OFFICE CAT

An old man heard of a famous surgeon who could restore youth by performing a gland operation. Going to the physician, the old man said: "Could you make me 17 years old?" "Certainly I can," the surgeon responded, and the operation was performed. Several months later, the doctor sent a bill. "Nothing doing," the patient responded. "I am under age and you cannot sue me, and if I am not under age, I'll sue you for fraud."

A man consulted a divorce lawyer. "I wish to find out if I have grounds for divorce," he said. "Are you married?" asked the lawyer. "I am."

Sign on the bumper of a motor truck in Baker: "Yes, it had to be you."

There is not much need of a new religion so long as the old one is not used enough to be even shop worn.

Man, a man who can't keep his office books straight can tell you offhand the batting averages of all the big baseball players.

Some visitors wear out their welcome and then stay longer trying to mend it.

An Oklahoma woman had named her two daughters Gasoline and Kerosene.

The old man's name is probably Pete Holcomb.

Here's hoping they grow up parasite girls.

We want them refined and not crude.

Had they been boys, one would probably be named Ben Zine.

Rich Old Uncle: "A month ago I made my will and left everything to you."

Bright Nephew: "What are you waiting for, then?"

"Mother, did you used to wear these balloon sleeves?"

"Yes, dear."

"How did you blow them up?"

AT THE THEATERS

"Silence" Is Showing Last Time Tonight

Packed with thrills and appealing scenes, "Silence," featuring Vera Reynolds, H. B. Warner, Raymond Hatton, Rockwell Feathers, Jack Mulhall and Virginia Pearson, was heartily received by a delighted audience at the Sherry Theater yesterday. This production by Rupert Julian, of the sensational stage success in which Mr. Warner was the star, is one of the strongest film versions of a successful play seen here in many months.

The story deals with a gentleman crook's love for a daughter who was unaware of his existence. When a crime is unwittingly committed by her, to save her, he shoulders responsibility for a murder and is sentenced to death. He refuses to tell the truth even though death on the gallows awaits him, because he dared not incriminate his child. Then follows a sensation and thrilling climax which holds the spectator by a spell. "Silence," is, indeed, a remarkable photoplay.

The work of the featured players, notably that of Miss Reynolds, who has a dual role, Mr. Warner and Raymond Hatton, is highly artistic. If you care for thrills red-hot from the grill, you cannot well afford to miss this tremendous photoplay. Comedy showing "Pound Foolish."

"Too Many Crooks" Showing At Star Theater

"Too Many Crooks," the farce comedy production which brings Mildred Davis back to the screen after an absence of four years had its local premier at the Star Theater yesterday.

Judging from the solid rounds of applause and hearty chuckles continuing from even the most staid theatergoer, the picture accomplishes all that was intended of it—and more.

Backed by a sterling cast which includes Lloyd Hughes, George Bancroft and El Brendel, a well-constructed story and superb direction, the photoplay is one to be recommended most enthusiastically.

The work of Miss Davis, as the spoiled daughter of a rich father, who determines upon a play-wright's career, is particularly noteworthy. She displays a comedy sense equal to that of the most outstanding fun makers on the screen today.

The story of "Too Many Crooks" from E. J. Rath's novel of the same name, was directed for Paramount by Fred Newmeyer, the man who made "Richard Dix" "The Quarterback" and "W. C. Fields" "The Potters." Others in the cast include William W. Mong, Betty Francisco, Otto Matiesen, Gayne Whitman, John St. Polis and Tom Ricketts.

This feature picture and the Charley Chase comedy "Many Serappy Returns," will be shown for the last time tonight.

Cases Scheduled May Court Session

ENTERPRISE, May 9 (Special)—The following cases are set for the May term of the Wallawa county circuit court, which began this morning: state vs. Ray Schaefer for resisting an officer; Kelly vs. Jocelyn and McAlister; Frank Boyd vs. Guy Word and W. E. Hibbard vs. Enterprise State Bank.

"McFadden's Flats" At Arcade Is A Fun Film

A group of literary hodgepotters and serious minded funmakers have undertaken the task of literally building a house of laughs. The fortunate poker player who could point to his home as "the house that Jack built" had nothing on Edward Small, who built "McFadden's Flats" for the screen from nothing more weighty than grins, chuckles and uproarious guffaws.

With the aid of
