FORTY COUNTRIES TO TAKE CENSUS

Europe, Asia, Africa Will Cooperate with U. S. in Obtaining Record

WASHINGTON (AP)—Forty countries of Europe, Asia and Africa are ready to cooperate with the United States in the Centennial World Census of Agriculture, to be taken in 1930.

Leon M. Databrook, United States Agricultural Commissioner, now on a tour of Mexico, western South America, the Dutch East Indies and eastern and southern Asia, has been actively engaged in promoting the census since June, 1926.

This census will be the first effort ever made to inventory world agriculture. It follows the design of David Lubin, founder of the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome. Lubin has emphasized the importance of such statistics as being supplied by the governments, but should like the best in promoting better and more dependable information throughout the world.

As director of the world census, Databrook has found that of 200 countries only 68 ever have taken an inventory of agriculture. Fewer than 40 of these have taken a census since 1900. In the last six years only four or five countries have taken censuses in the same year.
