A COSTLY PICTURE

BROOKS Aton, Mrs. Florence Brooks Aton, of Park avenue, who has a country home known as Shiloh, thought her portrait had such broad shoulders that it made her look as if she weighed two or three hundred; in other respects, she was convinced, the picture was too beautiful. So she ordered the artist, George De Forest Brush to alter it. He is suing her for $7,000 extra, having already received $10,000.

YOU A FRIEND OF JAKE'S?
Friends are invited to call on Jacob Custer, who is down in bed at his home with the smallpox. Beville, Texas, Banner.

A young girl's golden locks are her crowning glory, and as she ages they are still her crown—that is, if she dares.

"A little nonsense now and then, is relished by the wisest man."
"So it is," said Lincoln; "that's the difference between a wise man and a fool who believes it all the time."

Many are the men who don't let the grass grow under their feet merely by choosing the most smoothly paved way.

Rufe Johnson's pet found disappeared. Rufe put the following ad in the paper: "Lost or Run Away—One liver-colored bird dog called Jim. Will show signs of hydrophobia in about three days. The dog came home the following day."

"Did you ever catch your husband flirting?"
"Only once."
"What did you do then?"
"Married him."

All men are born equal. It's what they're equal to later that makes the difference.

The cockroach has no politics. He doesn't care for fame. He has no business in the sun. But he gets there just the same.

Any old duffer can go to bed, but it takes a real man to get up in the morning.

Love makes the world go round. Love makes the world go round. Love makes the world go round.

As first payment on a sale, an automobile dealer in Spokane, Wash., accepted two milk goats in lieu of cash on an old car. It was pointed out that the goats offered several advantages: no reconditioning was necessary; and for the privilege of "parking" in a vacant lot they returned a profit in milk while being carried in stock.

AT THE THEATERS

"Rubber Heels" A Lively Load Of Laughter.

Don't tell a soul but—"Rubber Heels" is due to sneak into town tomorrow for a three day stay. Ed Wynne's comedy of a correspondence school detective will be flashed on the Arcade theater screen and present the famous stage comic as a Paramount star for the very first time.

Wynne's long career needs no recounting. He has been in vaudeville and musical reviews for more years than you have fingers and has yet to appear in a single " flop!" That's a record any player might well be proud of.

"Rubber Heels" is the amusing tale of Ames Wart. Ames secures a position in "Tennyson Hawks" detective agency but doesn't last long as he soon finds things that aren't quite right. In reality, Hawks who take jewelry while posing as detectives in order to obtain the rewards offered for the return of such property as they steal. Later, Ames decides to do a bit of "tree jangling." He contracts to guard a chest of valuable foreign jewels at a society function and is getting along remarkably well until Tennyson and his friends get busy. Then—the fun begins and doesn't let up until Ames finds himself drifting down the St. Lawrence river with Niagara Falls waiting to receive him with open arms.

U. S. Forests Background For Film at Star

Private individuals and corporations securing contracts from Uncle Sam to cut timber in the vast national forest preserves are up against the strictest contract regulations in the federal service.

After generations of ruthless exploitation of timber lands the lumber barons today face the strictest supervision when cutting trees off Uncle Sam's premises.

The ruthless exploitation of government forest has been called to a halt and private individuals and corporations cannot cut trees except after winning contracts through competitive bidding.

Even then no tree may be cut unless it is inspected by a forest ranger and marked for cutting. The ranger estimates the timber footage of each tree and sees that the branches are piled and safely burned.

By this strict supervision the government hopes to conserve the virgin forests and through a process of reforestation preserve enough timber for future generations.

That the indiscriminate exploitation of timber lands has hoisted the price of that commodity can easily be proved when statistics show that lumber, thirty years ago, cost only the freight rate now in effect between the Pacific coast and Chicago.

Through the careful husbanding of timber from the national forests it appears that there will be no timber famine for another hundred years. Even that danger could be done away with if congress could be prevailed upon to reduce the 1,000,000-acre barren acres, or starker acres as they are included in the national forest lands.

The great wilderness and solitude of these forest lands form a colorful background for "The Understanding Heart," a Cosmopolitan production coming to the Star theater Thursday for a three day run. The picture, filmed by Metro-Jack Conway, features Joan Crawford, Rockliffe Fellowes, Carmel Myers and Francis X. Bushman, Jr.

A RECORD

LONDON—Lady Bailey and Mrs. Georgy De Haven claim upon record of a world's feat. They ascended 15,000 feet in a moth plane through thunder clouds.

Walking is good for the complexion, according to a physical expert. Some of the ladies, however, insist on pinching for theirs.

IT ISN'T A HOME WITHOUT A TELEPHONE

SOMEONE had the bright idea to get up an impromptu picnic.

"Call up Frank," said Helen, "he'll want to go."

"We can't get him, though," replied Charley. "He hasn't a Telephone."

Too bad! Frank is a fine chap, and he does like picnics!
