BUCHAREST MOB SUPPORTS CAROL

Demonstration Dispersed After Several Are Slain Is Report to Berlin

BUCHAREST, Rumania, July 22 (AP)—Prince Carol remains in exile and he cannot return either to his father's funeral or later, government officials declared today.

BERLIN, July 22 (AP)—A dispatch to the Nacht-Ansage from his special correspondent in Bucharest says that a demonstration in favor of Prince Carol occurred at Pogran. The demonstrators are said to have been dispersed by cavalry, several of the crowd being killed.

EYES THE THRONE
PARIS, July 22 (AP)—Ruler by his father's bequest of 440,000 former crown Prince Carol of Rumania now appears to cherish the idea of mounting the throne he repeatedly renounced judging by statements to the press, in which he refers to himself as "King Carol of Rumania."

Meanwhile his application for permission to return to Bucharest to attend the funeral of Ferdinand has not been answered, according to his own announcement and Rumanian circles here expect no answer while premier press the belief that this or other communications he may send will be returned in power. These circles say also that the prospects of there being a King Carol II are, for the present at least, extremely remote.

Statement Given
A statement given out in Carol's behalf, by a personage closely connected with him read:

"King Carol of Rumania, deeply afflicted by the death of his father and moved by feelings of devotion toward the late sovereign, regrets for the moment he is unable to make any communication to the press. He thus finds himself prevented from formulating a declaration which the new situation calls for. Yesterday morning he expressed telegraphically to the members of the Rumanian royal family a desire to attend his father's funeral. Up to the present he has received no answer."

Carol now is something like a prisoner. His villa at Neully is guarded by detectives and besieged by squads of newspapermen who observe his every movement from the streets or points of vantage of neighboring buildings. Even the shades are being carefully noted and all sorts of inferences drawn from them as to political conferences going on within.

His servants say he is weighed down by sorrow and is "just letting himself live."

county was also held during the afternoon, with the chief item of business being the election of officers for the coming year. State Senator A. R. Hunter, of La Grande, was duly chosen as president.

Arrive Here—
Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Brown and young son, Elmer Jr., arrived in La Grande last night by auto from the Portland and Mt. Hood district. They were called here by the illness of their little daughter, Althea Ruth, who is visiting at the Gustav Wisler home at 205 Main. Mr. Brown is principal of the Ross city schools. Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Wisler are sisters.

Presbyterians Place Emphasis On Religious Education Development

EUGENE, Ore., July 22 (AP)—Continuing their general program of christian education with special emphasis on development of religious education, for institutions of higher learning the Oregon Presbyterian Synod meeting here in its session this morning elected new members to the board of trustees of Albany college, Albany.

Heard, the complete report of the Albany college as presented by President Clarence W. Greene; Elected new members to the board of trustees for the San Francisco theological seminary;

Voted to increase the Albany college board of trustees from 24 to 29; Relected all members of the board of trustees for the synod; And voted to have the churches allocate the same amount for Albany college as they give to each of the seminary and the westminister foundation fund.

Albany college through its president, Mr. Greene, and in cooperation with the Albany chapter of commerce and the Albany Kiwanis club extended an invitation to the synod to meet in Albany in 1928. The recommendation will be taken up the last day of the synod.

President Greene in his report spoke of the department of Bible and religious education being established at the college asking for support from the synod.

building presided over by Mrs. Anna Heister, the women joined the legionnaires and the auxiliary club and quartet contest took place.

Short Program
The business meeting immediately followed a short but very interesting program offered after the big picnic dinner. After the singing of some old-time songs by the entire audience, the La Grande male quartet sang a group of songs and were given a rousing applause. Miss Leona Arnold, of Summerville, accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Huron, sang "When Your Golden Hair Has Turned to Silver Gray." A letter was read from Milton A. Miller who was supposed to have been the speaker of the day, but owing to a confusion of dates was unable to come yesterday. Mrs. P. S. Johnson gave a couple of readings, followed by some music by Fridley and Julius Hug playing the accordion and banjo. The program was closed with an original poem by Wilbur Shaw, dedicated to the pioneers.

