

Air Passenger Service To Link Atlantic, Pacific

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—For the first time in the history of the Pacific Coast and the Central West, the transportation of air mail between San Francisco and Chicago, made possible by the inauguration of a passenger service on the San Francisco-Chicago airmail route.

It is the first leg of a transcontinental passenger system which eventually will provide a service of approximately 34 hours from coast to coast by airplane. The Chicago-New York section will be opened when the National Air Transport line, taken over from the government transportation of the airmail. Reorganization by the government of the transportation of air mail between San Francisco and Chicago, made possible by the inauguration of a passenger service. It is contrary to postal policy for the government to carry passengers on a mail service but an objection is offered to the combining of passenger transportation with mail delivery when it is contracted to commercial organizations.

The Boeing company has provided 15-planes for this division. Eighteen will be in active service and seven held in reserve for emergency. The Boeing company has provided 15-planes for this division. The planes are powered with nine cylinders, air cooled motors. Reclining, upholstered seats are provided for the patrons who pay ten cents a mile for their transportation and are permitted to carry up to 25 pounds of hand baggage free of charge.

DO YOU WANT ONE? NEW YORK—Anybody who wants a nice marble staircase which costs $150,000 12 years ago can have it for one dollar and no questions asked. Apply to the folks wrecking the mansion on Fifth Avenue recently sold by Herbert H. Gary. It seems there's no demand for marble staircases now. One from William A. Clark mansion was dumped at sea because the wreckers could think of nothing else to do with it.

"Rum Row" Ready for Summer

Between Cleveland and Sandusky, along the shores of Lake Erie is "Rum Row," one of the strangest settlements in the country. Twenty large wine casks of 1000-gallon capacity, with a sleeping porch tacked on the front of each, form the unique summer homes colony.

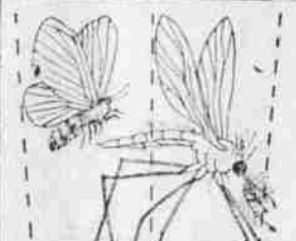

Former Oregon Judge Tells of Life in Islands

Home of the country in the Philippines Islands is described in a letter recently received by Judge Knowles from Judge Charles A. Johns, who has been in the Philippines for the past four or five years on the supreme court bench there. Judge Johns has several friends in La Grande, especially among the attorneys here. He formerly made his home in Eastern Oregon.

Following is a part of the letter: "On the thirteenth I returned from Baguio, where I went with my family on March 17, and had a good, peaceful, restful vacation. It is 5,000 feet above the sea level and is covered with a small growth of pine, and the scenery reminds me very much of Eastern Oregon. It is also the country of the Igorotes, whose habits, customs and mode of living are very similar to those of the Indians. That the Igorotes live in huts or dugouts, and they walk a long distance over the mountain trails to and from their homes to the public market in Baguio, with the women trailing behind carrying the burdens on their backs.

"I note the death of Judge Phelps. He was a fine man and a good judge. I also note the appointment of young Fox. He ought to make good. All of which forcibly reminds me that old age is creeping on, and that sooner or later our time will come. So many of my old friends have passed away and much as I like Baker and Eastern Oregon, I fear that it would never seem like it was in the days of my youth. "I infer that La Grande is growing." "Give my personal regards to all of the old attorneys in La Grande."

Quiet Limehouse Nights Disgust Americans in Quest of Adventure

LONDON (AP)—American tourists who come to London with an idea of finding adventure in "wild and woolly" Limehouse are doomed to disappointment.

That picturesque section of the London dock district is no longer the place Hollywood motion picture makers portray. The Shanghai Cafe, one of the last business establishments to sell Limehouse "atmosphere" to tourists has called up its front door on Limehouse Causeway and moved to Soho where it can depend on a regular clientele for its chop suey.

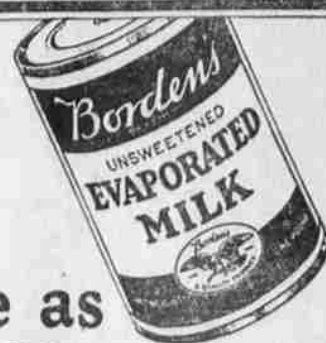

Americans resort to their tourist agencies that they are disgusted with the quiet evenings they have wasted in Limehouse looking for excitement. Coffer boys with dirty faces and ties are the most picturesque things they see and an evening spent in the neighborhood is as quiet as a Sunday school festival.

Those who hanker for "the good old days" when crimes were frequent should blame it on Inspector Hall, who has just retired from the criminal investigation department of Scotland Yard. He is known as the man who cleaned up Limehouse. Ten years ago Inspector Hall took charge of the dock district. At that time Limehouse was infested with criminals of every nationality, and every street had its opium dens and white slave dives.

Someone ought to start writing a good history of the Great War, so the European posterity could get a better idea of what it is going to pay for.
