National P. E. O. President Guest Of Local Women

Several members of Chapter 1 of P. E. O. entertained at dinner at the Foley hotel dining room Wednesday evening for 11 out-of-town P. E. O. members, who stopped here on their way home after attending the state P. E. O. convention at Wallawa lake.

Mrs. Alice Scott, of Wichita, Kan., supreme president of P. E. O., was the guest of honor. Other guests were Mrs. Mabel E. Simpkins, retiring president of the state P. E. O. and new state organizer; Miss Bessie Mickey, new state president; Mrs. Mattie Bodine, formerly state organizer and now first vice president; Mrs. Gray, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Grace McGee, recording secretary; Mrs. Max Tall, new state treasurer; and Mrs. Dorothy Seymour, Mrs. Bert E. Harty and Mr. and Mrs. Odell, of Portland.

An impromptu program was given during the evening, presided over by Mrs. H. S. Brown, past president of Chapter 1. Mrs. Scott talked on the national activities of the P. E. O., mentioning the memorial library at Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, constructed in memory of the founder of the organization, which will be dedicated at the national convention this summer. National officers of the organization will be maintained there.

Covers were laid for 22 around the dinner table. Members of the local chapter entertaining were Dr. and Mrs. H. S. Brown, Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Curry, Mrs. J. K. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Bohlenkamp, and the Rev. and Mrs. Hal E. Watts.

The visitors left on train No. 25 en route to Portland.

Honoring the members of the junior class of Sacred Heart academy, and those who took part in the play, given Wednesday evening at the annual junior-senior banquet, the senior class of the academy entertained all of the high school pupils last evening at the home of Miss Florence Nelson on N avenue.

Games and dancing were enjoyed during the evening and prizes were awarded to Paul Nelson, high point winner during the evening.

The consolation prizes went to Miss Alice Stunhill and Miss Lela Ayres. Mrs. August P. Nelson gave two humorous readings at the close of the program. The rooms of the Nelson home were attractively decorated in the senior class colors, large bouquets of lavender and white lilies being used.

Refreshments, in keeping with the color scheme, were served by the hostesses, Miss Edna Davis and Florence Nelson, assisted by Miss Nelson's mother, Mrs. A. P. Nelson.

Recital Attracts Crowd to Library

In spite of the rain storm last evening a large crowd attended the recital in the library auditorium, when Mrs. B. J. Green presented a group of her piano students.

Ten pupils appeared in the recital, each playing one piano group. The manner in which each of the pupils rendered their numbers showed excellent piano training during the year, members of the audience reported.

It was the first recital appearance of two of the little musicians, little Miss Mildred Green and little Miss Reuter and each played their numbers well. Three of the students were first year high school students, Doris Warner, Clara Harvey and Phyllis Dunn and the other five, Margaret Dixon, Frederick Binzaman, Nancy Galbi, Lenora McCorkle and Margaret Harina were younger students.

The program was one of interest from the beginning group, which consisted of "Mary, Mary Quite Contrary" by Rogers, and "The Frolic of the Lambs" by The Frolic of the Lambs in the final numbers, "Fifth Nocturne" by Chopin, "La Bicyclette" by Liszt and "March, March" by Schmitt.

Bouquets of tulips and lilies were used to decorate the stage. This evening Mrs. Green will present a second group of piano students in recital at the church auditorium, beginning at 8 o'clock, when eight of her more advanced pupils will appear.

A recital with all boys taking part was given yesterday afternoon at Sacred Heart academy, the academy hall being filled to capacity with interested parents and friends.

The program consisted of piano groups and one violin group, and all the numbers were well played. The violin selection was played by Patrick Kennedy, accompanied by Vincent Swelin at the piano. The number was "March" by Duetelle.

The piano numbers were: "March Piano's Men" by Reinholdt and "Indian War Dance" by Krieger, played by James Brown; "April Showers" by Krieger, Billie Lynch; "Blind" by Duetelle and "Abraham Lincoln" by Dorothy Gagner Blake, Carlyle Wilson; "From A Tama Pow Wos" by Makrejs, Pat Fitzgerald, 'Whirligig' by Hall, Frederick Getting, 'June Flowers' by Spilken, Grang Galtin, 'Stop Lively' by Rogers, Robert Webb, 'Heart's Content' by Harper, Wallace McCaffrey, 'Chant Du Voyageur' by Paderewski, Vincent Swelin, 'Wedding Procession' by Greig, Paul Swelin.

