Bridge-Luncheon At Union Hotel Attractive One

One of the most attractive parties of the summer season took place yesterday afternoon at the Union hotel when Mrs. E. T. Andrews, Mrs. A. V. Andrews, Mrs. Lela Jones and Mrs. Gilbert Hunter entertained at a bridge-luncheon.

A four-course luncheon was served at 1:15 o'clock, covers being laid for 40 at two prettily appointed tables in the hotel dining room. Basket bouquets of calliopsis, ferns, snapdragons, roses and peonies were used to decorate the luncheon tables, and were also used in the hotel living room, where 10 tables of bridge were enjoyed following the luncheon.

Mrs. H. L. Deane made high score during the afternoon card games. Mrs. Charles Hinger received the second prize and the third prize went to Mrs. J. V. Lounsbury. The consolation prize went to Mrs. J. P. Ravenscroft.

Honoring Mrs. Frank O'Hara, who is visiting in the city from California, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Brand entertained at a card party last evening at their home on East Adams avenue.

Three tables of cards were in play during the evening. Mrs. Vernon Jennings making high score among the women players. Williams Goeck made high score among the men and the consolation prize went to Mrs. Herman Goeck.

A two-course luncheon was served following the card games.

COVE (Special)—Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Lay were host and hostess at a family dinner yesterday. Mrs. Lay's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Conklin, of Santa Barbara, Cal., Sunday, July 5. Many roses were used to decorate the rooms.

Covers were laid for 12. Besides the honor guests those present were Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Danell, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Ives and daughter, Miss Connie, Mrs. A. G. Conklin and Mrs. E. D. Conklin.

COVE (Special)—Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Helly entertained at a bridge party at their home here Friday evening honoring Mr. and Mrs. Harold Chaffee who have been their house guests. Six tables of bridge were in play. After the dinner refreshments were served.

Granddaughter Is Party Honor Guest

Mrs. Chris Miller entertained a group of girls last evening at her home on Adams avenue, complimenting her granddaughter, Miss Mary Gould Parsons, who is visiting here during the summer from her home in Portland.

Bouquets of pink roses were used to decorate the rooms. Bridge was the diversion of the evening, three tables being in play. Miss Edna Gekeler made high score and the consolation prize went to Miss Dorothy Eberhard.

Refreshments were served. Mrs. William Wilson assisting Mrs. Miller with the serving.

Following the refreshments the girls went to the Zephyr hall, where they enjoyed the remainder of the evening dancing.

Those present were: Misses Dorothy Ann Wernick, Betty Lockhart, Marjorie Reynolds, Eleanor Glass, Edna Gekeler, Dorothy Eberhard, William Ashley, Edna Mae Wilson, Lois Nelson, Mrs. Chester Stonebreaker and Miss Mary Gould Parsons.

Officers were elected Tuesday afternoon when the Seaside-Luncheonette club group met in the annex of the English Lutheran church. Fernice McKinney was elected president; Natalie Ebes, vice president; Vera McLane, secretary; Edna Jensen, treasurer, and Opal Smith, scribe.

During the business session the girls agreed to go on an overnight hike to Mt. Emily July 8 and 9, and plans were made for the trip.

A short sociable was enjoyed before adjournment.

On Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Kinnell, 162 Washington avenue, entertained at an attractive dinner party in honor of their daughter, Miss Zoe Kinnell, who graduated as a trained nurse from the Grande Ronde hospital last evening.

Sweetens and roses served as a pretty centerpiece for the dinner.

MENUS

By Sister Mary
BREAKFAST—Cinnamon strawberries, cream, crisp broiled bacon, eggs, oven toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Creamed potatoes, shad roe salad, rice rolls, sugar cookies, lemonade.

DINNER—Salmon loaf, egg sauce, asparagus on toast, fruit and nut salad, currant trappé, white cake, milk, coffee.

Any fish or meat loaf is easily improved if served with a sauce. The loaf is naturally dry but the sauce furnishes the right touch of moisture and adds to the food value of the dish.

Shad Roe Salad
One shad roe, 1/2 cup cucumber cubes, watercress, French dressing, mayonnaise.

Parboiled and blanched roe. Cut into half-inch slices. Put bowl with a cut onion, put in roe, add French dressing and let marinate on ice for one hour. Combine cucumber and prepared roe, mixing lightly with a fork. Arrange on a bed of cream and garnish with mayonnaise.

