

Local News In Brief

Here From Cove—Mr. A. A. Antles was a La Grande today on business.

Plays at White Salmon—Amus "Spud" Reims played baseball in White Salmon Sunday.

In Wallowa Yesterday—Edward Holmes and family spent yesterday in Wallowa.

Here Transacting Business—Mr. and Mrs. John Allen, of Cove, were city visitors today, transacting business.

Goes to Hot Lake—Mrs. Adolph Newlin went to Hot Lake this morning to receive medical attention.

Marriage License—A marriage license was issued Saturday to Alvin Moser, of Har, Wash., and Gladys Maxin, of Baker, Saturday.

In Jail—Franklin Truax was arrested Friday at Kamela for unlawful possession of intoxicating liquors. He failed to pay his $250 fine and was committed to the county jail to serve it out at the rate of $2 a day.

Cove Delegate Returns—Mrs. Lulu Goyette, Cove delegate to the Grand Chapter of the Eastern Star, arrived here this morning from Portland, en route to her home.

Returns From School—Dan Cheney is returning to his home at Enterprise today. He has been attending school at the University of Oregon. En route home he visited friends at The Dalles.

In Town—Clara and Elizabeth Johanson, of Perry, arrived here this morning to spend a week with their sister.

Miss Hanna Substitute—Miss Genevieve Hanna is acting as substitute clerk at the school election at Central school this afternoon in place of Mrs. Walter Jones, who was unable to act.

Home From Kamela—Mrs. S. A. Ingerson and daughter Bernice and Mary, returned home this morning from Kamela where they spent a few days visiting with Mr. Ingerson.

Visits Here—J. H. Booher, of Hilyard, was a La Grande visitor today. He transacted business at the court house with County School Superintendent E. A. Sayre.

Here From Lone Star—W. A. Bull, farmer from the Lone Star district, spent the day in La Grande looking after business.

Begin Work Today—Vern Nussbaum began work this morning with the highway. He is the son of W. W. Nussbaum, director of music in the city schools.

Returns From Pendleton—Miss Hannah Newlin returned last night from Pendleton and Walla Walla where she has been visiting for the past few days.

Working on Highway—Lester Pearson, who has been attending school at the California Medical college for the past year, began work on the highway this morning.

Home From Visit—Mrs. John Smart and baby, Josephine, returned home this morning from a visit at Heppner. They were gone about two weeks.

In Idaho—Wayne Nussbaum, son of W. W. Nussbaum, of this city, is spending June and July in Idaho, at Nampa and surrounding towns. He will be a junior in high school this coming year.

Returns From Rose Show—Mr. and Mrs. Tom Moore, accompanied by Mrs. Anna Hillman, arrived home Saturday from Portland where they attended the rose show. They made the trip by auto.

To Visit Here—Mrs. Earl Freeman and two daughters, arrived here this morning from Portland and will spend some time visiting with Mrs. Freeman's mother, Mrs. Hannah Peerington and her sister, Mrs. Lloyd Scriber.

Here From California—Mr. and Mrs. Campbell Garrick and baby and Miss Ruth Garrick arrived in La Grande this morning. Mr. and Mrs. Garrick are from California and will visit here with their father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. L. Garrick. Miss Garrick has been visiting in Salem and returned to her home here. She will attend the summer normal school.

Two Lodges Pay Tribute to Dead—(Continued from Page 1)

members of the Rebecca lodge by Mrs. C. N. Palmer. An impressive part of the program was the drill team of six Rebecca who sold tributes to the departed, three Gold Fellows and two Rebecca, by decorating five empty chairs with white pom-poms and standing at attention during Mrs. Palmer's eulogy. Two of the six ladies, all of whom were dressed in white uniforms, escorted Mrs. Palmer to and from her seat. "Rock of Ages" was played during the ceremony and the six ladies sang one verse of the hymn.

Proceeding an address by the Rev. C. D. Dunn, of the Christian church. Mrs. Fay Fuller and Mrs. Will Alder sang a duet entitled "One Sweetly Sounded Thought." Mrs. Dunn's address dealt upon the work of the two lodges and upon the departed members, by whom he paid fitting tribute.

