Graduates Guests At Reception In L.H.S. Gymnasium

Immediately following the commencement exercises at the gymnasium last night parents of the graduates gathered for a reception in the high school gymnasium.

The class colors were prominently in the decorations. Banners of apple blossoms, hatched with red, and the gymnasium white, were used, and silver streamers formed a festooned ceiling. Huge bunches of cut flowers were grouped at each end of the hall.

Refreshments were served throughout the evening by the seniors. Music was furnished by Paul Spry's orchestra.

Miss Mildred Hoyt was hostess to a bridge club on Monday evening. Two tables were at play during the evening. Miss Patricia Sims won high honors.

The club will meet again Monday, May 23, at the home of Mrs. Edith Hartman on 1670 Bond street.

The M. J. L. club met at the home of Mrs. J. M. Hoyt on Wednesday afternoon. Two tables of bridge were at play. Mrs. Will Mitchell winning high honors.

Williams, who came here a few years ago from Tennessee.

Only the immediate relatives and friends of the bride and bridegroom were present.

MENUS

By Sister Mary
BREAKFAST—Sliced bananas and strawberries with cereal and cream, poached eggs on graham toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Diplomatic pie, graham bread and butter, sandwiches, fruit salad, rolled oats cookies, milk, tea.

DINNER—Roast leg of lamb, mint sauce, new potatoes in cream sauce, buttered peas and carrots, asparagus salad, pineapple sherbet, custard cake, milk, coffee.

The diplomatic pie is just a glorified arrangement of left-overs. It can be served in individual baking dishes or one large one. The house-keeper who manages her left-overs cleverly can afford better food to begin with than the one who wastes what is left after each meal.

Diplomatic Pie
One cup diced left-over meat, 1 cup diced carrots, 1/2 cup peas, 1/2 cup strained canned tomatoes, 2 cups mashed potatoes, 1 tablespoon butter, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons milk, white 1 egg.

Combine meat, carrots, onions and tomato juice. Add boiling water to cover and simmer until tender. If the vegetables have not been previously cooked they should be almost tender before adding the meat. Season mixture with salt and pepper and thicken with flour stirred to a smooth paste with a little cold water. It will probably take about 3 tablespoonsful of flour to thicken the mixture to the consistency of gravy. Season hot mashed potatoes with butter, salt and milk and fold in the egg white beaten until stiff and dry. Put the meat and vegetable and gravy mixture into a buttered baking dish, cover with prepared potatoes and bake in a moderately hot oven until the potato mixture puffs and browns on top.

BLIND STENOGRAPHER SEES WITH HER HANDS

HOUSTON, Tex.—A blind stenographer for a Houston real estate operator "sees" her dictation with her hands. Miss Winnie Nelson has a metal device eight inches long, pierced with tiny holes underneath which she places her paper. As her employer talks—and she has a reputation for taking fast dictation—she pushes indentations on the paper through the holes with a stylus, a small awl-like instrument. After the dictation she runs her fingers over the indentations and transcribes the notes on a typewriter.

Miss Nelson is to be married soon to a business man who is also blind.

PREVENTION AND CARE OF CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

By Carl H. Winsor, M. D.

In the enlightenment of each new medical discovery with a bearing upon contagious diseases, the added possibility of prevention are emphasized as an infinite part of the doctor's work.

To develop these preventive possibilities is of great importance, yet with extensive educational campaign it has been found difficult to obtain acceptance of preventive methods. The public in general may be convinced of the merits of prevention, but if success is to be achieved with contagious diseases it must be through compulsory methods.

It is known that vaccination can practically obliterate small-pox. The public is aware of this fact, yet adopting vaccination as a compulsory practice is obstructed by some people who contend that their personal rights are infringed.

The work of prevention of diphtheria and scarlet fever has been proven efficacious through the Schick and Dick tests.

Scarlet fever and diphtheria are most prevalent among children, particularly those under 10 years of age. If prevention is resorted to at an early age, by the administration of toxin-antitoxin, the mortality rate of diphtheria would be materially reduced. Nothing can be done to reduce the death rate of diphtheria if dependence is placed upon him diagnosis of a child's complaint by well-meaning but misguided parents.

The Schick test indicates the susceptibility or non-susceptibility of the patient to diphtheria. If the test shows that it is possible for the child to "catch" the disease, then the toxin-antitoxin should be administered to prevent such an occurrence.

Prevention and control of scarlet fever are the properties of the Dick test. Susceptibility or non-susceptibility is indicated by the test, and subsequent use of the anti-toxin gives the desired im-

PRINCESS JULIANA'S STANDARD IS FLOWN

THE HAGUE—Although fixed by decree when she was six months old, Princess Juliana's standard was flown for the first time at the birthday feast to mark her recent coming of age.

Princess Juliana's standard is a pointed banner divided into four parts by a cross of Nassau blue. In the middle of the cross is an orange medallion bearing the arm of the Queen of the Netherlands surrounded by the royal crown. The upper quarter bears the emblem of the house of Orange and the lower, the hall's head of the house of Mecklenburg.