CONVENTION ATTENDANCE ABOUT 2,500

that these traditions be kept alive for the good of the nation. He declared Oregon one of the most American and most traditional states in the union, and asked that the legionnaires in their trip to France in a little more than a month receive no foreign decorations while in a foreign country, an old tradition of America.

He declared that impartially on the part of the United States toward all foreign nations was necessary for friendship with the foreign countries. He said that the United States had the respect of the foreign nations so long as it tended to its own business, "and the U. S. is going to attend to its own business," he declared.

Patterson Gives Praise
Governor Patterson spoke briefly by commending the work of the American Legion and of the Legion auxiliary, declaring that the high type of men and women of the legion and auxiliary insured that the affairs of state and nation would fall into the best of hands, when they take over the responsibilities a few years from now.

Captain Kelly extended greetings of the veterans of foreign wars, which he represents, and declared that the veterans were ready and willing to help at all times to make the American Legion the best and biggest patriotic organization in history.

Reviews Purpose
Brigadier General George A. White, who assisted in the first organization of the American Legion, reviewed its purpose briefly, paying tribute to the women of the Legion auxiliary and commending the state department officials on the work of the past year.

After adjournment of the auxiliary business session this morning, which was held in the I. O. O. F.

Ontario Wins

Ontario won the stoneware prize for the afternoon. A communication was read from the department president of Washington expressing her regret at not being able to attend the meeting.

Mrs. A. B. Beates, national vice president of the western division, spoke, declaring that the Oregon auxiliary was one of the most outstanding departments in the entire western division. She said that the western division is growing, in spite of the fact that it has greater handicaps to overcome than any other division in the U. S.

She reviewed incidents which inspired the need of the legion to form such an organization, and talked about the national defense program and militarism.

Savage Speaks
National Commander Savage spoke briefly, saying that the legion and auxiliary must be one big family to be successful. He said that the American Legion needs the help of the auxiliary, and declared that there wasn't a man who had achieved great things, that he did not get the environment from the home. He urged the women of the auxiliary to keep alive the sentiment of the organization, declaring that where there is sentiment there is loyalty.

The annual report of the American Legion department commander was also given yesterday afternoon, in which he expressed his happiness and felt it the greatest honor in his life of having been able to service the state American Legion as commander for the past year.

Public Reception
Last night a public reception was held for all of the distinguished guests in attendance at the convention at the Elks building, which was well attended by the citizens of La Grande and vicinity.

Hood River Wins
The Hood River glee club appeared first, dressed in a uniform costume of white and green, and was successful in winning the prize over McMinnville. The McMinnville women wore summer velle dresses in a variety of pastel colors.

The Hood River quartet was also successful in the quartet competition, winning over McMinnville, although the marking was close in both contests.

Committee reports took up the remainder of the morning in both the legion and auxiliary meetings.

Recommendations
Several recommendations were made by the state adjutant, Carl Moser, in his annual report. Among them were: that an advertising war be waged on all false advertising and solicitations operating under the guise of benefit to the disabled; that posts start annual membership drive on Armistice day; and that annual district conferences be continued.

Two resolutions were passed yesterday afternoon during the business session of the legion auxiliary. One was that district conferences be discontinued and that the incoming department executive committee make plans for more personal contact with the auxiliary units of the state, and the other was that county councils, of one

DRUM CORPS ACTIVE

Drum corps from Portland, Hood River, McMinnville, Meadford, Hood River, Pendleton, Marshfield, Eugene, Cottage Grove, Baker, the Hungry Seven from Central, the Vagabonds from Bend and two out-of-state corps from Dayton, Wash., and Webster, Ill., as well as the famous Sheridan band, are providing almost a continual round of color, excitement and music in the city. The mass march yesterday afternoon occupying a full block, drew crowds of spectators, who applauded loudly for the marching corps which presented a galaxy of color and originality. Blues, reds, gold, green and dazzling white, in every conceivable design mingled with realistic cave man and Spanish-I

With the approach of this afternoon's contest at which the series will be awarded, speculation is becoming keen as to which team will march away with honors. Salem, two years prizewinners, are back again, but with competition keener than ever. The drum corps "ing of tricks" began early yesterday, seen in exhaustion as one novel stunt after another kept street crowds in high humor.