Bouquets of lilies, ferns and floor lamps were used to decorate the stage of the academy hall. This evening the academy is presenting a group of girls in recital.

Lutheran Ladies' Aid In Sociable

The Lutheran Aid society of the English Lutheran church met for a social afternoon yesterday at the home of Mrs. J. N. Klein.

About 20 members were present and during the afternoon Mrs. L. H. Ames read a short story, "The Revolt of Mother" by Mary Pruesman. Mrs. Ames conducted the devotional.

Several quilts, bedspreads and nursery blankets, which the society has for sale, were on display during the afternoon. Arrangements were made to make several flannel sleeping jackets for children and adults to be sold by the society.

Plans were made for a social meeting to be held in the church annex next Thursday evening, June 2.

The hostess served refreshments before adjournment.

About 25 young people of the English Lutheran church met for a social afternoon yesterday at the home of Mrs. J. N. Klein.

The program consisted of piano groups and one violin group, and all the numbers were well played. The violin selection was played by Patrick Kennedy, accompanied by Vincent Swelin at the piano. The number was "March" by Duetelle.

Strands Match

A three-strand necklace and a five-strand bracelet of oblong gold beads, fastened with a single large stone of jade, are very smart to wear with the tailleur.

MENUS

BREAKFAST — Cherries, rolled whole wheat toast, marmalade, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON — Sweetbreads in nests, finger rolls, cucumber molds, strawberry bavarian cream, sponge cake, milk, tea.

DINNER — Steamed fillet of sole, lemon butter, buttered rice, new carrots, spinach salad, rye rolls, sliced fresh pineapple, sponge cake, milk, coffee.

The luncheon menu with a few additions would be delightful for a company luncheon. Begin the meal with chilled or hot bouillon, crisp vegetables, radishes and celery. Add new potatoes in parsley butter to the main course and serve cheese cups or tiny sandwiches with the salad. This makes a delightful and rather unusual menu sure to please the most fastidious hostess or guest.

Sweetbreads in Nests
One pair sweetbreads, 2 slices bacon, 1 cup stock, 1 carrot, 2 slices onion, lemon rind, 2 pounds green peas, 1/2 cup sliced fresh mushrooms, 1/2 cup cream.
Parboil and blanch sweetbreads, split in halves and sprinkle with strips of bacon. Place in a shallow baking dish and pour in stock. If stock is not at hand dissolve 1 bouillon cube in 1 cup boiling water. Add carrot scraped and cut in slices, onion and sliced lemon rind. Bake 25 minutes, basting frequently. In the meantime cook peas in boiling water with salt, pepper and butter and mold in the shape of nests. Place in a hot platter. Cook mushrooms for five minutes in a little butter, add cream and strain in stock. Bring to the boiling point, but do not let boil. Put a piece of sweetbread into each nest, pour over sauce and serve. (Copyright, 1927, NEA Service, Inc.)

DUCHESS PLAYS CHESS WITH FRENCH EXPERTS
PARIS—Although she did not enroll as a player, the Duchess d'Uzes the "grand old lady" of the French aristocracy, added a flourish to the women's chess championship tournament recently when she lost Mme. Erigard, last year's champion.

The tournament was played at the Lycium club, which the Duchess d'Uzes helped to found. The Duchess recently rode to her own pack of hounds, although she has passed her 80th year.

SEES KEY TO THREE CHILDREN'S DISEASES
ST. LOUIS—The cure for heart disease, rheumatism and St. Vitus dance among children may lie in one of the scores of test tubes in the laboratory of Dr. Edith Ervin-Jones, first Latin research fellow at the St. Louis Children's Hospital.

She is studying the possibility that the diseases are caused by poisons given off by throat and sinus infections. This may lead, she believes, to disclosures about other puzzling infections of children. Dr. Ervin-Jones who was once on the faculty of the University of California, was born in