The singing of "Till We Meet Again" by the entire congregation and prayer by Mrs. Gillman of the Rebecca brought the strenuous program to a close.

THREE-POWER CONFERENCE BEGINS TODAY

(Continued from Page 1)

300,000 tons additional upon completion of cruisers now building. Old ships, virtually obsolete, which the American navy has many would be scrapped to make room for the new ones. Under the plan it was expected that Great Britain, if she completes her present building program would scrap approximately 58,000 tons of cruisers and Japan 40,000 tons.

Under the plan, Japan and Great Britain would be required to scrap submarines under the proposal, the U. S. would have an excess of about 2800 tons of submarines to be scrapped.

Weight Accepted—The Gibson proposal, the ten thousand ton maximum weight for cruisers fixed in the Washington treaty of 1921 would be accepted with armament not exceeding eight inch guns. Destroyers would be defined as not exceeding 2000 tons and of speed greater than 17 knots.

Other auxiliary ships of limited combat value would be grouped in a fourth class whose restrictions would be subject to future agreement.

The American plan, if adopted by the powers, would be continued with the Washington treaty, which runs until 1936 and thereafter for a period of ten years after any statutory gives notice of intention to abrogate.

Minister Gibson explained a provision of the new proposal which stipulates a period for transition from present cruisers, destroyers and submarine strength to the limitation set forth in his plan during a period of ten years after any statutory gives notice of intention to abrogate.

The arrangement was included to obviate wholesale scrapping by the United States, for example, of its preponderance of destroyers while being deficient in cruisers. Under the plan the transition period would be employed by the powers to plan, construct or build up their numbers of destroyers to fit the limitation goals.

It was not expected that the conference would attempt to limit the duration of the transition period inasmuch as the deciding factor so far as time was concerned would be the congressional and parliamentary decision upon the necessary appropriations.

Voluntary scrapping of obsolete ships would be permitted, but no placements could not be made until the time limit of scrapping of each class of vessel was reached. In the case of cruisers, 25 years would be fixed as the effective age limit, 15 to 17 years for destroyers and 12 to 13 years for submarines.

Proposal—The proposal as revised last before the conference opened, contains the following:

It might be desirable to provide for the possibility of re-consideration in the event of national emergency of any contracting power in respect of naval defense arms, in the opinion of that power, materially changed by any change of circumstance.

The clause was looked upon as providing a safety element by which any of the contracting powers could renounce their obligations of the agreement should any neighboring power launch a naval building program of unprecedented magnitude.

In his preliminary address, Ambassador Gibson stressed confidence that "we can start with an agreed agreement on the following points:

"That in the interest of international understanding there should be no competition between the three powers in the building of naval armaments.

"That respective navies should be maintained at the lowest level compatible with national security and should never be at a time of emergency to warrant the suspension of aggressive intent.

"That a wise economy in government dictates that future naval construction should be kept to a minimum.

"That the methods and principles of limitation in the Washington treaty are both effective and should be extended to all elements of substantial vessels of the three powers."

Reads Message—Ambassador Gibson read official utterance to the conference upon the reading of a message by the delegates from President Coolidge. "I am deeply gratified," the message said, "that the representatives of the British Empire and of Japan met with the representatives of the United States to consider measures for the further limitation of naval armaments through the extension of the principles of the Washington treaty."

"An agreement rendering impossible any form of naval competition between the three powers will have a lasting influence in cementing the present relations of good understanding and friendship between the three countries and constitute a definite step in advance toward the common objective of a general limitation of armaments. Please advise the representatives of the British Empire and of Japan that I am deeply gratified in seeing that the representatives of the American people are determined to make such an agreement possible."

Mr. Gibson declared that the principles of Great Britain and Japan in the presence of delegates of those representatives emphasized that they shared Mr. Coolidge's hope and desire.

