Mrs. Lee Bouvy Entertains For Little Daughter

Mrs. Lee Bouvy entertained 14 children yesterday afternoon from 5 o'clock until 5 honoring the fifth birthday anniversary of her little daughter, Miss Joan.

The children enjoyed games until 4:20 o'clock, when they were seated at a table, decorated with bouquets of tulips and daffodils, and were served a two-course luncheon. Favors were found at each place.

The children present were: Ann Stoddard, Maryette Foley, Mary Jean Bohnenkamp, Elizabeth Foley, Carlton Appleby, Nancy Lee Lindsay, Gene Ashby, Peter C. Burn, Jack Murphy, Nancy Dutton, Mack Lane, Barbara Stoddard, Ruth Stoddard, Steve Kinzel and the honor guest.

Miss Marie Bowman, bride elect, was complimented at a dinner party Tuesday evening at the Foley hotel in honor of her approaching marriage to Knute Lehn, of Portland.

A five-course dinner was served at 7 o'clock, the menu consisting of fruit cocktail, bullion, vegetable salad, roast chicken, dressing, gravy, canned sweet potatoes, peas, hot rolls and butter, ice cream and sponge cake.

The table was prettily decorated in a pink and white color scheme, a bouquet of pink and white sweetpeas serving as a centerpiece. Miniature wedding bells in the same colors were used as place cards and the nut cups were also in pink and white.

During the dinner the honor guest was presented with a lovely bouquet of sweetpeas. A theater party at the Arcade theater was enjoyed following dinner.

The party was given by eight girl friends of Miss Bowman, Mrs. Georgia Olson, Mrs. Mary McLean, Miss Catherine McCarthy, Miss May Donovan, Miss Margaret Donovan, Miss Ruth Brown, Miss Lola Martin and Miss Frances Edmondson.

Episcopal Guild Plans For Bazaar

There was a large attendance last evening when St. Peter's Episcopal guild met at the home of Mrs. J. D. Slater.

Most of the time was taken up in a business session, presided over by the president, Mrs. H. A. Zurbielek, when plans for the autumn bazaar, which will be held May 11, at Hoffman hall, were completed.

Announcement was made that the guild has $1150 on hand to contribute toward the new pipe organ, which will be installed in the Episcopal church here.

A missionary box, valued at $25, has just been completed and sent to Alaska.

A social was enjoyed before adjournment, when Mrs. Slater, assisted by Mrs. B. P. Wythe, Mrs. Ernest Bray and Mrs. L. H. Russell served refreshments.

The rooms were attractively decorated with many spring flowers.

Members of the Senior Christian Endeavor society of the First Presbyterian church enjoyed a business meeting and social last evening at the home of Miss Kathryn Moran.

About 12 members were present and the business meeting was presided over by the president, Miss Ella Nebelker.

Games were enjoyed following the business session, and refreshments were served by Miss Moran.

Miss Gertrude Tyler entertained the employees of the Blue Mountain creamery last evening at the home of her hostess, R. P. Tyler.

Miss Tyler has just returned from China, where she spent a number of years as a missionary, and during the evening she told many interesting things concerning conditions in China, and showed a number of pictures.

A Chinese supper was served during the evening. The supper was served Chinese style, chop sticks being used instead of forks.

Sunday morning at 10 o'clock Miss Tyler will speak at the First Methodist Episcopal church. The Martha Bible class is sponsoring her talk and the adult Bible class has been invited to attend.

Honors Mothers At Society Meet

The General Aid society of the First Methodist Episcopal church met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Claire Scriber with more than 30 members in attendance.

The home was prettily decorated with apple blossoms and bouquets of other spring flowers.

The entire program of the afternoon was built around Mother's Day. Mrs. George M. Pierce had charge of the devotional. She read a paper on "Mothers of the Old Testament." Little Phyllis Byrneson recited the Third Psalm and Mrs. H. V. (Sposky) sang "My Mother's Bible," accompanied by Mrs. Sherwood Williams at the piano.

