HOW TO DO IT

ATLANTIC CITY (AP)—There are difficulties in mere man telling women what to wear, but leave it to a woman to solve the problem. On the question of a return to "the good old uses when women wore petticoats and long skirts," Walker D. Hines, president of the Cotton Textile institute, said, "It remains to be seen whether in this feminine empire organized effort can have any sway whatsoever." Whereat Miss Laurice T. Moreland, fashion expert, suggested that instead of trying to appeal to the flapper, cotton manufacturers turn out smart dresses for non-flappers—so smart that the flapper won't turn up her nose at them.

John Barrymore In Film At Sherrys

A motion picture that is individual in type, original in conception and treatment, with none of the hackneyed, broadside features with which the less courageous are wont to clutter up their offerings—such is "The Beloved Rogue," first of John Barrymore's screen contributions under the United Artists banner at the Sherry theater.

Barrymore, ever forceful and convincing, seemingly unlimited in his capacity for varied characterizations, sets a standard in this vehicle which even he will find difficult to surpass. Given a story that must have been very much to his liking, he succeeds in so submerging his identity in his role that it seems to be really Francois Villon, beloved French poet of the fifteenth century, who returns to entertain us with his brilliant moments of inspiration. Sterling patriot and gentleman, skilled above all other versifiers of his time, and yet a housebreaker and profligate, Francois Villon is perhaps the most whimsical and charming of all history's romantic figures. The role of Francois Villon is "made to order" for Barrymore (time worn as the phrase may be) but this does not do justice to him. The reason for his triumph is not found in such a simple combination of circumstances. Barrymore makes Villon a living being on the silversheet — character distinctive and different to anything he has ever done previously. The excellence of the characterization is not due alone to the fortunate suitability of the role to the player, but is principally the result of Barrymore's great artistry and creative ability.

Comedy showing "Kiss Me Kate."

"Laddie" Alive With Color And Charm

One of the greatest pictures of the year, "Laddie," is showing for the last time here tonight at the Sherry theater, and the many local admirers of the late Gene Stratton-Porter are urged not to miss this superb production of her most famous novel. Alive with all the color and charm of the Middle West, packed with delightfully humorous touches, and carrying on the development of two idyllic love affairs to a gripping climax, it is hard to say whether the book or the picture is a more splendid achievement. Leo Meehan, a son-in-law of the noted writer, made the script from Jeanette Porter Meehan's adaptation of her mother's work, and also directed the production for F. B. O. A cast with John Bowers and Bess Flowers in the leading roles, and including such stars as David Torrence, Eugenia Gilbert, Arthur Clayton, Fanny Midgley, Aggie Herring, Eulalie Jensen, Jack Luden, John Fox Jr., and little Gene Stratton, the novelist's granddaughter, insures the characterization of the film being far above the average.

Comedy showing "Atta Boy."

ILEANA LOSES OUT

ROME (AP)—Ileana, of Rumania, seems to have lost out in the race for the heart and hand of the most eligible royal bachelor next to the Prince of Wales. It is stated that the engagement of Crown Prince Humbert will be announced shortly and that his choice is Princess Maria Adelaide, his third cousin and daughter of the Duke of Genoa. The princess lives at Turin, where the prince is on duty as an army captain.

Jack Mulhall Goes To Jail For Movie

Jack Mulhall has gone to jail—for picture purposes only! Patrons of the Star theater tomorrow and Monday will have an opportunity of seeing the popular young leading man languishing for a time behind iron bars and stone walls. But he doesn't stay there long and out of his incarceration develops romance and plenty of exciting situations.

Joseph Henaberry, directing the picture which was produced for First National by Jay Hackett, has injected much subtle comedy into the story which is principally laid in Los Angeles—at the City Jail, in Pershing Square and on the city streets.

Alice Day has deserted pure comedy for the time being to play the feminine lead opposite Mulhall—a part which gives her a display of her talent and charm.

Also showing is one of Hal Roach's comedies "The Nickel Hopper", with Mabel Normand.

Johnny Hines And Vaudeville At Arcade

Another vaudeville bill with a supply of novelties, songs, dance revues and a good amount of comedy will be seen at the Arcade theater tomorrow—Sunday.

The bill is headed by Loretta's Novelties in a pleasing satire billed "Fun on the Screen" with special scenery and effects. Marcy and Mack in their comedy conceit "Pomologists" are a rollicking rapid-fire comedy act of originality and fun. Kuhn Sisters in "Bits of Vaudeville" are two vocalists and painters who offer special material in comedy and singing numbers. Johnny Larkin, "The Ralph of Mirth," is a dusky-hued comedian whose characterizations and humorous dialogue go to make up an entertaining offering. Boyle and Le Marr in "Dance Revue Petite" present a whirlwind dancing act with pretty costumes and effects.

The feature picture "The Crackerjack", with Johnny Hines will also be shown.

Judge G. W. Phelps Dies in Portland

PORTLAND, Ore., May 14 (AP)—Judge Gilbert W. Phelps of the sixth judicial district, Umatilla and Morrow counties, one of the best known jurists of Oregon, died yesterday afternoon at a hospital here. He had been ill for two years, following a stroke of paralysis. Before his election to the bench he had practiced law at Heppner and Pendleton. He was 55 years of age. The funeral will be at Pendleton Monday at 2 p. m.

GOBS LIKE BLONDES

NEW YORK—Gobs' preferences are like other gentlemen's. The Atlantic fleet voted and the following was given out as typical of 2500 ballots:

"A girl with blonde hair, blue eyes, rolled stockings, short skirts, of medium height, with a boyish bob, of a talkative nature and with 20 summers behind her."