"Our work," he said, "has been a long and arduous one, but we are all gratified by feeling that with a common purpose and common interest and common good will, we shall find a satisfactory solution to the problem which has been entrusted to us."

"I am sure that I represent the

of all the members of the conference in expressing regret that all the powers party to the Washington treaty have not felt that they could participate fully in our work. We have no doubt, however, that both France and Italy share our desire that naval building programs should be limited, and I am confident that the result of our work here will be of a character to facilitate their future cooperation with us in a task which the five powers initiated and which I trust will be carried forward by the five powers as a common enterprise in the interest of peace."

Bridgeport Appeals—Resolution in the size of the individual vessels of the future from the present limit of 3500 tons to under 3000 tons, was recommended by W. C. Bridgeport, first lord admiralty, Great Britain's representative at the maritime naval conference. While these opened matters which had been settled by the Washington conference.

Mr. Bridgeport advocated limiting the size of individual submarines to 1600 tons. He also suggested making the life of battle ships to be limited to 20 years, and that the three powers waive their reports until the replacement tables spread upon at Washington.

The British delegation further proposed limiting the size of all future cruisers to 7500 tons and that armament of six inch guns be effective after an agreement was reached on the building of 18,000 ton cruisers the powers will build.

Mr. Bridgeport recommended limitation of the aircraft carriers to 2500 tons displacement instead of 2700; reduction of guns on aircraft carriers from 8 inches to 6 inches and reduction of gun on battle ships from 16 inches to 12.5.

Admiral Viscount Milner, British ambassador for Japan, proposed that auxiliary naval strength should be based on the tonnage existing in effective ships, including those under construction and those authorized and that "none of the three powers shall, during an agreement period, adopt new building programs or acquire ships for the purpose of increasing national strength."

Mr. Bridgeport recommended limitation of the aircraft carriers to 2500 tons displacement instead of 2700; reduction of guns on aircraft carriers from 8 inches to 6 inches and reduction of gun on battle ships from 16 inches to 12.5.

Admiral Viscount Milner, British ambassador for Japan, proposed that auxiliary naval strength should be based on the tonnage existing in effective ships, including those under construction and those authorized and that "none of the three powers shall, during an agreement period, adopt new building programs or acquire ships for the purpose of increasing national strength."

Mr. Bridgeport recommended limitation of the aircraft carriers to 2500 tons displacement instead of 2700; reduction of guns on aircraft carriers from 8 inches to 6 inches and reduction of gun on battle ships from 16 inches to 12.5.

Admiral Viscount Milner, British ambassador for Japan, proposed that auxiliary naval strength should be based on the tonnage existing in effective ships, including those under construction and those authorized and that "none of the three powers shall, during an agreement period, adopt new building programs or acquire ships for the purpose of increasing national strength."

Mr. Bridgeport recommended limitation of the aircraft carriers to 2500 tons displacement instead of 2700; reduction of guns on aircraft carriers from 8 inches to 6 inches and reduction of gun on battle ships from 16 inches to 12.5.

Admiral Viscount Milner, British ambassador for Japan, proposed that auxiliary naval strength should be based on the tonnage existing in effective ships, including those under construction and those authorized and that "none of the three powers shall, during an agreement period, adopt new building programs or acquire ships for the purpose of increasing national strength."

Mr. Bridgeport recommended limitation of the aircraft carriers to 2500 tons displacement instead of 2700; reduction of guns on aircraft carriers from 8 inches to 6 inches and reduction of gun on battle ships from 16 inches to 12.5.

Admiral Viscount Milner, British ambassador for Japan, proposed that auxiliary naval strength should be based on the tonnage existing in effective ships, including those under construction and those authorized and that "none of the three powers shall, during an agreement period, adopt new building programs or acquire ships for the purpose of increasing national strength."

Mr. Bridgeport recommended limitation of the aircraft carriers to 2500 tons displacement instead of 2700; reduction of guns on aircraft carriers from 8 inches to 6 inches and reduction of gun on battle ships from 16 inches to 12.5.

