THREE COUNTY BOYS PLAN TO ATTEND CAMP

Union county will be represented at the summer citizens' military training camp at Vancouver Barracks, Wash., by three boys who will report to camp on June 17 for a month's training and recreation, according to a report received fom the office of the commanding general of the C. M. T. C. today.

These boys are: Franklin K. Eberhard and John E. Holmes, La Grande; and Clark Ezell, Elgin.

Athletics under supervision, trips to the beach and nearby places of interest, military training and general out-door recreation will be the summer program.

WHETHER USED OR NOT

A large clothing manufacturer, known throughout the world, and one of the largest investors in advertising, says that stores who fail to do adequate newspaper advertising in the territory they serve pay for the additional advertising even though it's not used—pay for it in lost volume and in neglected prospective customers.

With many years of experience with both types of retailers, the manufacturer has proved to his satisfaction that your spending is directly affected and influenced by the advertising of the stores in your community. If through lack of advertising—or for any other cause—your trade is lost or is not attracted to a store, the loss is costly to the merchant — more than enough to pay for the needed advertising investment. In the La Grande territory it is significant that the growing and obviously successful business firms are those you seek your trade confidence through regular Observer ads.

Two Sentenced And Paroled By Judge Knowles

Joe Stewart Draws Year in Jail and Patrick Kane Two Years in Penitentiary.

Paroles were granted this morning by Judge J. W. Knowles to both Joe Stewart, who was found guilty Tuesday of non-support of minor children, and Patrick Kane, who plead guilty over a week ago to burglarly charges.

Stewart was sentenced to a year in jail and was paroled with the requirement that he support his children to the best of his ability and report at the first of each month to the judge. Kane's sentence was heavier, being a two-year maximum term in the penitentiary, while his parole requires that he live law-abiding life and report once a month to Judge Knowles. Both must remain in the county for the term of their sentence.

Motion day was held again today, preparatory to coming cases in circuit court.

Death Takes Ira Snyder At Home During Evening

Ira A. Snyder, La Grande business man, was found dead on the davenport in his home here this morning by his wife, Mrs. Grace Snyder. He became ill during the night, according to Mrs. Snyder, and got out of bed and went into the other room, lying down on the davenport. She got up this morning and after straightening the house went to wake him, but he did not answer. A physician was called, who said he had been dead for several hours. Heart trouble is thought to have caused his demise.

Mr. Snyder had apparently been in good health although he did remark yesterday that he did not think he would go to the Union stock show as he did not feel well and was afraid he might get wet. When the weather cleared up later in the day, however, he decided to go fishing. Last evening he and Mrs. Snyder had guests for dinner and he appeared to be in the best of spirits, but after retiring he became ill.

Besides his widow the deceased leaves two sons, Ellis and Charles, and a daughter, Mrs. J. W. Merritt, of Teke, Wash.; also two brothers, Henry, of Pendleton and Kirk, of Lewiston, Ida.

He had made a Grande his home for the past seven years, being proprietor of the Snyder Harness shop here. He was a member of the local Knights of Pythias lodge and of the La Grande municipal band.

Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the Bohnenkamp mortuary. The remains will be taken to Teke, where burial will be made beside his father and mother.

REALTY CLUB IS TOLD OF DRYER PLANS

Hope to Locate $75,000 Industry in the Grande Ronde Valley Soon

GRIESEL EXPLAINS PURPOSE OF PLANT

Would Utilize 4,000 Tons of Apples That Go to Waste Annually in the County, He Says.

The benefits that a fruit drying plant would bring to the Grande Ronde valley were explained before the La Grande Realty board today at noon at the regular Friday meeting of the organization, by Henry Griesel, of the Blue Mountain Fruit exchange.

President William Miller introduced Mr. Griesel, after a short discussion on the proposed $398,000 road bond issue, on which no definite action was taken.

The speaker explained the steps that had already been taken toward securing a dryer, stating that nearly one-half of the necessary capital has been raised but that, if the remainder is forthcoming soon, it will be necessary for civic organizations interested in new industries to lend a hand in supporting the proposed plant.

$75,000 Industry.

