will canvass the business district for funds are Hugh E. Brady, Lloyd Bussy, Jesse Andrews, Chester Thompson, Otis Palmer, Harley Richardson, Ralph Huron, Fred Reed, Harvey J. Matthews and Roy Currey.

Brady Presides

Commander H. E. Brady presided at the meeting. T. J. Scroggin and H. E. Coolidge each declared that the plan was logical and that the convention would mean much to La Grande. Talks from several of the merchants showed them willing to do their part in donating to the fund.

An Indian legion post, made up of about 20 members from the Umatilla reservation, has been organized at Pendleton under the leadership of the post there. This is the first Indian post in the United States and is creating considerable interest.

Representatives from the post called on Commander Brady last week and told him that all of the members would attend the convention in full Indian regalia, which will be an added feature during the convention.

thing is now realized yet it is our democratic failure that must always account the first rank. Nations which are torn by dissension and discord, which are weak and inefficient at home have little standing or influence abroad. Even the blind do not choose the blind to lead them.

"Foreign peoples are certainly going to seek assistance only from those who have demonstrated their capacity to maintain their own affairs efficiently. If we desire to be an influence in order and law, tranquility and good will in the world we must be determined to make sufficient sacrifices to live by those precepts at home. We can be a moral force in the world only to the extent that we establish morality in our own country."

Lindbergh, Derby Vie for Favor In British Isles

LONDON, May 30 (AP)—This week of the English year is always known as Derby week, but it has a new name in 1927—"Lindbergh and Derby week." The arrival here of the intrepid Atlantic flyer brought to a fever heat the admiration already bestowed on him and his achievement, and his doings here are destined to share with Wednesday's turf classic, the derby, the interest of a vast public which admires sportsmanship, whether displayed on the turf or in the air.

Judging from the reception given Captain Lindbergh when he came to earth after a 2400-mile cross-channel flight from Brussels at 6 o'clock last night, his four days in London promise to be even more strenuous than the seven days that followed his great flight from New York to Paris. A reception by King George and a trip to Epsom Downs to see the derby in the company of no less a person than the Prince of Wales are highlights in the program that has been arranged in his honor.

Never before in English history has such a large and enthusiastic crowd assembled to greet an individual as was at the Croydon airfield when the western aviator completed his two and a half hour trip from the Belgian capital. The police estimated that more than 100,000 persons were gathered. They shouted, they cheered, they whistled, and when the Spirit of St. Louis touched the earth, "I was immediately surrounded.

possibility to keep out of the hands of young boys and girls literature of this nature, but to destroy it utterly is a challenge that cannot be ignored by the Christian church and forces of Christian education."

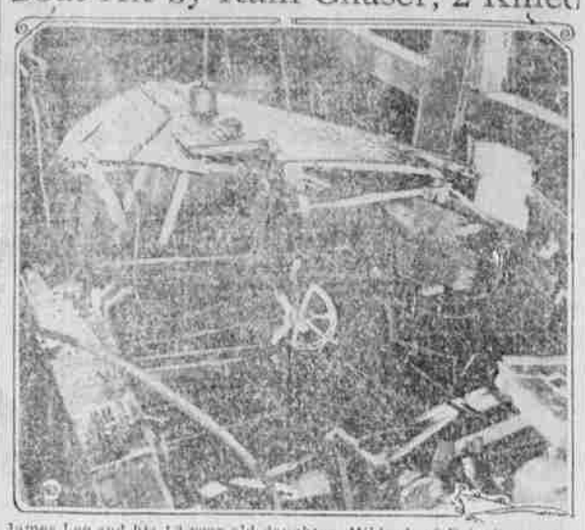
Boat Hit by Rum Chaser; 2 Killed



James Lee and his 12-year-old daughter, Mildred, of Detroit, out for a pleasure ride, met death in this launch when it was struck by a United States customs border patrol speedboat. Congressman Robert Clancy has demanded an investigation, protesting the carelessness of rum chasers in the river and urging that the federal district attorney refuse to defend the patrol agents if they are charged with manslaughter. The wrecked launch is pictured above.