Admiral Viscount Milner, British ambassador for Japan, proposed that auxiliary naval strength should be based on the tonnage existing in effective ships, including those under construction and those authorized and that "none of the three powers shall, during an agreement period, adopt new building programs or acquire ships for the purpose of increasing national strength."

Mr. Bridgeport recommended limitation of the aircraft carriers to 2500 tons displacement instead of 2700; reduction of guns on aircraft carriers from 8 inches to 6 inches and reduction of gun on battle ships from 16 inches to 12.5.

Admiral Viscount Milner, British ambassador for Japan, proposed that auxiliary naval strength should be based on the tonnage existing in effective ships, including those under construction and those authorized and that "none of the three powers shall, during an agreement period, adopt new building programs or acquire ships for the purpose of increasing national strength."

Mr. Bridgeport recommended limitation of the aircraft carriers to 2500 tons displacement instead of 2700; reduction of guns on aircraft carriers from 8 inches to 6 inches and reduction of gun on battle ships from 16 inches to 12.5.

Admiral Viscount Milner, British ambassador for Japan, proposed that auxiliary naval strength should be based on the tonnage existing in effective ships, including those under construction and those authorized and that "none of the three powers shall, during an agreement period, adopt new building programs or acquire ships for the purpose of increasing national strength."

Mr. Bridgeport recommended limitation of the aircraft carriers to 2500 tons displacement instead of 2700; reduction of guns on aircraft carriers from 8 inches to 6 inches and reduction of gun on battle ships from 16 inches to 12.5.

Admiral Viscount Milner, British ambassador for Japan, proposed that auxiliary naval strength should be based on the tonnage existing in effective ships, including those under construction and those authorized and that "none of the three powers shall, during an agreement period, adopt new building programs or acquire ships for the purpose of increasing national strength."

Mr. Bridgeport recommended limitation of the aircraft carriers to 2500 tons displacement instead of 2700; reduction of guns on aircraft carriers from 8 inches to 6 inches and reduction of gun on battle ships from 16 inches to 12.5.

Admiral Viscount Milner, British ambassador for Japan, proposed that auxiliary naval strength should be based on the tonnage existing in effective ships, including those under construction and those authorized and that "none of the three powers shall, during an agreement period, adopt new building programs or acquire ships for the purpose of increasing national strength."

Mr. Bridgeport recommended limitation of the aircraft carriers to 2500 tons displacement instead of 2700; reduction of guns on aircraft carriers from 8 inches to 6 inches and reduction of gun on battle ships from 16 inches to 12.5.

Admiral Viscount Milner, British ambassador for Japan, proposed that auxiliary naval strength should be based on the tonnage existing in effective ships, including those under construction and those authorized and that "none of the three powers shall, during an agreement period, adopt new building programs or acquire ships for the purpose of increasing national strength."

ISLAND CITY PERSONALS

ISLAND CITY (Special)—The Island City Carnation club met Friday afternoon at the J. Harrison home, Mrs. Harrison acting as hostess. Mrs. Catherine Pierce won high honors. A large crowd attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stewart, accompanied by Ed. Lindas, left Sunday morning for Elm Springs, where they plan to stay two weeks. They will bring home some of the fish water.

Elmo Cleam, an employee of Reynolds store, returned to his work this morning after being on a two-weeks' vacation. Mr. Cleam was in Salt Lake City the larger part of his vacation.

Urbie Kiddle went to Portland Saturday with a shipment of hogs. He will return the latter part of this week.

Paul Bonquet left for Corvallis Saturday night by rail where he will visit for a day or two at his son's home. His two younger sons, Richard and Lawrence, will accompany him home. They will visit here for the summer. Mr. Bonquet is employed as a carpenter at Medical Springs.

Al and Mrs. William Schroeder spent Sunday at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Arthur Hammond.

Charles Riddford, postal inspector in charge of the Pacific northwest division, visited here today for the arrival of the prisoners, whom he expected to question. It was announced that the two brothers would be placed in the Multnomah county jail.

