanish ship that sailed all around California was brought forward to prove the case, and, if that didn't, the map did. Anyway, according to the book, there wasn't anything on the island worth bothering about (shades of '49), and the Spanish hadn't even tried to subdue it.

The ancient book is owned by Mrs. Louise M. Curtis, who has loaned it to the Florida de las Rosas committee, in connection with San Jose's celebration of its sixth birthday soon.

The northern part of the island, according to the book, was known as "New Albion," and a place of "vehement cold," while the southern half was in the "Tropick of Cancer." Ambitious travelers were warned it could be reached only by a long sea voyage.

"All the island," the old book said, "is inhabited by abundance of Indian nations, who either go naked or at least use only some small covering of mats or skins. The case, and, if that didn't, the map did. Anyway, according to the book, there wasn't anything on the island worth bothering about (shades of '49), and the Spanish hadn't even tried to subdue it. The ancient book is owned by Mrs. Louise M. Curtis, who has loaned it to the Florida de las Rosas committee, in connection with San Jose's celebration of its sixth birthday soon.

DINNER at CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Thursday, April 28, 11:30-2:00

Price Fifty Cents

To buy wisely, read the advertising

To buy wisely, read the advertising

To buy wisely, read the advertising

To buy wisely, read the advertising

To buy wisely, read the advertising

To buy wisely, read the advertising

To buy wisely, read the advertising

To buy wisely, read the advertising

To buy wisely, read the advertising

To buy wisely, read the advertising

To buy wisely, read the advertising

To buy wisely, read the advertising

To buy wisely, read the advertising

Putman's Millinery Section

Always has something new, smart and interesting to show you.

Nearly every express brings NEW HATS—and these newer hats are coming in thinner braids, some with wider brims and many are flower trimmed.

They are most appropriate for wear with summery frocks.

La Grande's Exclusive Ready-to-Wear and Millinery Next To Arcade Theater

They are hardy, and a pot bought in the market should be set in the garden after the foliage has been cut for use and a perennial supply will be at hand. They are miniature members of the onion tribe, and are quite ornamental in the garden and may be used as edgings, having heads of lavender bloom in early summer.

Garlic may be grown in the home gardens in the more-southern portions of the country, but it is not so successfully grown in the northern states where it develops an unusually strong flavor which, at best, is strong enough.

WICHITA, Kas.—Even the colleges seem impressed by motion picture standards.

The University of Wichita asked Cecil B. De Mille, motion picture producer, to be final arbiter in a beauty contest conducted among the co-eds, by "Parnassus," the college annual.

Local artists chose seven girls and De Mille picked Catherine Wallace, a junior, who has won other beauty contests too.

NEW YORK—Woman's new freedom and economic independence are causing Wall Street bankers to revise their notions on the suitability of investments for the weaker sex, according to Morylle Stanley Itzkewitz of Columbia University, writer on finance and economics and author of "The Common Sense of Money and Investments."

"The new appreciation of the capacity of women to discriminate in financial matters," says Itzkewitz, "results in part from the recent success of women in banking. Before the war, several large Eastern banks had a flat rule against employing women as stenographers. Today women hold every position in banks, from runner to president. The number of American bank women is 49,000 of which 2,100 hold executive posts.

"One of the large Eastern insurance companies recently made a survey of how women beneficiaries invest insurance funds and to its surprise, found that the women were not satisfied, but on the whole showed skill in safeguarding their funds by able investments.

PARIS DRESSMAKERS PAY SALESWOMEN WELL

PARIS—Head saleswomen of large dressmaking houses probably receive the highest pay of any class of women in France. A recent presentation for that of models by one dressmaker, disclosed the fact that the head saleswoman was paid $6,000 a year in commissions and salary.

A French cabinet minister received less than half that amount annually.

Sewing women receive low pay, however. Beginners start as low as three dollars a week.

LONDON—Miss Dorothy Woodman, secretary of the "Young Suffragists," lost her place in college because of her activity in the suffragist movement, but she does not regret this now that the struggle to get votes for British women under 20 years is successfully over.

Same Price FOR OVER 35 YEARS 25 ounces for 25¢ KC BAKING POWDER

Guaranteed Pure Use KC for finer texture and larger volume in your bakings

Millions of pounds used by our Government

What's On At Station YIAJ?

Instinctively you turn to the radio page to find out what is on the air.

You want to tune in on something you'll like—something interesting—without having to waste time picking up station after station.

The advertisements in this paper simplify your buying just as the radio page simplifies the selection of your evening's entertainment.

Read the advertisements and you'll know where to go for the things you want. More than that, you'll know what to get and how much to pay, for advertising helps you compare values and form unhurried conclusions.

You save effort, you save money, you save delay by forming the thrifty habit of keeping track of the advertisements.