Bull Movement Is Meeting With More Resistance

NEW YORK, July 28 (AP)—Major speculative activity in today's stock market was again the bull movement, although there were indications that the "bull" movement was meeting increased resistance.

A sharp selling attack carried prices down 1 to 2 points in the late trading but a brisk recovery followed.

U. S. Steel common was bid up more than 1 point to a new high record above 122 for the present stock.

General Electric and General Motors preferred stock gained.

Builder stocks reacted better support, Goodrich crossing 68 to a new high ground.