Churchill Downs Fashion Parade To Be Colorful

By M. B. Campbell LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The gleam of silk, the blaze of color and the glory of raiment which attends the annual running of the Kentucky Derby once again will be in the dress parade at Churchill Downs on May 14.

Fappers who would flap the merriest, dowagers whose gray locks must be shown to the best advantage, have asked: "What color shall I wear Derby Day?" and the answer is like a great Dutch tulip bed, so riotous is the color scheme of feminine adornment.

No Shade Neglected There is not a shade of the spectrum that has been neglected—orange, green, rust and blue, gray and white and black. Perhaps blue is the color which dominates the best, gray blues, navy blues, sky blues, robin's egg, turquoise and forget-me-not.

But for those who affect the warmer tones there are the frills of flowered chiffon. With these one will see the floppy picture hats of imported straw.

If one wishes designers' advice, one may acquire a striking effect in color by a combination of white and black. But blue, especially pastel gray blue, is the best of all. Coors is the name of brownish tan creations this season. Prints are popular, especially for ensembles and in linings.

A whole garden of artificial flowers has blossomed for the Derby parade. Often strangely "unfamiliar" and made of the same material as the dress, they will be worn on the shoulder. If the shoulder has not already been usurped by a bow.

Suds Hosiery Pajama and nude shades will continue to predominate in hosiery, while shoes will be of light gray and tan, with here and there a pair of blacks.

Misty, as she walks from the betting shed to the clubhouse, will carry a large underarm bag or a tiny pouch creation or a simple leather envelope with a back strap.

As the climax of a contest instituted last semester, Willa Mae was elected "T. W. C. Smiles Girl" by vote of all the student body this spring. Despite the fact that most of her extra-study time is occupied with earning expenses in school by serving in the college dining room, she participates in much of the social life of the campus. She is president of the Yacht club, composed of girls who assist the college athletic and is a member of the Susan M. Key Literary society and Y. W. C. A.

Several long-trucks are now making trips to the timber above Tolovast and bringing logs to the new sawmill, and some logs are also being brought down from Catherine creek. The mill pond is filled with water and is rapidly being supplied with logs for the mill which is scheduled to begin sawing in about two weeks. The trucks are making three to four trips daily. They are of the Ford trailer variety and have large pneumatic tires which will not be destructive to the highway.

Monday evening at the Odd Fellows hall, Donatella Gem Rebekah lodge held a call meeting and put on an initiation in their usual excellent style. Mrs. Giles Van Housen and Mrs. Jennie Delaney were the candidates. Following the work a luncheon consisting of ice cream and angel food cake was served and a social hour enjoyed by the members and a few visitors from other lodges.

Mumps have invaded the business section of Union after doing about all the damage they could among the high school students. C. L. Caldwell and Irvin Hess, the former being the proprietor of the Union Hardware store and the latter of the Oregon Trail garage being the latest victims.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Steinke, who recently came here from Washington to visit Mrs. Steinke's mother, Mrs. Alex Slater, have leased a ranch near Union and are moving into their new home.

UNBOBBED PEACH FROM PARIS

Miss France, Mlle. Roberta Cusey, is coming to America to take part in the second International Pageant of Pulchritude at Galveston, Tex., in May. She was chosen in a contest held by Le Journal de Paris, the judges selecting her among hundreds of "bubbled heads."

COLLEGE GIRL HAS $100 PRIZE SMILES

FORT WORTH, Tex. — Miss Willa Mae Lee, an orphan earning her way through college, won this year's $100 prize for being the "smilingest" girl on the campus at Texas Woman's college last year. Miss Lee lived at the Waco Methodist home.