He declared that the dryer would cost in the neighborhood of from $25,000 to $35,000, but that it would result in a $75,000 industry which would go a long ways toward replacing the loss felt in the valley by the removal of the Grand Ronde Lumber company plant to Pondosa. He said that this $75,000 would go mostly to

RED RUSSIA EXECUTES 20 'OPPONENTS'

Death Sentences Carried Out as Reply to Alleged Open Terrorism

LONDON SHOCKED AT SOVIET ACTION

Some of Doomed Men Charged with Furnishing Information to British Diplomats.

MOSCOW, June 10 (AP)—Execution of 20 persons as a reply to the "open transition to terrorism" by opponents of the soviet regime is announced in an official communique published today.

"In view of the open transition to terrorism and destructive struggle by monarchist and white guardist elements, acting from abroad, on instructions and with funds from foreign intelligence services," the communique says, "the collegium of the state political department passed death sentences at its session of June 9 on 20 persons, and the sentences have been carried out."

Among those executed were M. Elvengren, charged with plotting to kill M. Tschitcherin, former Colonel Suslin, charged with a plot to murder Krassin; Prince Meshersky, for carrying on propaganda for the cause of Grand Duke Nicholas (pretender to the Russian throne); M. Eareinoff, former czarist consul and official of the soviet state bank, who was accused of supplying information to Robert M. Hodgeson, British charge d'affaires in Moscow, and Prince Paul Dolgorukoff.

The soviet communique says that Elvengren was associated with a British subject named Riley in a plot against M. Tchitcherin at the time of the Genoa conference in 1922. Riley's name is not included among those executed.

LONDON SHOCKED

LONDON, June 10 (AP)—British officials were shocked today by the announcement in Moscow of the execution of 20 persons charged with anti-soviet activities, including furnishing information to the British diplomatic mission in Moscow. The mission returned to London last night, following the recent rupture of anglo-soviet relations. It was emphatically denied at Downing Street that the British mission in Moscow had had any relations of this nature with Russia. Foreign office officials reiterated that in breaking off relations with the soviets the British government was actuated by no hidden or ulterior motives and had no intention of creating a state of war, but had hoped that, notwithstanding the severance of diplomatic relations, anglo-soviet trade would continue.

As an instance of the difficulties under which British mission in Moscow labored, it was pointed out that the members of the mission had no relations with Russians outside of the sphere of their official duties because the soviet authorities were suspicious of all the

Meteor Falls Into Woodshed at Eden

WALLOWA, Ore., June 10—An igneous meteor, more commonly known as a shooting star or fireball, crashed through the shake roof of the wood house on the Doctor Thomas ranch of the Garden of Eden last Thursday night between nine and ten o'clock nearly setting the shed afire and burying itself in the earthen floor four feet deep, where it was found the next morning.

Instances of falling meteorites where the rocky substance is recovered, are rare. This meteorite was about the size of a baseball.

Grain and Fruit Outlook Promising In Wallowa County—Hay Growth Slow

WALLOWA, Ore., June 10. (AP)—Weather conditions in this county have been more favorable for growing crops of all kinds during the past few days. An abundance of rain, which has fallen here during the past month, has kept the ground well soaked and with the warm weather the winter wheat crops have fairly "jumped", lately. The long spell of cool weather is thought to have been quite beneficial in causing the thin stands of wheat to stool out and take a good root system.

According to farmers from various sections of the county the wheat in most fields appears to be a fairly good stand. Spring sowings have been slow in getting up, but like the winter wheat since the past few warm days, have made a wonderful growth.

Hay Growth Slow

All kinds of hay crops in the valley sections are very small for this season of the year, but it is believed that with warm weather coming the growth of the crop will not be greatly lessened although it may be a little later before it will be ready for cutting.

Practically all garden plantings on the farms has been finished, with some of the first plantings of potatoes beginning to come up.

Fruit Blossoms Out.

Contrary to what many expected there has been but one light frost here during the past six weeks, and but little damage resulted from this. The fruit trees over the country were very late in coming out, and the greater part of them are just coming into full blossom. Prospects are that should no damaging freeze occur from now on that there will be a very good crop of the more common varieties of fruit in this section.