The guards have kept close watch in a compartment throughout the long trip, carefully guarding their prisoners from visitors. They have not been allowed to talk to newspapermen.

Charles Riddford, postal inspector in charge of the Pacific northwest division, visited here today for the arrival of the prisoners, whom he expected to question. It was announced that the two brothers would be placed in the Multnomah county jail.

The guards have kept close watch in a compartment throughout the long trip, carefully guarding their prisoners from visitors. They have not been allowed to talk to newspapermen.

Charles Riddford, postal inspector in charge of the Pacific northwest division, visited here today for the arrival of the prisoners, whom he expected to question. It was announced that the two brothers would be placed in the Multnomah county jail.

The guards have kept close watch in a compartment throughout the long trip, carefully guarding their prisoners from visitors. They have not been allowed to talk to newspapermen.

Charles Riddford, postal inspector in charge of the Pacific northwest division, visited here today for the arrival of the prisoners, whom he expected to question. It was announced that the two brothers would be placed in the Multnomah county jail.

The guards have kept close watch in a compartment throughout the long trip, carefully guarding their prisoners from visitors. They have not been allowed to talk to newspapermen.

Charles Riddford, postal inspector in charge of the Pacific northwest division, visited here today for the arrival of the prisoners, whom he expected to question. It was announced that the two brothers would be placed in the Multnomah county jail.

The guards have kept close watch in a compartment throughout the long trip, carefully guarding their prisoners from visitors. They have not been allowed to talk to newspapermen.

Charles Riddford, postal inspector in charge of the Pacific northwest division, visited here today for the arrival of the prisoners, whom he expected to question. It was announced that the two brothers would be placed in the Multnomah county jail.

The guards have kept close watch in a compartment throughout the long trip, carefully guarding their prisoners from visitors. They have not been allowed to talk to newspapermen.

Charles Riddford, postal inspector in charge of the Pacific northwest division, visited here today for the arrival of the prisoners, whom he expected to question. It was announced that the two brothers would be placed in the Multnomah county jail.

The guards have kept close watch in a compartment throughout the long trip, carefully guarding their prisoners from visitors. They have not been allowed to talk to newspapermen.

Charles Riddford, postal inspector in charge of the Pacific northwest division, visited here today for the arrival of the prisoners, whom he expected to question. It was announced that the two brothers would be placed in the Multnomah county jail.

The guards have kept close watch in a compartment throughout the long trip, carefully guarding their prisoners from visitors. They have not been allowed to talk to newspapermen.

Charles Riddford, postal inspector in charge of the Pacific northwest division, visited here today for the arrival of the prisoners, whom he expected to question. It was announced that the two brothers would be placed in the Multnomah county jail.

The guards have kept close watch in a compartment throughout the long trip, carefully guarding their prisoners from visitors. They have not been allowed to talk to newspapermen.

Charles Riddford, postal inspector in charge of the Pacific northwest division, visited here today for the arrival of the prisoners, whom he expected to question. It was announced that the two brothers would be placed in the Multnomah county jail.

The guards have kept close watch in a compartment throughout the long trip, carefully guarding their prisoners from visitors. They have not been allowed to talk to newspapermen.

Dental Conference In Session Today

PORTLAND, Ore., June 20 (AP)—Dentists, addresses, entertainment and general discussions of topics pertaining to modern dentistry will occupy several hundred dentists who assembled today for the opening of the 24th annual conference of the Oregon State Dental association. The sessions are being held in the North Pacific college until Thursday.

Charles Riddford, postal inspector in charge of the Pacific northwest division, visited here today for the arrival of the prisoners, whom he expected to question. It was announced that the two brothers would be placed in the Multnomah county jail.

The guards have kept close watch in a compartment throughout the long trip, carefully guarding their prisoners from visitors. They have not been allowed to talk to newspapermen.

Charles Riddford, postal inspector in charge of the Pacific northwest division, visited here today for the arrival of the prisoners, whom he expected to question. It was announced that the two brothers would be placed in the Multnomah county jail.