As the climax of a contest instituted last semester, Willa Mae was elected "T. W. C. Smiles Girl" by vote of all the student body this spring. Despite the fact that most of her extra-study time is occupied with earning expenses in school by serving in the college dining room, she participates in much of the social life of the campus. LOUISIANA GIRL EMULATES BURBANK

EATON ROUGE, La. — Luther Burbank and his career are the ideals of Miss Dorothy Coppens, who is emulating the great agriculturist, became the first co-ed to complete successfully the regular agricultural course in Louisiana State university.

Dorothy donned overalls and went through the "dirty" work of her course in the college of agriculture just as competently as any boy. Agriculture, she believes, offers more opportunities for service and enjoyment than other occupations.

MAY CENSOR BOOKS

NEW YORK — Somebody has raised the question whether Uncle Sam should permit unexpurgated editions of the Arabian Nights to continue to come from abroad. A shipment of 600 sets, priced to retail at $50 each, is held up by customs authorities pending decision as to admissibility. Last year 715 sets of the same edition were admitted without question.

A period is only a dot, but it's the best thing to use in the end.

HEALTH

THE DANGER OF NEGLECTING SMALL OPEN WOUNDS

By Roland H.B. M. D., St. Louis, Mo. Member Gorgas Memorial Institute Wounds of a moderate or severe character usually receive prompt treatment, because of bleeding or the discomfort and disability that they cause. The serious results of cases of this class are largely prevented.

In the field of injuries which seem too trivial to cause the injured persons to give them immediate and adequate care, however, are encountered some of the most heart-breaking disasters.

We live in the presence of micro-organisms capable of causing serious diseases or death if once they get loose in the human system. It must never be forgotten that these deadly germs may enter the body through the smallest abrasions of the skin or of the mucous membranes, as in the mouth or in the nose. In the soil or dirt of our streets are the organisms which cause lockjaw and other forms of blood poisoning.

To illustrate more fully my point, I cannot do better than to give the history of a typical case: J. D., a nine year old boy, was admitted to the hospital in a very serious condition. He had but a slight fever and his pulse was almost normal. His mind was clear, but he was having very marked spasms of the voluntary muscles, particularly around the jaw.

These spasms were much aggravated when he attempted to eat or to move and there was difficulty in opening the mouth. The history of the case failed to show any injury whatever. A very careful examination of the body, however, disclosed a small discharging wound on the ball of the right foot. It was very slight and had been entirely overlooked, although the boy remembered hurting himself ten days before.

It was one of those conditions so common on the foot where the weight of the ball on a sharp substance had caused a small penetrating wound with the introduction of highly infectious germs. The clinical history and the symptoms made the case a perfectly clear one. The boy was suffering from a well marked case of lockjaw caused by the entrance of germs into the foot at the time of the injury.

The wound caused so little discomfort that the boy had not called anyone's attention to it. Yet here, ten days later, he was suffering from one of the most deadly of our human diseases. A little care at the time of the accident, the cleansing of the wound with tincture of iodine or some other efficient antiseptic, and the use of a small prophylactic or preventive dose of tetanus antitoxin, and no ill effects would have followed.

This boy should have been taught to call attention to any wounds that he sustained and if his parents had realized the danger of a small, penetrating, dirty wound on the foot and taken him to some skillful physician, he would not have had the slightest ill effects. In no other class of diseases or injuries is more fully illustrated the principle that the time to cure a disease is before it occurs.

WAGES FOR WIVES

Wives should receive regular wages, something in the nature of an allowance each week, a teacher or home economics advocate. That's something like proposing high school educations for all holders of master degrees. . . . Nowadays though some of the wives prefer the wages without the husbands. . . . What chance would the radio and phonograph have for a hearing in this country if the wives went on strike for higher pay? . . . In England there are 1,700,000 more women than men; according to the statistics. Quite a serious unemployment situation. . . . We know one gentleman from Edinburgh who even refuses to tip his hat.

A Detroit bride had 30 frocks, 27 pairs of shoes, 40 pieces of lingerie, 24 pairs of gloves, 22 hats, and so forth. Almost enough clothes for a suitcase, nowadays.
