Although in their outward movement the hardy soldiers carried with them the heavy guns and drove them out with their own artillery, according to the department records, the breaking of a wagon route to the Pacific was "marked by a single act of heroism."

than four years on the carving. The basal design, including two reflection pools on east and west sides, is the work of Frank C. Walker, architect.

The Utah legislature appropriated $10,000, available when matched dollar for dollar by private contribution, and the state of Arizona helped provide funds for financing the monument. Great numbers of residents of California and Nevada contributed, while offerings likewise were received from residents of nearly all states in the Union.

President Coolidge, the war department and the United States army will be officially represented at the unveiling ceremonies here on May 30.

Those English style houses that are taking so well in nearly every locality are painting their roofs a the oxide red to resemble the old English style houses. We have in several hundred gallons of this roof paint that is made from house paint that has spoiled in making—that is, the colors weren't bleached right and they put it in the big vats and blended it to an oxide tile red. This is enough about that now. It is $1.49 per gallon just as fast as you can pack it away. You had better not lose any time, either—it makes good barn paint. This is the first time we have quoted prices for quite a long time but people know good and well that when they come here with their money that they can get the price because we don't like to see money leave the yard. We don't care much for it either, but we have to pay our bills.

There is an oil tank here that would do for a service station, for $18.00. It pumps a quart at a time. If you pump it 4 times it will be a gallon.

We run a free employment agency here. If you want a man, send one around and then hire him.

Antiquity Secrets Held in New Mexico

HILL, N. M. (AP)—The great Mesilla valley of New Mexico, bed of the Rio Grande river, and the surrounding hills, offer an almost inexhaustible field for students of vanished American races.

For centuries before the advent of the present inhabitants a civilized race flourished in this region. One of the latest evidences of this was the recent discovery of John Stewart, rancher, of an ancient clay doll and human skeleton, which were unearthed in an old tomb in a gravel bank on the Stewart farm. The skeleton has been identified as that of an adult and is believed to be very old.

The doll is of red clay and is about four inches in length. The head and arms are missing, but the body and lower limbs are well formed and symmetrical.

Mr. Stewart has found buried pottery, turquoise beads, corn and stone implements, indicating that the Stewart home occupies the site of an ancient Pueblo village.

Q. How does the Flat Band Method build longer wear into United States Tires?

A. The Flat Band Method, invented and patented by the United States Rubber Company, puts longer wear into a tire because it is the most precise method of tire building ever developed.

It is comparable to the exact engineering practice of bridge design and construction. Just as the position, length and load of each cable in a bridge are calculated and fixed in advance, so with the cords in a United States Tire.

By the Flat Band Method the plies are laid without tension. The length of each cord is precisely right. The relation of the cords, one to another, is exact.

The result is a tire in which uniform tension and strength of every cord are assured. The load is equalized all around. Longer wear follows.
