EGGS CLIMB TO HIGHER LEVEL

Butter Gains Half a Cent —Light Hens Drug on Portland Market

PORTLAND, Ore., July 20 (AP)—Under forced market conditions wholesale eggs have jumped to sharply higher price levels for today based on transactions at yesterday's late afternoon session of the dairy exchange. Extras and fresh standard firsts are up fully 2c to 28c, while fresh mediums advanced to 24c and current receipts to 22c. All around, the market is 2c higher and further increases are desired by some members of the trade in order to reach a satisfactory price level on which to sell excess receipts now coming on the local market from outside markets.

92 standard cube butter gained a ½c on the dairy exchange to 38½c. Other grades are unchanged on a firm and active market.

Most produce prices were about steady this morning under slow demand.

Country dressed meats are slightly advanced, hogs to 16c for top stuff and veal firm at 18½ to 19c. Light hens are a drug on the market and have slipped to 12c for today's trade.

Pool Operations Give Impetus To Bullish Movement

NEW YORK, July 20 (AP)—Despite the heavy liquidation inspired by the belief that the market has been climbing too rapidly, stock prices continued to move upward today under the stimulus of aggressive pool operations in a wide assortment of specialties. Scores of issues were bid up 1 to 6½ points with comparatively few weak spots scattered throughout the list.

Automotive issues continued to present isolated points of strength. Gabriel Snubbers was in keen demand, crossing 53 to a new peak. Allied Power, General Railway Signal and Westinghouse Electric all moved into new high ground. Chesapeake Peabody jumped another six points today.

Atchison was again lifted to new high ground, and a steady demand was apparent for Baltimore and Ohio, Peoria and Eastern, Louisville and Nashville and Gulf, Mobile and Northern.

The closing was strong. General Motors moved up to 212, a new high record and coal shares were buoyant in the final hour. Houston Oil broke 7 points but recovered part of the loss. Total sales approximated 1,600,000 shares.

RAMSAY DIDN'T MISS IT

(NEA Service, London Bureau)

Ramsay MacDonald, former labor premier, just returned from a trip to America, turned out with the rest of England to view the sun's eclipse from Giggleswick, Yorkshire. You see him here at the right, gazing heavenward through smoked glasses as the sun, viewed below, slips out from behind the moon which a moment before had totally eclipsed it.

King Ferdinand, of Rumania, Took Throne During World War Period

King Ferdinand, who died in Bucharest this morning, ascended the Rumanian throne during the troublous times shortly after the outbreak of the world war when his country was greatly agitated regarding the position Rumania was to take in the conflict. During the first two months of the war Rumania, under the rule of the late King Charles, it was charged, had been secretly aiding the central powers. Ferdinand took the oath as king upon the death of his uncle in October, 1914, and immediately announced that Rumania would remain neutral unless attacked.

During a speech from the throne in November, 1915, King Ferdinand, was shouted down with cries of "Down with Hungary"; "Down with Germany," "Down with the Hohenzollerns." This demonstration was taken as an indication of the government's sympathy in the conflict. Ferdinand and his predecessor having been princes of the house of Hohenzollern.

War With Austria

In August, 1916, the former German kaiser sent a letter to King Ferdinand informing him that it was his intention to send a special mission to Bucharest relative to Rumania's position. The king replied that such an act would be inopportune and since he was a constitutional monarch, he would be obliged to refer the envoy to his ministers. A few days later Rumania entered the conflict on the side of the Allies by declaring war against Austria. This action was believed to have resulted from the influence of Queen Marie, who was a princess royal of Great Britain and Ireland. The declaration by Rumania was followed almost immediately by Germany declaring war against Rumania.

With his troops at the front King Ferdinand's throne began to totter from intrigue charged against Rumanian politicians and German agents who planned to dethrone the ruler and install a German prince in his place. There were even plots against the life of the king.

Position Difficult

Rumania's position in the war was a difficult one and after nearly two years fighting two-thirds of the country was overrun by the enemy. The Rumanians, isolated and without outside support were obliged to accept drastic peace terms sent by Germany with an ultimatum that they be accepted in 24 hours. The collapse of the German army on the western front and the armistice, however, rendered the enforced treaty between Germany and Rumania ineffective.

Ferdinand Victor Albert Maincad was born at Sigmaringen, August 24, 1865, the son of Prince Leopold of Hohenzollern and Antonia, Infanta of Portugal. He was educated in Germany and was an officer in the German army. He was created a prince of Rumania by royal decree in 1889 and the path was cleared for his ascension to the throne by a series of renunciations. The heir presumptive of King Charles was his elder brother, Prince Leopold of Hohenzollern-Sigmaringen, who renounced his rights in favor of his son, Prince Wilhelm. The latter in turn resigned his rights in favor of his younger brother, Ferdinand.

King Ferdinand achieved considerable notoriety before his marriage through a love affair with Mlle. Helene Vacaresco, a favorite of the then queen of Rumania. When marriage between Ferdinand and Princess Marie, daughter of Alfred, Duke of Edinburgh and later Duke of Saxe-Coburg was talked of, it was said the Rumanian queen was much incensed and that Mlle. Vacaresco felt it so keenly that she sent Ferdinand's love letters to Princess Marie. However he married the latter January 10, 1893.

The royal couple had six children, one of whom died in childhood. The others were Crown Prince Carol, born in 1893; Princess Elizabeth, born in 1894 and married in 1921 to King George of Greece, who afterward abdicated; Princess Marie, born in 1899 and married in 1922 to King Alexander of Jugoslavia; Prince Nicolas, born in 1903, and Princess Ileana, born in 1903.

Although he took the oath as king the day after the death of his uncle, King Charles, in 1914, King Ferdinand and his queen were not crowned until October, 1922. The ceremonies took place at Alba Julia. On that occasion the crown used by the late King Charles again was pressed into service. It is made of steel from Turkish guns captured at Plevna in 1877.

FRAUDULENT DIVORCE?

TOYANDA, Pa. (AP)—The contention of Mrs. Elizabeth Willette is that in 1914 when a bride, she loaned her husband, then a bricklayer, $27,000 which he soon turned into millions, earning $278,000 in one year alone as a New York contractor. She is seeking to have her divorce set aside on the ground that she obtained it fraudulently at his instigation.

MISS MACKAYE BEHIND THE BARS

Dorothy Mackaye, former stage favorite, is shown here in the Los Angeles county jail awaiting her transfer to state prison where she starts a sentence of one to three years for concealing facts in the death of her husband, Ray Raymond. Raymond's assailant, Paul Kelly, was sentenced to ten years after Raymond died following a fist fight between the two.

A bull must be handled in a firm manner and never trusted. It often happens that a man is killed or injured by taking chances.

No matter how quiet and gentle a bull has been, he is likely to be in a bad humor at times. He never should be taken on a public highway unless he can be kept under absolute control. Many serious accidents have occurred as a result of allowing so-called gentle bulls to graze along country roads or driving them to and from pasture on public highways.
