More Beer Than Milk in England

LONDON (AP)—Great Britain drinks more beer than milk.

George B. Wilson, in the Observer, states that Britain drank at least 260,000,000 gallons of beer in 1926, while only about 700,000,000 gallons of milk were consumed.

He estimates that 70 per cent of Great Britain's alcoholic drink bill for 1926 was paid by the 20,000,000 non-abstaining adults with an income of less than £200 a year, and, granting the accuracy of these estimates, these workers paid six weeks of their year's collective earnings for alcoholic drink.

The government salvaged about £129,000,000 in liquor duties out of the total national drink bill of £301,000,000. This bill is only 16,000,000 less than the annual interest account on the national debt.

68 Miles Per Gallon In Public Test

Startling Invention Gets Miraculous Mileage and Starts Fords Instantly

Get One Free

Chicago, Ill.—The motor public was amazed recently when a Ford equipped with the new Blancke Thermostatic Control made 43.8 miles on one gallon of gas in an Official Public Test; 68 miles per gallon in another test. Average in 200,000 tests 32 miles per gallon, breaking world's record. The Blancke Control is entirely automatic and saves its small cost every few weeks as it is guaranteed to start coldest motor instantly in wintriest weather, remove and prevent carbon, save half oil and increase speed, pep and power. Thermostatic Control used on Cadillac and Delco Light under Blancke License—another sure proof of merit. The Inventors want agents everywhere and will send one Control Free to introduce it to your community. Sales guaranteed. Agents made $1000 to $3000 a month. AT THE THEATERS

"Silken Shackles" Showing at Sherrys

The magic of Budapest nights, the thrill of awakening ardor in every man she passed, went to Denise's head like wine, and her trip on the Continent was delight for her and torture for her husband.

Such is the situation in "Silken Shackles," the Warner picture, starring Irene Rich, which opened yesterday at the Sherry theater, a story of a flirtatious wife, a devoted husband, and a gypsy violinist.

Irene Rich, smartly gowned, becomingly bobbed of hair, and coquettish of glance, gives a brilliant performance in the role of Denise Lake. Huntly Gordon, the important man of affairs, finds the romantic wanderings of the fascinating Miss Rich a handicap in the diplomatic mission which has taken him to Europe.

Victor Varconi is the Hungarian violinist, who plays the music of love on muted strings to the impressionable audience of Denise, and Robert Schable the diplomat and friend of the husband, who finds Denise alluring but rather troublesome. Bert Marbaugh is another suitor and Evelyn Selbie and Kalla Pasha the peasant parents of the suave musician.

Comedy showing "What Price Dough."

"Hills of Peril" At Star Features Buck Jones

A treat for the youngsters, and we mean youngsters in spirits and not in years is in store for all who see Buck Jones' latest Fox Films feature, "Hills of Peril", which is showing at the Star theater today and Friday.

This is Buck at his best, in a wild, hard riding western thriller, jammed with action, brimful of fun and pulsing with life.

It's a great story, too, all about a young cowpuncher whose wild practical jokes get him into all kinds of trouble and his adventures with a band of "real" bad men, a gang of moonshiners who terrorize the county and who think that Buck will make a good bad member of the gang.

Then there is the part played by Georgia Hale, who believes that Buck is as bad as the rest when he joins the moonshiners to discover who killed the sheriff. But it all ends very happily.

A Buster Brown comedy is also on the program.

A "best soup" contest was recently held between a housewife, and a restaurant chef. The latter won by a hair.

Gilda Gray's Life Story Strange

Here is the life story of Gilda Gray:

Reached America at the age of eight, moved with her parents to Milwaukee and found her first job at a munificent salary of eight dollars per week! The place was a bare room. Sawdust covered the floor and a tinpan piano pounded out the sugary ballads she sang. Then Gilda secured another position and a two dollar raise. But six months later she was fired. In a minute of thoughtfulness Gilda had wriggled her shoulders and created a shimmy.

Next came a "sister act" in a South Side Chicago cabaret. Rozzie Stewart, the theatrical producer, told her that more money could be earned in New York. Sophie Tucker promoted Gilda a "tryout" at Reisenweber's, where upon J. J. Shubert offered a part in "The Gaieties of 1919" and success was no longer a mirage. She had arrived!

After a period of night club entertaining, Gil Boag (to whom she is now married) opened Gilda Gray's Rendezvous and it at once became the gathering place of society. As the shimmy was now considered passe, Gilda originated what has since become famous as the South Sea Hula-Hula. 1922 found her in the Ziegfeld Follies with Eddie Cantor, Will Rogers, Gallagher and Shean and Mary Lewis. A European vacation (this time in the royal suite) followed and then began a sensational trip in which Miss Gray played every large city, appearing almost exclusively in picture houses. Finally, her itinerary brought Gilda to Los Angeles where she did her dance in one of the Famous Players theaters. Here, as every place else, the act created new receipt records and Jesse L. Lasky, first vice president in charge of Paramount production, was amazed at the box office figures. He immediately signed her to a motion picture starring contract and "Aloma of the South Seas," the first film, was adjudged the best picture a new star had ever made.

"Cabaret," Owen Davis' story of New York night life, was especially prepared as her second vehicle. Arriving at the Arcade theater today, "Cabaret" is said to carry Gilda right to the pinnacle of a career already studded with towering peaks.

EXECUTION HELD UP

RAIFORD, Fla.—Jim Williams, negro slayer, was alive today because the sheriff failed to show up to electrocute him. The sheriff sent a deputy who declined to throw a switch on the ground that it would be illegal. The sheriff is expected on the job tomorrow.

Mrs. Vanderbilt Given Divorce

PARIS, June 2 (AP)—Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, II, the former Virginia Fair, was granted a decree of divorce today. The judgment says Mr. Vanderbilt drove his wife from their conjugal domicile and showed himself excessively cold toward her.

Mrs. Vanderbilt is given the custody of their son, William K. Vanderbilt III. The judgment makes no mention of any financial settlement, the plaintiff not having asked for alimony.

SHINGLES

It is impossible to get a satisfactory roof bu using an inferior shingle or exposing them too much to the weather. Your roof is about the most important part of your house construction. When buying a roof covering—remember the driving winds of the past winter that drove the fine snow through the shingles. That would have been impossible with a roof of real good shingles properly laid. Come down to our yard and let us give you the benefit of our 18 years experience in selling roof coverings of cedar shingles, asphalt roofing, and asphalt mineral surfaced shingles. We are just unloading a car of extra fancy, clear vertical grain cedar shingles—the kind that don't curl.
