Mrs. Westenhaver Is Hostess at Luncheon

Mrs. R. E. Westenhaver, on Wednesday and Thursday, gave two delightful luncheons at her home at 608 N. Avenue, in honor of her mother and sister, Mrs. George D. Gilbert, of Colorado, and Mrs. A. H. Coleman from El Paso. At 1:15 o'clock three-course luncheons were served at tables made attractive by large bouquets of mixed flowers.

At cards on Wednesday Mrs. Fred Kiddle received first prize and Mrs. H. L. Pouch was awarded consolation. Dr. Margaret Jenks made high score on Thursday and consolation went to Mrs. Howard B. Miller.

Five and a number of guests enjoyed a dancing party Friday night at the Sportsmen's club house. Music was furnished by Fenton's four-piece orchestra.

Mrs. De Lile Green received high score at cards and a quiz prize was given Mrs. Tidball.

At the close of the afternoon refreshments were served by the hostess. Snaps, raisins and poppers made the tables attractive.

UNION (Special)—Members of the Laramie club and a few guests were entertained at bridge Monday afternoon at the country home of Mrs. Ray Ford.

The high school graduates class of the Presbyterian church met last evening with Miss Helen Mohr as hostess.

During the business meeting it was decided to make application for recognition at the International Council of Religious Education at New York. An attendance competition contest was instituted, with Genevieve Buchanan and Rose Griffl as captains. A general discussion preceded the close of the meeting.

Delicious refreshments were served, after which games of various kinds were played.

the ground and keep it there until they have outgrown it. This will keep off many insect pests but they should be well sprayed under the screen at the same time as some of the bugs seem certain to get in no matter how well guarded the hill is.

Cucumbers may be kept in more compact form than in the old-fashioned gardens by pinching out the tips of the runners when they have reached the confines of the territory where it is desired to keep them. They may also be grown on trellises and this is one of the most practical methods in a small garden as it economizes space.

The end of June is the time to plant for late pickles. Sow the seed in a quarter of an inch deep in heavy soil and train one-half to an inch deep in light soil. The cucumber wants plenty of water and make it a point to see that it gets it. After it has made the fourth leaf it is reasonably safe from the striped beetle that is its worst enemy. It is then strong enough to care for itself.

The cucumbers should be kept picked regularly as the maturing of the first formed ones will stop the whole vine from doing its duty in the way of bearing. It is best to cut the cucumbers from the vines instead of trying to break or pull them off as the vines are very easily broken or pulled up by the roots.

Princess Holds Saleswoman Job

LONDON (AP)—Princess Mary adopted a new role when she appeared as saleswoman at a London charity bazaar at the School of Art Needlework in Kensington.

Attired in a frock of Betty Blue chiffon, patterned with pink flowers and wearing a large black hat, the princess sold brocaded cushions and curtains, little silver articles, boxes of rose-wood and polished walnut, dainty handbags, and woody toys.

A little shy at first, she soon proved herself an expert, and was busily engaged with customers who thronged to buy at her stall. Numerous other British society women were selling in the same room.

FUNERAL CAR BOUSES HENS—LAREDO, Tex.—A novel chicken house near here is a reminder that Laredo had one of the first electric street car systems west of the Mississippi river. It was built in 1888 with just one line which ran from the only railroad station to the cemetery, three miles from town. The route traversed the business and main residential sections. They had trolley street cars here instead of hearse.

The elaborate funeral car the street car company bought in 1889 now is housing chickens on a farm five miles from town.

AMONG THE GREAT
NEWARK, N. J.—A common, ordinary mortal enrolled himself among the famous recently by trying out a pen here owned by Merion W. Morse, collector of autographs. Morse guards his pen most jealously, not even permitting his wife to write her name with it. When he discovered that a plain man had used it, he immediately accounted the man famous for having written his name along with Thomas A. Edison, Theodore Roosevelt, John Philip Sousa, General Pershing, Gutzon Borglum, Helen Keller, Ralph Connor, Charles M. Schwab and others.

By Williams Women To Enter Chinese Politics Students Declare

MADON, Ga. (AP)—The success of General Chiang of the conservative nationalist wing in China will hasten the participation of women in Chinese government, believe Ling Nya Yee and Ada Lee, students at Wesleyan College here.

Ling Nya Yee is the daughter of Z. R. Yee, formerly adviser to President Yuan, 1916 girls believe Chinese women still are unprepared for politics, although the country's attitude has been influenced by western civilization.

"What China really needs," said Ada Lee, "is less politics and more education."

When they return to China both girls will teach and do social and religious work. Neither of their fathers is a Christian, but each gave permission to the daughter to come to America to study and to choose her own religion. While the girls have bobbed their hair, they still wear the Chinese costume, because they believe they look better in them than in American clothes.

"Girls are getting shorter in China," Ling says, "but they will never be as short as those of American girls. Some day the popularity of the bob will be nationwide with us too. But while China has many fashions, they do not stay as

Lies Out in Night Following Stroke

NORTH POWDER (Special)—J. E. Sandley had another paralytic stroke Wednesday morning about 9:30 o'clock. He had left his camp home telling his blood man, Dave Jones, that he was going over to visit his neighbor, Walter Jones. After visiting there for a while he came back across the river, which separates his place from the Jones ranch, and fell in the field, remaining there all day Wednesday and that night before an alarm was sent out that he was missing.

Mr. Jones found him unconscious but unable to speak. He was immediately taken to Jones' home where a doctor was summoned. The only neighborhood he is able to take in breath and water and he is still too exhausted to speak. However, he is resting as easily as can be expected.

Crimson clover is most important soil for the Missouri Channel from central New Jersey south to Charleston, S. C., and in the northern half of the Cotton Belt east of the Mississippi river. The area includes the northern halves of Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi and the southern part of Tennessee.

Many young college graduates will go right out into the world and succeed in spite of what they've learned.

Makes Smoother miles for You!

REGARDLESS of the condition of the road, your drive will be smoother and more enjoyable if your motor runs with a steady flow of power. And that depends largely on the way the oil performs in the motor.

If you could see how a motor's heat thins down most oils until they "break" their film and disintegrate, you would be very careful to use the oil that stands up under heat.

What the U. S. Bureau of Standards Found—The U. S. Bureau of Standards can see how heat affects oil, and can measure the results very accurately. In a recent test of America's leading oils, the Bureau found that VICO has the highest "flash point," or the highest resistance to heat!

VICO is made in a grade for every car—light, medium, heavy, extra-heavy, super-heavy—all one quality!