HOMELAND WILL WELCOME FLYER

Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh on Last Stretch of Voyage to U. S.

NORFOLK, Va., June 10 (AP)—The cruiser Memphis, with Charles A. Lindbergh aboard, glided into Chesapeake bay late this afternoon while scores of airmen flew about in a noisy greeting to the new American aviation hero.

U. S. S. MEMPHIS, June 10 (AP)—(By Wireless to the Associated Press)—The first home contact for Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, New York-to-Paris flyer, occurred at 6:05 a. m. today when the destroyer Humphreys met the scout cruiser Memphis at sea.

The vessels met 250 miles off the coast. The destroyer took aboard movie films, made of the aviator during the voyage and a bag of official mail which she was to carry to New York. The destroyer was expected to reach New York late today.

WASHINGTON READY

WASHINGTON June 10 (AP)—Washington is prepared to honor tomorrow with one of its greatest welcoming ceremonies in history the heroic New York-to-Paris flyer, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh.

The first taste of the admiration of the American people for his epic flight, however, was to be given the 25-year-old pilot on the last stretch of his voyage from Europe late today. The navy dirigible Los Angeles and 60 army and navy airplanes, together with a convoy of six destroyers, were on their way to meet the cruiser Memphis as she rounded the Virginia capes. The cruiser was scheduled to pass the capes at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Mother To Welcome Him

Meanwhile, a proud mother, Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh, a Detroit school teacher, was anxiously awaiting the triumphal return of her son when she can extend to him her heartfelt greeting. Mrs. Lindbergh quietly left Detroit late yesterday by train and was expected to arrive here today. She and Colonel Lindbergh are to be the guests of President and Mrs. Coolidge at the temporary Dupont Circle white house during the aviator's stay in Washington.

Tomorrow as the cruiser slowly steams up the Chesapeake bay and Potomac river another array of aircraft, one of the largest concentrations of flying machines ever gathered in this country, approximately 90 army, navy, commercial and post office department airplanes, together with more than a score of civilian planes, will escort the aviator to the Washington navy yard dock where he will disembark.

Butchek, Hammer Murderer, Put To Death By State

Portland Wife Slayer Goes to Scaffold in Salem Early Today Without Statement.

SALEM, Ore., June 10 (AP)—Without making a statement in the death cell or from the scaffold, John Butchek, of Portland, was hanged in the execution chamber of the state penitentiary here at 8:30 o'clock this morning for the murder of his wife, Elizabeth Butchek, with a hammer, at their home in Portland on Jan., 13, 1926. Accompanied by Father J. E. Rubis, of Woodburn, and the necessary prison officials, Butchek entered the chamber at 8:29 and was pronounced dead at 8:45 o'clock.

Clad in a blue serge suit, light shirt and dark tie, the slight form swayed as it took its place upon the trap. Father Rubis steadied the form with one hand. Butchek's eyes were closed and his face gray as the black hood was placed over his head.

Slept Most of Night

Butchek refused to make a final statement for the press or to prison officials who spent the final hours in his company. According to James Lewis, warden, Butchek spent a quiet night, going to bed about 9 o'clock and sleeping soundly until shortly after 4:30 o'clock.

Included in the group of witnesses were Dr. E. V. Morrow and Dr. Earl Smith, Multnomah county coroner, both of Portland and Dr. R. L. Edwards, prison physician and Dr. W. B. Mott both of Salem. Members of the state board of dental examiners in charge of the dental examinations now being held at the prison were also present.

The body was taken in charge by the Rigdon mortuary and no word for its disposition had been received this morning.

Politics Suffers From An Excess Of Static, Claim

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. June 10 (AP)—Governor Albert C. Ritchie, of Maryland, told delegates to the annual convention of the National Electric Light association today that politics "suffers from an excess of static."

He urged that the industry join with other branches of business in visualizing the problems of government as essentially its own, so that the country "may hope for the dawn of a political era in which business will write for itself and share in writing for mankind a new charter of safety and sanity and of liberty and human rights."

"How to transform heat into light is more difficult in politics than it is in electricity," he said, "but light is not heat is what is needed.

