PASS THE CZARS!

Now a czar is proposed for the taxicab industry. About the only unregulated industries remaining are the 100-cup-coffee-drinkers and the marathon dancers. . . . . No wonder this is a revolutionary country — with so many czars. . . . A traffic czar is one of the honking needs of the country. He could be named "Czar of all the Rushers." . . . . Then some reformer probably would want stoplight placed on the Statue of Liberty. . . . The one industry that needs an iron hand more than any other is pretty well unregulated. That is the class of people who write free for all newspapers poems about transoceanic flights.

TRADE MARK REG.

By Junius

A Mexican and an American who work on the night shift of a Kansas salt plant eat their midnight lunch together. On several occasions the Mexican had rabbit meat in his pail, and he shared his supply generously with his comrade.

One night the American asked: "Where do you get rabbits, Jose? I can't find any."

"My wife, she gets 'um," Jose replied. "She say ever' night they come 'round the house and make noises. She shoot 'um."

"Noise? Rabbits don't make a noise."

"Sure," Jose asserted, positively, "Go 'meow, meow'."

Mr. Gabalot—"So you are the lady who is giving my wife painting lessons. What sort of a pupil is she?"

Miss Dauber—"Well, I find her apt, to say the least."

Mr. Gabalot—"That's funny. I always find her apt to say the most."

* * *

THEIR REASONS

He married her for well or ill,
As the old saying went.
She wedded him, I do believe,
To start an argument.

* * *

Work hard and save your money and some day you may be as happy and contented as the loafers seem now.

* * *

Gladys (all excited)! Do you know what I heard this morning?

Mable (no less ditto): No, what?

Gladys: The 8 o'clock whistle.

* * *

The height of disappointment is a girl with a new permanent wave and nobody noticing it.

* * *

Clerk: "This rain will help the farmers."

Mrs. O'Brien: "Sure, an hour of this will do more good in five minutes than a month of it would do in a week at any other time."

* * *

Anybody know how much dammder a tinker's damn is than the other kind?

* * *

First Knut—Can your girl keep a secret?

Second Ditto—I'll say so. We were engaged two weeks before I knew a thing about it.

* * *

Isaac: "Oi, oi, der wedding invitation says 'R. S. V. P.' vot does dot mean?"

Jacob: "Ach! Such ignorance. Dot means to bring 'Real Silver Vedding Presents'."

* * *

"Madam, there is a caterpillar in your lettuce."

"Oh, that's all right—they're so little they don't eat much."

This is the season of the year when a man decides his house needs more paint and his daughter less.

QUAKE LOOSENS MELONS

LONDON—What's an earthquake to a nice juicy watermelon? Advices from Haifi, Syria, are that thousands of melons rolled out when a warehouse was shaken. Some folks ran for safety. Lots of others ran for melons.

Marie Pauline Borghese, sister of Napoleon, considered a shower bath of milk so important to her health that, stopping at a house on a journey through Germany not equipped with a shower bath, she ordered holes bored in the ceiling and the milk poured through by servants.

AT THE THEATERS

Fast Horses Are Seen In "Hard Fists"

"Hard Fists," the gripping Western drama starring Art Acord, which is to be shown at the Star theater today only unfolds an unusually thrilling tale of love and horse racing in a cattle country.

Spectacular riding and daring feats of cowboy horsemanship are featured throughout. A western steeplechase and a race with a runaway Ford are among the big moments of the production.

The story deals with the adventure of Art Alvord, itinerant cowpuncher whose unwilling part in a crooked horserace scheme places him in a desperate situation. Threatened with an old murder charge by an unscrupulous comrade, he is "framed" to lose a race. The result, however, will ruin the friends who have backed him and bring disaster to the girl he loves. His decision to win at any cost gives "Hard Fists" a great surprise climax. With honor struggling against fear in the heart of Alvord, the audience is kept at high tension with the powerful dramatic suspense.

Few Universal-Blue Streak Westerns have been accorded the recognition that has come to Acord's latest vehicle during its recent showings. Swift action and colorful romance, shot with the most spectacular of climaxes, mark the entire screening of "Hard Fists."

Acord is ably supported by such well known players of the screen as Louise Lorraine, Les Bates, Al Smith, Pee-Wee Holmes, John Touhey, George A. Williams and Marion Court.

"Callahans And Murphys" Big Comedy Hit

Gales of laughter rocked the audiences at the Arcade theater last night. Cause—"The Callahans and the Murphys."

Kathleen Norris' famous book of Irish life in America has been transformed into one of the most hilarious film offerings of the season under the ministering hands of Marie Dressler, Polly Moran, Sally O'Neil, Lawrence Gray, and others of the big crew of laughmakers that Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer marshalled for its new classic in comedy.

"The Callahans and the Murphys" is a story of two Irish families in New York—fighting one minute—falling on each other's necks the next—with two of the youngsters in love—and a mass of comical complications. It is a simple little plot of the loves of the second generation from the "auld Sod"—but what a background!

Marie Dressler and Polly Moran as Mrs. Callahan and Mrs. Murphy do battle royal through the picture—then defend each other against all comers—Sally O'Neil and Lawrence Gray and Gertrude Olmstead and Eddie Gribbon work out two tangled love affair—and then all hands do battle again.

From the opening battle on the picture is a howl of mirth. Turner Savage and the incident of the misplaced hardware—the Irish picnic that breaks up in a row—these are some of the high spots. Marie Dressler is ideal as the redoubtable Mrs. Callahan, and Sally O'Neil was never more appealing and piquant than as Ellen Callahan. Gertrude Olmstead is charming as Monica Murphy and other clever people in the cast are Tom Lewis, Drew Demarest, Turner Savage, Monty O'Grady, Dawn O'Day, Jackie Coomns and others.

"The Callahans and Murphys" will be shown tonight for the last time.