Shad roe is so delicate that it is not wise to combine messy materials with it. Celery can be used in place of cucumber and hard-cooked eggs can be used as a garnish.

CALLIFLOWERS FOR FALL SHOWS

It is not too late to sow calliflowers in the garden. In fact it is a good plan and perhaps the simplest if plants are not available at nearby florists or nurseries. Seed sown now will give plants ready to be transplanted in July, which is the right time to get them going in time for handsome exhibition heads for the fall shows. The calliflower is one of the most showy vegetables for the fall and flower and vegetable shows in the fall.

Its high price in the market makes the home-grown calliflower a real economy. There are two factors essential to its successful culture, very rich soil and abundant moisture. Given these and a courageous battle against cabbage worms and anybody can succeed and grow fine showy heads. In the small garden where cultivation is by hand, they can be set two feet apart. Hoe freely and water often, soaking, not sprinkling. When the heads start to develop soak thoroughly and deeply at least once a week. This is the crucial period in the life of the calliflower and if it suffers from drought at this point the development of the heads is retarded and stunted.

When the heads get as big as your fist, gather up the big outside leaves and tie the tips with raffia, making a loop over the "flower" which will protect it from the sun and bugs and whitening.

A dozen heads of good calliflower in the small home garden will be an excellent investment and will not require too much care and attention to bring them to handsome maturity. Two dozen will be an ample supply for the fall season of the average family.

The seed requires exactly the same care as cabbage. Sow it in some partly shaded convenient corner and it is best not to sow calliflower and cabbage near each other as the young plants are indistinguishable. Be sure and have the calliflower seed row carefully marked so there can be no mistake if you are also raising cabbage plants.

Be ready with some arsenical poison such as Paris green or lead arsenate when the white butterflies hover in the affing, as they are the parents of the cabbage worms.

Fashion Display During Racing Week Brilliant

ARCOT, ENG. (AP)—London's Royal Ascot racing week this year brought out a brilliant fashion display.

Never did the royal cavalcade present a more regal appearance than on Gold Cup Day. Behind scarlet and gold outriders, five open carriages carrying the royal party passed majestically through the green stretch known as the Ladies' Mile.

Almost every woman from Queen Mary down through the social scale wore fur. Her majesty wore an ermine-collared white velvet cloak. Her hat was trimmed at one side of the crown with ruffled pom-poms in mauve, pink and blue.

Long, chiffon, georgette, and other filmy materials were decorated with all sorts of furs and in a variety of ways.

More Coats
Far more coats than cloaks were worn by the fashion leaders, and only a few capes and toques were seen. The majority wore sleeves both in wraps and in their frocks.

Most of the dresses showed a tendency toward the longer skirt. While a few had knee-length costumes, the popular length was half way between knee and ankle. A few skirts actually touched the ankle.

As Ascot generally sets the summer fashions for British women it is likely that white kid gloves, worn this year in great numbers, will be revived at all of the season's smart functions.

What They Wore
Princess Mary wore a wide-brimmed, pink hat and a long coat of wistaria gray, over a soft-toned frock.

Lady Patricia Rosebery, who came with her father, the Duke of Connaught, favored grained chiffon in navy and white with a picture hat of dark red.

Princess Alice, Duchess of Athlone, wore a lemon-colored two piece suit and a small hat in the same shade trimmed with turquoise tulle. Her daughter, Lady May Cambridge, wore a two piece suit

This rare salad dressing may be new to you—

As an example of the unusual recipes in Ida Bailey Allen's new book (see coupon below) this recipe for a rare salad dressing is given. You are invited to try it—and convince yourself that, regardless of price, the world affords no finer salad oil than Mazola.

Cooked Cream Dressing

1/4 cup Mazola	1/4 teaspoon cayenne
3 tablespoons Karo, Red or Blue Label	4 tablespoons Argo or Kingsford's Cornstarch
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard	2 eggs, beaten
1 teaspoon salt	1 1/2 cups top milk
	1/2 cup very mild vinegar

Combine the Mazola, Karo, the dry ingredients and the eggs in a double boiler top. Gradually stir in the milk which should be scalded, and cook over hot water, stirring constantly until thick like white sauce; then gradually add the vinegar, heated, and beat with an egg beater until the mixture thickens again. This may be used with any meat, fish, egg or vegetable salad.