Hand-Me-Downs Are Popular Now In London—Jazz Is Responsible

LONDON (AP)—There was a time when the English aristocracy would consider nothing but a tailor made suit. But the war and its after effects changed all that and as a consequence England's clothing trade just now is enjoying the greatest boom in history.

Many of the older families have been hard hit by the high death duties imposed by the state as well as taxes generally and numerous old homes and castles have been sold outright, or divided into subdivisions for marketing, all of which has had a tendency to cut into the business of the tailor, the candle stick maker and other tradesmen who cater to the wealthy.

Tailors have become more than alarmed at the decreased popularity of the "hand-me-downs", attributing the change not only to the scarcity of ready cash but to the restlessness of the age. The average young man of today, aver the tailors, will not spare a little time for his tailor, even though he has the money, as he is too impatient to wait a few days for results.

The idea now is held responsible for the practice to decide on a suit, or anything else, in the morning, buy it in the afternoon, and wear it at night.

Ready-to-wear plus-four suits and wool flannel outfits for summer are sold in London on a greater scale than at any other time. Clothing manufacturers say they have orders on hand for this class of work which will keep them busy for three months at least. The sale of ready made blazers and sports coats has increased to an even greater extent.

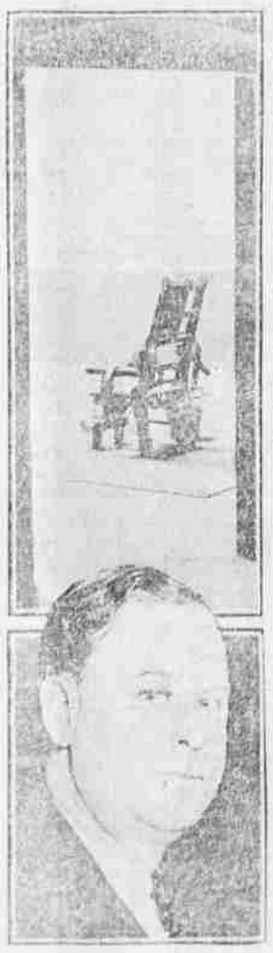
Orders for caring in the London tailoring shops, Easter notwithstanding, were reported to have been only half of those of last year. Consequently there is gloom up and down Saville Row, as in all the other rows and streets and alleys where there are tailor shops with time worn signs like this: "Court Tailors," "By Royal Warrant," "Tailors to His Majesty, the King of Siam," and "Tailors to His Majesty, the late Czar of Russia," and so on.

THE SPIRIT'S THE THING

NEW YORK (AP)—Without real religion, in the opinion of the Rev. Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, all our modernism would be as futile as Lindbergh's monoplane without Lindbergh's spirit.

Now the strawberry crop is going to be 35,000,000 quarts short, according to government figures. With the Louisiana sugar bowl threatened, it's time we strawberry shortcake lovers organized to elect a democrat.

AWAITING RUTH



An extraordinary picture of the electric chair at Sing Sing prison, Ossining, N. Y. In it, Mrs. Ruth Snyder and Henry Judd Gray are to die for slaying her husband, Albert. The date is through "The Little Green Door" letting into the death chamber from the adjoining wing of the penitentiary. Below is Louis B. Lewis, first keeper, who, though opposed to capital punishment, is duty bound to execute the death sentences imposed by courts. Tremendous scudder at being forced this way.

Decorate Graves With U. S. Pansies

WASHINGTON, May 30 (AP)—Uncle Sam is using his own flowers today to decorate graves of the heroic dead in Arlington.

Pansies, thousands of them, cut from the grounds and greenhouses of the department of agriculture, were sent by truck to the national cemetery.

If any are left they will be taken with great bunches of other flowers to the Soldiers' Home cemetery—even older than Arlington. There lie regular army veterans of the Mexican war.

The G. A. R., its ranks thinned and bowed, has turned the work of decoration over to the American Legion.

Install New Ponds At Union Hatchery

UNION, May 30, (Special)—Several new ponds at the Union fish hatchery have been started. There will be no fish from the hatchery planted in streams this spring, but a few lakes will be stocked.

The fish will be held over until they are six or seven inches long and will be freed some time in the summer.

We can't indorse this protest against building monuments to dead politicians; in fact, we regret that there are not more monuments of that sort.
