Baseball stock of the New York Yankees rose higher today as their rivals noted that they had still been victorious without their usual heavy hitting.

The Yankees beat the St. Louis Browns 2 to 2 in a game without an extra base hit or the services of Babe Ruth.

The big fence breaker left the lineup after the first inning because of a wrenched neck, acquired by swinging too hard at a third strike Thursday.

The Yankees' closest rivals, the White Sox, meanwhile were falling farther behind. The third place Athletics striving hard to get back neck and neck with the Yanks, scored an 8 to 3 victory over the Sox on the pitching of Hubie Wilbanks.

A recruit pitcher, Lisiewicz, helping the Senators to their 2 to 1 victory over Detroit, while the Chicago team Indians retained the lead on the sixth place by taking two from the newly Red Sox, 6 to 3 and 4 to 3.

Except for the Indians, not a western team was victorious. Even the national league leaders, the Pirates, fell and the Chicago Cubs, who are pressing them so closely

Broadmoor Club Ready For 27th Annual Tourney

By Harry J. Fenwick
(Associated Press Correspondent)
COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., (AP)—The Broadmoor Golf club, host club for the twenty-seventh annual Trans-Mississippi golfing tournament, which opens June 29, has completed arrangements and preparations for the entertainment of the largest entry list that ever participated in the famous tourney.

In addition to the large entry list, arrangements have been completed for the entertainment of hundreds of visitors who are expected to vacation in Colorado at the time of the tournament.

The Trans-Mississippi Golf association, under whose auspices the tournament will be conducted, is the third largest golf association in the country in point of territory covered. It is exceeded only by the United States and Western Golf associations. This year's tournament is expected to attract nearly 400 golfers to compete for the crown now held by Eddie Held of St. Louis.

As the name implies, all territory west of the Mississippi river is included in the membership territory of the association. Clubs as far north as Minneapolis and St. Paul and as far south as New Orleans and the southern part of Texas are listed among its members. This territory covers some of the most important golf and country clubs in the United States. Among the members clubs are the Dallas Country club, of Dallas, Texas, where the Professional Golfers' association will hold its meet this year; the St. Louis Country club, which has been host to the national amateur for women and for men in the last three years; the Minnesota club of Minneapolis, which will be the scene of the national amateur championship this season; the Rock Island Arsenal club of Rock Island, Ill., which has been known for years for having one of the outstanding courses of the Middle West; and the St. Paul club, host to the western amateur championship tournament last year.

The Trans-Mississippi meet, has been held on most of these courses in the last few years. Many players of national note reside west of the Mississippi river and have competed in the Trans-Mississippi meets. J. Stuart of the Cedar Rapids Country club won the first championship title at Kansas City in 1901. W. Dickinson of Des Moines was the runner-up. H. C. Legg of the Minneapolis club has won the Trans-Mississippi title of ten times and any other golfer. He captured the honors from 1903 to 1912 inclusive, and again in 1915, 1918 and again in 1921.

Newton Whitney of New Orleans, who has been an outstanding figure in southern golfing circles for many years, won the championship in 1919.

George Von Elm, who last year wrested the national amateur title from Bobby Jones, won the Trans-Mississippi title in 1921. Larry W. Brownfield, holder of the Colorado state championship, outscored any other golfer in the state, was the runner-up that year. James Mantion and Clarence Wolfe won the title in 1924 and 1925, respectively.

The championship never has been won by a Colorado man, although golfers of this state have figured prominently in a number of meets. E. W. McEwan, of the Denver Country club, was runner-up to C. W. Jaffray in 1903. M. A. McLaughlin of the Lakewood club of Denver was runner-up to J. B. Cady in 1914 and Mr. Brownfield, was runner-up to Von Elm in 1921.

Besides Von Elm and Held, who are to again participate in the tourney this year, Roland McKenzie, member of the Waller cup team of last year, also is expected to attend.

In addition to the championship fight, there will be two other flights for those who do not qualify among the first thirty-two. One of the interesting features of the tournament will be the senators' championship. This flight will consist of the regular two rounds of qualifying play, 18 holes a day in match play, and will be limited to men who have reached their fifty-fifth birthdays.

H. J. Ingersoll of the Broadmoor club is chairman of the tournament committee 1927-1928.

La Grande's line-up for the La Grande-Baker meet is as follows: Marshall, catcher; Ledbetter, Garlick and Carrol, pitchers; Garlick, first base; McKinnon, second base; Knight, third base; Hargett, short stop; and Whitey, Keown, Melancon, Stoddard and Glaze, out field.