The guards have kept close watch in a compartment throughout the long trip, carefully guarding their prisoners from visitors. They have not been allowed to talk to newspapermen.

Charles Riddford, postal inspector in charge of the Pacific northwest division, visited here today for the arrival of the prisoners, whom he expected to question. It was announced that the two brothers would be placed in the Multnomah county jail.

The guards have kept close watch in a compartment throughout the long trip, carefully guarding their prisoners from visitors. They have not been allowed to talk to newspapermen.

Charles Riddford, postal inspector in charge of the Pacific northwest division, visited here today for the arrival of the prisoners, whom he expected to question. It was announced that the two brothers would be placed in the Multnomah county jail.

The guards have kept close watch in a compartment throughout the long trip, carefully guarding their prisoners from visitors. They have not been allowed to talk to newspapermen.

Charles Riddford, postal inspector in charge of the Pacific northwest division, visited here today for the arrival of the prisoners, whom he expected to question. It was announced that the two brothers would be placed in the Multnomah county jail.

The guards have kept close watch in a compartment throughout the long trip, carefully guarding their prisoners from visitors. They have not been allowed to talk to newspapermen.

Charles Riddford, postal inspector in charge of the Pacific northwest division, visited here today for the arrival of the prisoners, whom he expected to question. It was announced that the two brothers would be placed in the Multnomah county jail.

The guards have kept close watch in a compartment throughout the long trip, carefully guarding their prisoners from visitors. They have not been allowed to talk to newspapermen.

Charles Riddford, postal inspector in charge of the Pacific northwest division, visited here today for the arrival of the prisoners, whom he expected to question. It was announced that the two brothers would be placed in the Multnomah county jail.

The guards have kept close watch in a compartment throughout the long trip, carefully guarding their prisoners from visitors. They have not been allowed to talk to newspapermen.

Charles Riddford, postal inspector in charge of the Pacific northwest division, visited here today for the arrival of the prisoners, whom he expected to question. It was announced that the two brothers would be placed in the Multnomah county jail.

The guards have kept close watch in a compartment throughout the long trip, carefully guarding their prisoners from visitors. They have not been allowed to talk to newspapermen.

Charles Riddford, postal inspector in charge of the Pacific northwest division, visited here today for the arrival of the prisoners, whom he expected to question. It was announced that the two brothers would be placed in the Multnomah county jail.

The guards have kept close watch in a compartment throughout the long trip, carefully guarding their prisoners from visitors. They have not been allowed to talk to newspapermen.

Charles Riddford, postal inspector in charge of the Pacific northwest division, visited here today for the arrival of the prisoners, whom he expected to question. It was announced that the two brothers would be placed in the Multnomah county jail.

The guards have kept close watch in a compartment throughout the long trip, carefully guarding their prisoners from visitors. They have not been allowed to talk to newspapermen.

Charles Riddford, postal inspector in charge of the Pacific northwest division, visited here today for the arrival of the prisoners, whom he expected to question. It was announced that the two brothers would be placed in the Multnomah county jail.

The guards have kept close watch in a compartment throughout the long trip, carefully guarding their prisoners from visitors. They have not been allowed to talk to newspapermen.

Charles Riddford, postal inspector in charge of the Pacific northwest division, visited here today for the arrival of the prisoners, whom he expected to question. It was announced that the two brothers would be placed in the Multnomah county jail.

The guards have kept close watch in a compartment throughout the long trip, carefully guarding their prisoners from visitors. They have not been allowed to talk to newspapermen.

Charles Riddford, postal inspector in charge of the Pacific northwest division, visited here today for the arrival of the prisoners, whom he expected to question. It was announced that the two brothers would be placed in the Multnomah county jail.

56 STORES C.J. Breier Co. IN THE WEST

1191 Adams—Store No. 13 La Grande, Ore.

Clever Looking DRESS SOX

49c

Try these Sport Silk Socks. Novelty patterns in attractive designs. They are unusually long-wearing and comfortable on the feet.

