GET ACQUAINTED BOYS

Here's to the girl, the prettiest girl. The sweetest girl to me. Her face is on the dollar. Her name is Liberty. She will clothe you, she will feed you. She will take you out of soak, and with her picture in your pocket You will never be broke.

The most absent minded man on record is the man who, on arriving at his office thought he had forgotten his watch and searching in his pocket took out his watch to see if he had time to go after it.

Fame awaits the statesman who will bring about the repeal of a few thousand useless laws.

For those kind friends who are always over-anxious to find out why so many magazines and otherwise respectable journals devote so much space and type to poetry, let us offer all that we know on the subject—POETS ARE BORN, NOT PAID.

Landlady: How do you like our accommodations?
Summer boarder: They bite like hell.

Dumb: How can I cure a sleep-walking habit?
Dora: Sprinkle licks on the floor.

Most of us don't need new ideas as much as we need doors to help carry out some of the old ones.

"Music hath charms"—but so do all modern women—on their dressing tables.

Trenton, Ill. man found a large diamond in a chicken. Chickens are very fond of large diamonds.

"Pa, what's a post-graduate?"
"A fellow who graduates from one of those correspondence schools. I suppose."

With the kind of weather we're having no one need run out of something to talk about.

DICKENS MANUSCRIPT SOLD

LONDON—The original manuscript of Dickens' story, "The Millionaire," has been purchased by Mr. Charles Seabrook, of Philadelphia. The manuscript has been in the possession of the family of the publisher since the first issue of the work ninety years ago. It consists of 24 full quarto pages.

A complete physical examination, including tests of the blood, urine, etc., and X-ray pictures, will furnish him the needed information which he must have in order to treat your machine intelligently. If neglect of body machine has not been too prolonged it can be made to function smoothly again. If abuse or wrong habits of living have extended over a long period of time the patient may have to adapt himself to an entirely new regime.

Such is the case with the automobile. In the hospital he is impressed with the fact that he must give absolute cooperation and follow the doctor's orders. The alternative is death. On the other hand he learns that he can probably live as long as the normal man if he will adapt himself to the changed conditions of living which are essential to preservation of health.

AT THE THEATERS

Lillian Gish At Height of Art In Picture

Lillian Gish has played her Romeo and her White Sister, her Mimi and her Civil War heroine, but a new Lillian Gish astounded the audience at the Arcade theater last night when she played "Hester Prynne." She seemed to equally inspired.

"The Scarlet Letter" Nathaniel Hawthorne's famous classic, proved an ideal vehicle for the famous star, its dramatic plot of a woman, carrying a brand of shame through life for the sake of the man she loves, making a theme so powerful that it enticed her to the heights of true genius.

But there was something else behind it all. For six years Miss Gish has labored to play this vivid role as a monument to film to her ancestors. She comes of original Puritan stock, and is one of the leading members of the descendants of the Revolution, and playing the role was to her almost a religious duty.

As the little seamstress whose secret love caused her to give to almost angelic heights, Miss Gish plays a mighty drama of love and human souls. Commemorative artistic marks every phase of her struggle against intolerance, and the mighty climax holds one spell-bound. Those who loved her in "La Boheme" or "The White Sister" will adore her in her new role.

Lars Hanson, the famous Swedish actor, makes an ideal "Arthur Dimmesdale," a role that required remarkable acting skill, and Henry R. Walthall celebrated his first picture with Miss Gish since "The Birth of a Nation" with a masterpiece portrayal of her Nemesis.

Karl Dane had a role even more distinctive than that in "The Big Parade," and others will cast with Marcelle Corday, Mary Hayes, H. H. Joyce Good, William H. Toole, Jules Cowles and James A. Marcus. Victor Seastrom directed the production, which was lavishly staged, with striking originality, the opening scenes in the huge reproduction of a Puritan village being handled in a daring manner.

"Youth and Beauty," an Andy Rump comedy is also showing.

Remodeling Time

At this time of year many people think of remodeling their homes—some have the work done while away on vacations, others use the vacation period to personally supervise the work.

The installation of 3/4 inch thick oak flooring over old worn floors is an important remodeling idea—so is the use of Bruce Cold-line elastic lining in clothes closets.

Estimates cheerfully furnished.

Lewis Stone Scores In Film at Star

"The Prince of Headwaters," a drama, with Lewis Stone, Fritsella Bonner, Lillian Tashman, Ann Rusk, Robert Agnew and E. J. Ruffalo the featured players, is the powerful feature photoplay of the Star theater today and Wednesday.

It is one of the really exceptional pictures of the season, with Mr. Stone in his most dramatic role of the year. He is "Pierre," head-writer at the Ritz in New York. The photoplay is based on "The Prince of Headwaters," the latest Fort story recently published in Liberty magazine.

Pritsella Bonner has the part of Faith, Pierre's bride. Their son, Elliot, is Robert Agnew, and E. J. Ruffalo has the part of Faith's father, who adopts Elliot as his own son when Faith dies.

With Elliot grown-up, Pierre begins for the first time that he is his son. He is in the Ritz, with other college boys, and their "party girls" that Elliot and his father learn to know each other, though unaware of the relationship.

It is through Pierre that Elliot, the son, is saved from the gold-digger, Talvan Tashman, and her sister, the comic John Patrick. And it is through Pierre's efforts that Elliot and Beth Ann Rusk are brought together.

The Ritz hotel, lobby and cafe scenes are magnificent. The New Year's eve party and the tea room dance scenes are fashion shows, yet there is no attempt to make them appear as such.

"Youth and Beauty," an Andy Rump comedy is also showing.