Osborn's drive to center, scoring Kopp, who had doubled, broke up a 12 inning batting and gave Sacramento a 7-5 decision over Portland. Batteries—Hughes, Kinney, Couch and Wendell; Shea, Keefe and Koehler, Severed.

Heath's homer in the ninth broke up a classy pitching duel between Bill Murphy and Clyde Harriot to give Hollywood a 3-2 victory over the Missions. Batteries—W. Murphy, McCabe and Cook; Harriot and Whitney.

Oakland hit Brandt hard in spots to garner an 8-4 win from Seattle. The Indians got but four hits. Batteries—Brandt and Schmidt, Jorrand; Dickerman, Gould and Reed.

Several spasmodic Los Angeles rallies fell one run short of overtaking the seals, who finished on the long end of an 8-7 count. Batteries—Mouley, Geary, Williams and McCreary; Weatherly, Yarrison, Smith and Sandberg, Hannah.

They went down in their first defeat in 13 starts. Their winning streak was the longest of the season.

The pleasure of breaking it fell to the Phillies who did so 12 to 2, as surprising was the two-run win in the ninth with which the Braves downed the Pirates, 8 to 7. Brooklyn dropped the downward Cincinnati Reds, 5 to 3.

TO TEACH SUMMER SCHOOL

Athletic School To Start Monday

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, June 18 (Special)—The annual summer school of athletic coaching will open on the University of Oregon campus June 29 and will continue for two weeks, under supervision of Virgil D. Earl, director of athletics. Captain John J. McEwan, Oregon football coach, will give a course in football coaching. Billy Reinhart, baseball and basketball mentor at the university, will instruct those courses, while Bill Hayward, veteran track coach, will give a course in training of track men.

Captain John J. McEwan, before coming to Oregon in 1926, was head coach for three years at West Point, and before that was line coach for five years at the army school. He played four years at West Point and one at Minnesota. While a member of one of the cadet teams, McEwan was named all-American center by the late Walter Camp. He is a former member of the national football rules committee.

Billy Reinhart has had considerable experience in basketball and coaching. In 1924 and 1925 he coached the Oregon basketball team, under Reinhart, won the northern section championship. Reinhart now is managing the Eugene town baseball team, which is topping the Portland Valley league.

Bill Hayward needs no introduction. For 25 years he has been track coach of Oregon. In that time the Webfoots has carried away 72 national and one coast conference championship. Hayward has been a member of the coaching staff of the United States Olympic team three times and has been invited to join the staff in 1924.

Pendleton Man Wins Two Medals

PHILAND, Ore., June 18 (AP)—M. W. Hannel, of Pendleton, won the 1,000 yard and 200 yard club medal and the Multnomah rod and gun club medal valued at $1,000 in the first day of the forty-third annual tournament of the sportsmen's association of the northwest yesterday. More than 90 transients participated. Hannel broke 100 straight targets in the Dayton event shoot-off with six competitors and 25 consecutive birds in the shoot-off with Beth Miller to win the Multnomah medal.

Claude C. Pratt went fishing and he never got a musquit bite, but he caught 10 perch in 2 1/2 hours. I didn't know whether there was any limit to them or not. Thought maybe there was, and so I quit. It sure is the limit how they bite. We got back in time this morning to open up the office and start selling lumber and we are getting ready to start our daily talk on Monday, 1000 Pure Paint. Met an old gentleman on the street last night as I was starting out on my fishing trip and he said, "Mr. Pratt, I had never used any paint since I was a young man until I painted a house the other day with Monarch and it is just like the paint I used to use when I was a boy. I want you to tell the people for me that Monarch Paint spreads well and looks well." I could not begin to tell you just how many screen doors we have sold this spring but on the east and carry plain screen doors sure have been walking out. We are just about ready to receive ten more barrels of pure linseed oil. This will make 31 since the spring paint business opened up. There are only about 60 barrels in a small carload. It looks like the next spring that will be the way to order—a variation.

Blue, Gray Fades Into Khaki at Soldiers' Home

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., (AP)—Blue and gray uniforms of the Civil War are fast fading into khaki at the national soldiers' home here, and not many years hence there will be no one to recount vivid stories of Sherman's march to the sea or of the Confederate sweep up the Potomac.

Ten years ago there were 3229 Civil war veterans cared for at the home, 533 Spanish-American, 201 Indian campaigners and provisional army men, and seven Mexican war veterans.

In 1925 only 1281 Civil war veterans were cared for, while 1478 Spanish-American war veterans and 1215 World war veterans received attention.

The proportion of Civil war men is fast declining and when the grizzled veterans of "another on the broad leaved of the home to talk over the stirring events of those stirring times they encounter alien references to San Juan Hill, Belleau Wood or the Argonne.
