I LIKE KIDS

I like kids.
They crawl about,
They put things in their mouths
And take things out.

They seem so helpless,
They nibble their toes;
Nothing but safety-pins
Hold up their clothes;

They grab talcum boxes
And pull off the lids:
Kids are amusing.
I like kids.

"Why is she so fond of that hotel clerk?"

"Because opposite her name on the register he wrote, 'Suite 16'."

* * *

Shoemaker: "This is the first complaint I ever received about this make of shoes. Didn't they fit you?"

McIntosh: "Aye, but they were a wee bit tight for my brother on the night shift."

* * *

Artz: "Are you doing any work in the nude these days?"

Tiste: "No; but I will be soon if I don't sell some of my pictures."

HIS CHANT

The Holy Roller then stood forth,
And burst into a song;
And sang it loud and raucously!
"Merrily we roll along!"

AT THE THEATERS

"Circus Ace" With Tom Mix Starring At Star Theater

All the fun and excitement of a circus and all the drama and thrills of a rodeo are to be had at the Star theater where Fox Films "The Circus Ace" is playing today and Saturday. This is Tom Mix' latest starring picture and it will prove a real treat to the audiences who witness it.

Both Tom and his horse Tony are at their best in this story of a ranchman who, looking up into the sky, sees a parachute drifting downwards toward him with a beautiful girl clinging to the trapeze. What follows is action woven into a story of dramatic interest that is jammed with suspense, thrills and considerable fun.

A cast of screen favorites including Natalie Joyce in the role of the beautiful circus performer, Jack Buston, Duke Lee, James Bradbury, Stanley Blystone and Dudley Smith support Mix. Then, of course, there is Tony, whose performance of his role seems to indicate an intelligence of almost humanlike qualities.

"The Circus Ace" is the kind of entertainment that is sure to please old and young alike.

One of the "Let George Do It" comedies is also being shown.

"Captain Salvation" Showing at Arcade Today, Saturday

Glamor of adventure on the high seas; stark realism in a tale of godless men battling death and the elements in a titanic struggle; a love that passeth understanding pitted against intolerance—these are the vivd bockgrounds for the beautiful love story in "Captain Salvation," now playing at the Arcade theater today and Saturday.

Its characters stand out and fairly live; its story grips the imagination and tugs at the heart-strings.

Adapted from the novel by Frederick William Wallace, the new picture was directed by John S. Robertson, and the title role is played by Lars Hanson, the descendant himself of a long line of Vikings in Sweden; a sailor before he was an actor, and a compelling figure as the divinity student who forsook even God for the adventures of the sea but found salvation in love.

Pauline Starke plays the vivid vampire—with the soul of a good woman concealed beneath her environment-created veneer; Ernest Torrence, as the brutal shipmaster, a smiling devil on a Nova Scotia hell-ship, presents a characterization that will supplant even his greatest hit in "The Covered Wagon", and Marceline Day is charming as the little village sweetheart.

George Fawcett gives a convincing impression of the old Nova Scotia sailor, and Sam de Grasse as the straitlaced deacon, Flora Finch as the village gossip, Eugenie Ford, and others in the well-balanced cast are among the notable figures in the remarkable play.

The ship scenes, taken abroad an actual square-rigged sailing ship on the high seas, mark an unusual departure in motion picture production.

In the South cowpea hay could be substituted to frequent advantage for much of the hay now purchased in the North and West. The greater use of this crop for hay and pasturage increases the production of livestock, an essential factor in securing maximum returns in any system of agriculture.

Jesse James Junior Takes Father's Role In Show at Sherrys

"Jesse James Under the Black Flag", the Mesco production, showing at Sherry's the last time tonight, is of a visual lecture on the most thrilling period of American history, a period of the warfare in the west during the Civil war, with which but few are acquainted. With our qualification, that period cannot be surpassed for intense interest, romance or adventure, in any episode of the world's history.

The drama is built around the career of Jesse James because his career in the saddle outlived that of the other guerilla leaders. Quantrill was killed in Kentucky at the close of the Civil war, Anderson met death during one of the battles, Archie Clement was killed soon after the war, and others went to Mexico to escape the persecution which was dealt to those who remained in Missouri seeking and hoping for a life of peace. Cole Younger, and his brothers, Frank and Jesse James, refusing to be exiled from their native states, were forced to their saddles, branded as outlaws, the most hunted men in the world. In this drama, secrets of the career of Jesse James, never there heretofore revealed, are now told of and for the first time.

Jesse James Jr., enacts the role of his father. Mr. James is a prominent attorney at Kansas City, a scholarly man and a very devoted church worker. He stated in a recent interview, "The Mesco production, 'Jesse James Under the Black Flag,' is the only authentic play ever written of my father's life. In order to make certain that no errors would be made in filming a truly historical account of that period of the border, I not only consented to take the role of my father but also supervised the production, and in this I had the assistance of several gentlemen, now in the winter of life, who personally participated in much and witnessed all of the incidents of the original drama."

Stenographers Gone From Paris Cafes

PARIS (AP) — Stenographers have disappeared from Paris cafes. The first few customers who dictated their correspondence while they drank their beer had their pictures published in the newspapers. Cafe proprietors have learned, however, that the busy business men of France isn't busy enough to work while he's playing.

The stenographers failed to earn their salt after the first few days.