"Business deludes itself if it thinks it has to do only with economic laws and principles, and that politics is governed by some mysterious laws or principles that are different than its own.

"There is nothing mysterious in politics except sometimes the flubdubbery of politicians."

Bishop Remington Saves Girl's Life

PENDLETON, Ore., June 10 (AP)—Martha Isaacson, 18, was late yesterday afternoon saved from drowning by Bishop W. P. Remington, of the Eastern Oregon diocese of the Episcopal church. The girl got beyond her depth while in swimming. The Umatilla river, swelled to a torrent by the recent rains, had reached its flood peak of 1900 second feet. The bishop, hearing the girl's scream, while a block from the river, plunged in fully clothed and was carried far down the stream, before he could effect a landing where he administered first aid to the girl. Bishop Remington is a well known athlete, having been a hurdler on the American Olympic games team several years ago.

WILL RETURN RAY, ROY TO JACKSONVILLE

De Autremont Twins Will Come to Oregon, Where Brother Is on Trial

DEATH PENALTY IS ASKED FOR HUGH Special Prosecutor Outlines Evidence in Opening Statements — Witnesses Are Excluded.

COURT HOUSE, Jacksonville, Ore., June 10. (AP)—Sheriff Ralph Jennings will leave tonight armed with first degree murder warrants, and requisition papers signed by Governor Patterson for the return of Ray and Roy De Autremont.

STEUBENVILLE, O., June 10 (AP)—Ray and Roy De Autremont, 27-year-old twins who for four years were the object of a world-wide search pleaded not guilty on arraignment before U. S. commissioner here today on a charge of robbing a mail train in Oregon.

Bonds were set at $50,000 each and they were remanded to jail to await transportation to Columbus. From there they will go to Jacksonville, Ore., for trial following the arrival of federal officers from Oregon.

Both brothers continued today their silence concerning the crime and their actions since then. Federal officials who have kept them secluded in the city jail, today permitted newspaper men to send into them a list of questions, but they came back unanswered.

Ray's Wife Leaves

Ray's wife, who knows now she is not "Mrs. Elmer Goodwin" as she thought, left Steubenville today with her one-year-old son Jack, for her parents' farm home near Hanging Rock, Ohio. Federal authorities turned over to her the $250 found in her husband's pocket.

With her she took an autographed photograph of her husband, sent her from the jail, and bearing the name that was so strange to her until his arrest shattered her seemingly happy married life.

Repeats His Love

The inscription on the picture read: "To my loving wife, Hazel. Because I love you. Take good care of Jack. God bless your parents."

It was signed "Ray Charles De Autremont."

The bride of a little more than a year was formerly Miss Hazel Sprouse. She left Steubenville still sharing with her husband the secret of how or when they met.

Ray told police that he married in an attempt to avert suspicion.

"The only mistake I made was that I married a good girl," he said. "I wasn't going to. I just wanted to get married and hide. I am sorry for her. But she's pretty and young and she'll get another man."

ASKS HUGH'S DEATH

COURT HOUSE, Jacksonville, Ore., June 10. (AP)—The state expects and demands that Hugh De Autremont pay with his life, for the murder of four men during the progress of the Siskiyou tunnel holdup, was the closing sentence of the opening statement of Special Prosecutor George M. Roberts this morning.

The defendant on trial for the murder of Charles O. (Coyle) Johnson, his father's hand upon his shoulder, betrayed no emotion and turned to comfort his mother as the court recessed pending the opening remarks of the defense.

Prosecutor Roberts told the jury that following the banditry, Hugh, after his arrest in the Philippines, and during his incarceration at Alcatraz Island prison, told the authorities that after the attempted robbery, he had fled to San Francisco, then to Los Angeles, thence to Texas, and from there to Chicago, where during the progress of a raid on a tenderloin resort, a policeman had placed a hand upon his arm and advised him to leave as he was too young to be arrested.

Tells Mother, Son Talk

The special prosecutor declared that when his mother visited him in prison, after his return to the United States, she urged him to tell all, and he had replied:

"No! No! Mother! Don't let them talk you into that."

It was further declared that when the mother asked regarding an alibi the defendant said:

"I haven't any, but I have a