TWO DeAUTREMONTS HERE TODAY ON WAY TO PORTLAND

(Continued from Page 1)

nings of Jackson county. They were expected to arrive here early this evening.

Charles Riddford, postal inspector in charge of the Pacific northwest division, visited here today for the arrival of the prisoners, whom he expected to question. It was announced that the two brothers would be placed in the Multnomah county jail.

The guards have kept close watch in a compartment throughout the long trip, carefully guarding their prisoners from visitors. They have not been allowed to talk to newspapermen.

Charles Riddford, postal inspector in charge of the Pacific northwest division, visited here today for the arrival of the prisoners, whom he expected to question. It was announced that the two brothers would be placed in the Multnomah county jail.

The guards have kept close watch in a compartment throughout the long trip, carefully guarding their prisoners from visitors. They have not been allowed to talk to newspapermen.

Charles Riddford, postal inspector in charge of the Pacific northwest division, visited here today for the arrival of the prisoners, whom he expected to question. It was announced that the two brothers would be placed in the Multnomah county jail.

The guards have kept close watch in a compartment throughout the long trip, carefully guarding their prisoners from visitors. They have not been allowed to talk to newspapermen.

Charles Riddford, postal inspector in charge of the Pacific northwest division, visited here today for the arrival of the prisoners, whom he expected to question. It was announced that the two brothers would be placed in the Multnomah county jail.

The guards have kept close watch in a compartment throughout the long trip, carefully guarding their prisoners from visitors. They have not been allowed to talk to newspapermen.

Charles Riddford, postal inspector in charge of the Pacific northwest division, visited here today for the arrival of the prisoners, whom he expected to question. It was announced that the two brothers would be placed in the Multnomah county jail.

The guards have kept close watch in a compartment throughout the long trip, carefully guarding their prisoners from visitors. They have not been allowed to talk to newspapermen.

Charles Riddford, postal inspector in charge of the Pacific northwest division, visited here today for the arrival of the prisoners, whom he expected to question. It was announced that the two brothers would be placed in the Multnomah county jail.

The guards have kept close watch in a compartment throughout the long trip, carefully guarding their prisoners from visitors. They have not been allowed to talk to newspapermen.

Charles Riddford, postal inspector in charge of the Pacific northwest division, visited here today for the arrival of the prisoners, whom he expected to question. It was announced that the two brothers would be placed in the Multnomah county jail.

The guards have kept close watch in a compartment throughout the long trip, carefully guarding their prisoners from visitors. They have not been allowed to talk to newspapermen.

Charles Riddford, postal inspector in charge of the Pacific northwest division, visited here today for the arrival of the prisoners, whom he expected to question. It was announced that the two brothers would be placed in the Multnomah county jail.

The guards have kept close watch in a compartment throughout the long trip, carefully guarding their prisoners from visitors. They have not been allowed to talk to newspapermen.

Charles Riddford, postal inspector in charge of the Pacific northwest division, visited here today for the arrival of the prisoners, whom he expected to question. It was announced that the two brothers would be placed in the Multnomah county jail.

The guards have kept close watch in a compartment throughout the long trip, carefully guarding their prisoners from visitors. They have not been allowed to talk to newspapermen.

Charles Riddford, postal inspector in charge of the Pacific northwest division, visited here today for the arrival of the prisoners, whom he expected to question. It was announced that the two brothers would be placed in the Multnomah county jail.

The guards have kept close watch in a compartment throughout the long trip, carefully guarding their prisoners from visitors. They have not been allowed to talk to newspapermen.

Charles Riddford, postal inspector in charge of the Pacific northwest division, visited here today for the arrival of the prisoners, whom he expected to question. It was announced that the two brothers would be placed in the Multnomah county jail.

COMING EVENTS

July 21, 22, 23—State American Legion convention in La Grande.

October (definite date not decided on) Oregon Parent-Teacher association convention here.

In Town Today—T. M. Ruckman, of Sand Ridge, was a city visitor today.

Attends Summer School—Mrs. Dallas Green left for Portland yesterday morning where she will attend summer school