Crumbling Ruins Found Prove To Be Old Missions

BRUNSWICK, Ga., Apr. 29 (AP)—Old ruins which generally have been known to residents of this section as abandoned sugar mills and English colonial stables now have been revealed as early seventeenth century Spanish missions.

Some of the ruins ante-date those of the Spaniards in California, having been established during the period 1556 to 1668 by monks who followed the early explorers of Spain. They set up a chain of missions along the South Atlantic coast from St. George's Island, South Carolina, to St. Augustine, Florida.

Then came the English and the long series of maneuverings which resulted in the Spaniards being driven back into the present confines of Florida. General Oglethorpe, founder of the colony of Georgia, used Scot soldiers in the campaigns and many of them settled in the country. The colonists attempted to draw a veil over the early Spanish colonization here.

Spanish missions, built of tabby—a mixture of seashells and shell lime—immediately were converted into stables and later were turned into sugar mills. Children grew up to know the structures only by their utilitarian uses.

In recent years, historical societies and individuals have financed an extensive search of archives in Madrid, Seville and Havana, the result being the charting of the entire chain of missions and revealing a romantic history long hidden.

The largest of the tabby ruins is that of the mission of San Domingo del Tabajo, at Ellisfield, on the estate owned by William DuPont. In the ruins of the mission of Tolomato, near Darien, Ga., traces of a fortress, dungeon and other structures have been found.

Vale in Market For Mustang Herd

VALE, Apr. 29.—Wild and wooly mustangs are wanted for the three-day rodeo program at the tenth annual Fourth of July celebration of Malheur county, to be held in Vale July 2, 3 and 4. The wildest "fan tails" that can be found on the isolated ranges will be taken by Frank Jones, Ironside rancher, who is this year's manager of the celebration rodeo. For the next two months he will ride the hills in search of good rodeo material.

Horses that will buck, twist and do their stuff for the thousands of spectators who will celebrate here again this year, are the kind that Jones has promised for the Vale show.

Mayor Robinette, general manager of the celebration for the tenth successive year, says that the committee heads are already busy to make this year's show "better yet!"

TO MARK CHOICE OR PRIME BEEF

A housewife, after May 1, will not have to depend entirely on the butcher's "Here's a nice piece of beef, lady."

If she desires either choice or prime beef she may, instead, look for a government stamp of approval as to grade and quality.

To demonstrate the practicability of the existing federal beef grade standards, government supervisors will begin about May 1 the grading and stamping of these two grades of beef at Chicago, New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Kansas City, St. Joseph, Mo., Omaha and Sioux City.

The stamping, to be limited to choice and prime beef for the present, will be in the nature of an experiment and no fee will be charged for the work. If the test works successfully, Secretary Jardine has announced the service may be extended gradually to other grades of beef. Standards for lamb, mutton and veal also are being worked out.

Should the grading and stamping service be extended to all grades and established permanently as a part of the wholesale and retail meat business, Mr. Jardine believes meat consumption, which has fallen off in recent years, will be stimulated. His decision to experiment with the two beef grades was reached after details of the plan had been gone over with the packers, the Better Beef Association and the National Livestock and Meat Board.

HEALTH

PREDICTS KIDNEY DISEASES WILL BECOME LESS

By Elmer Hess, M. D., Erie, Pa.

Member Gorgas Memorial Inst.

Bright's disease is the title given to kidney disease by the layman and, unfortunately, when a layman is told he has Bright's disease, he immediately feels that he has an incurable condition. Many cases of so-called Bright's disease can be and are being daily cured by elimination of foci of infection elsewhere in the body.

I have seen, as have many other physicians, an "incurable" case of Bright's disease get well after diseased tonsils and infected teeth had been removed.

I do not mean that the parts of the kidney which have been destroyed, as a result of these infections, have been regenerated. That is impossible. But just as soon as the steady stream of irritating and destroying poison in the blood stream is stopped at its source, the parts of the kidney which have not been destroyed are saved from destruction. The kidneys again function normally and the patient's symptoms disappear.

Very often an individual will never know he has any kidney trouble until he is rejected for insurance, because of albumin in his urine. Then he finds out that he is beyond the curable stage and he becomes hopeless.

This fact alone shows the importance of having a complete physical examination once a year or, better, once every six months. Of course no physical check up is complete without a complete examination of the twenty-four hour urine. Now if any abnormalities are found, the entire urinary tract should be examined minutely.

Physicians who have good training, when they discover urinary disturbances, usually call in men called urologists who are especially trained with reference to the urinary tract. Where these specialists are unavailable, they call in general men who have some experience with the cystoscope and the x-ray machine.

A cystoscope is an electrically lighted instrument which is passed into the bladder and an inspection of this organ is easily possible. Small tubes can be passed through this instrument into each kidney and the urine from each kidney can be collected and studied separately. Then dyes can be injected and their elimination from each kidney can be studied so that the ability of each kidney can be estimated separately.

X-ray pictures can then be taken and any abnormalities can easily be ascertained. The blood can be examined chemically and the ability of the kidney to throw off waste material can be accurately estimated and then advice can be given that is substantial and correct.

Diseases of the kidney are going to become less and less as a result of the education of the public in the necessity of keeping a healthy mouth and throat because in these two places lie the largest per cent of foci and infection.

It is a lucky adult who has had his tonsils removed as a child and who has a clever up-to-date dentist who will pull out infected teeth and who will refuse to kill the nerve or cap dead teeth. These things cause more kidney trouble than all the other causes put together.

Fail to Uncover Further Trace Of Ancient Life

NAMPA, Apr. 29.—No important discovery has been made by a party headed by J. M. Price, which went to the Warren lava gravel pit near Melba in search of prehistoric skeletons. Last week workmen for the Nampa highway district uncovered a section of ivory tusk 22 inches long and about four inches thick and this prompted Mr. Price to try to find the complete skeleton to which the tusk may belong.

Sunday the exploring party found the spot where the tusk was uncovered, but because of the quantity of gravel necessary to move, did not make much progress. Highway district employes working at the pit have promised to cooperate and great care will be taken to see that no bones are broken by the gravel pit machinery. When the skeleton, if there is one, is found, Mr. Price expects to return to uncover it without disturbing it from the position it may occupy.

Warmer Weather Helps Wallowa

WALLOWA, Ore., Apr. 29 (Special)—Fairly warm weather with a few light showers of rain during the past week done much toward quickening the growth of grass and winter wheat crops. Stock are now in pastures and on the summer ranges where they are doing well. The fields in the dry farming sections have dried off rapidly, and farm work is starting up. Some ground which was in summerfallow last season or was fall plowed is being worked into condition and seeded to spring wheat.
