Mrs. Tyler made her home here about four years ago when she was employed at N. K. West's store.

See President and First Lady—

The president of the United States is extremely fond of his 10-million hat and the first lady is a competent seamstress according to Mr. and Mrs. A. J. O'Donnell, now visiting here from Duluth, Minn., who were among the tourists fortunate enough to see the president and Mrs. Coolidge at their summer white house in Black Hills, S. D. Mr. and Mrs. O'Donnell arrived here Tuesday and are visiting in La Grande until Monday with Mrs. O'Donnell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Halby, at their farm home near Island City. They took the side trip from Rapid City, S. D., in the toke, a distance of about 25 miles, and also drove to Sylvan lake and visited the surrounding territory so famed for its beauty. They saw the lodge in the afternoon while Mrs. Coolidge was sitting upon the front porch of the rustic home quietly sewing. While they were there the president drove up to the lodge from Rapid City where he had been on his daily business trip. The president has his offices at the Rapid City high school. He wore business clothes at the time but had not discarded the 10-million hat which has had so much publicity. Hundreds of cars, representing nearly every state in the union, were continually coming and going from the lodge in an effort to get a glimpse of the president and his wife, they relate. "It is an interesting sight in itself to see the long lines of cars, from east, west, north and south, lined up to pay respects to their leader," said Mrs. O'Donnell.

rarely been out of the news spotlight.

Aimee Makes Choice— Torn between her desire to continue her work here and the wish to engage in world evangelized work, the evangelist said she had made her choice and would leave Los Angeles.

Presumably she had announced plans to change Angeles Temple to the Four Square Gospel Light House, with branches in cities throughout the United States and herself as admiral of the religious fleet they would represent. Denver, Chicago and New York, she said, last night, will be the principal centers of her new work.

"It will be necessary for me to remain in charge until the unfortunate differences between church and my mother have been amicably settled," Mrs. McPherson said. "I am hoping that a new leader can be found and the church difficulties can be straightened out during the next three weeks."

Crucic Mentioned— The Rev. Marshall Craig, of Des Moines, Iowa, may be the choice of the retiring pastor as her successor.

"It seems that ever since I escaped from those who kidnaped me I have been the center of a storm created by outside influences," Mrs. McPherson said. "Through their heaving of me they have imperiled the wonderful institution we have built through the years of devotion and effort."

However, she said, had started a movement to found a temple similar to Angeles Temple, where she would appear periodically. The same plan would be followed in Chicago and New York. From these points her organization would extend throughout the United States and into foreign countries.

At least three Canadian cities, including Toronto and Montreal, would build permanent temples, or "light houses," England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales would be in her program of expansion.

At least three Canadian cities, including Toronto and Montreal, would build permanent temples, or "light houses," England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales would be in her program of expansion.

To Tell Mother— She said she had not yet revealed her plans to either her mother, her congregation or the church committee which backed her in her present struggle with her mother, but she would do so today.

A new mystery in temple affairs which was injected into the struggle between mother and daughter when the evangelist's committee, said that Mrs. Kennedy was the wife of W. Whitebeck, of New York, still was unexplained last night.

Mrs. Kennedy, when told that Whitebeck denied he was married to her or even knew her, refused to comment.

CHERRY CROP HARVESTED IN THIS COUNTY

The tree and even the leafage, if the grower gets through all these troubles and has a well ripened crop hanging on his tree ready for market and a sudden shower comes it will almost invariably crack it and spoil it for shipping.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY

PORTLAND, Ore., July 29 (AP)—Floyd Gitzbach, former husband of Madame Matzenauer, opera singer, pleaded not guilty in circuit court today to a charge of forgery. He was alleged to have forged the name of Mrs. H. D. Luman, a wealthy Portland widow to a check for $5,000. Gitzbach had been employed by Mrs. Luman as chauffeur. He was arrested last week in San Francisco.

MAJOR WORSHAM SELECTED

WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP)—Selection of Major Ludon D. Worsham, acting district engineer at Portland, Ore., to be assistant to Major Donald H. Connolly, district engineer at Memphis, Tenn., in the study of flood prevention work in the Mississippi valley was announced today in war department orders. Major George Major, of the sixth engineers, has been relieved from duty at Camp Lewis, Wash., to take over the district engineer's office at Portland.

Farm Pointers

Growth and bearing of many young fiber groves in Oregon the past season are encouraging features of the industry, reports the experiment station. Many of the four and five-year-old fiber groves have good crops of fine nuts, while by no means great profit producers these crops indicate what may be expected of plantings kept growing steadily and vigorously.

Selection of an irrigation farm involves much the same principles that determine availability of larger areas for irrigation districts, the experiment station soils department declares. Feasibility, engineering, agricultural, soil and economic surveys are needed. Careful selection of lands for reclamation is all the more necessary because of the recent unprecedented depression of agriculture and the increased cost of fitting and equipping irrigated lands.

Only two processes in cottage cheese making are important say the O. A. C. dairy specialists—elaboring and cooking. Elaborating determines the flavor, cooking the fiber or body. To prevent over cooking of the curd after it has reached the right degree of acidity it is heated in a pan of water rather than over the fire direct. Better results come when it is heated slowly for 20 minutes to about 100 degrees temperature.

MRS. PUTITZER DIES

NEW YORK, July 29 (AP)—Mrs. Joseph Pulitzer, widow of the founder of the New York World, died today at Deauville, France, after an illness of less than a week.

27 ARE LOST WHEN VESSEL IS CAPSIZED

were invited by the captain to accompany him.

Officials understood that not more than 75 passengers were aboard the boat which Captain Arthur Olson called a half load. He said he believed that had the steamer been crowded to capacity the ship never would have capsized.

Fred J. Meira, of the federal steamboat inspection service at Detroit, arrived here today to take charge of an inquiry ordered by Dickerson Hunter, chief of inspection service.

Licensed skippers were to compare the jury at the inquest, Governor Wolf announced with Mr. Clark as foreman.

The tragedy came almost 12 years to a day from the date of Chicago's greatest water disaster. The sinking of the steamer Eastland with a loss of 512 lives. The two resulted from the same cause—the rush of passengers to the port side of the ship.

Fifteen of yesterdays' victims were children—nine boys and six girls—ten were women and one was a man. Some 75 women and children and half a dozen men were thrown into the water when the vessel—the Favorite—tipped over, but 50 or more were saved, some in a thrilling rescue by William Hornauer, millionaire yachtsman, who claimed to be cruising by in his large yacht, the Doris, when the storm broke.

Ship is Raised— While divers searched the lake bottom near the scene for more victims, divers lifted the craft into last night as flood lights were played on the tragic picture. The last five bodies were found as the ship came to the surface seven hours after the Favorite foundered.

It was a ray crowd of excursionists that left Lincoln Park aboard the vessel in the late afternoon for the two-mile run to the municipal pier. A two-piece negro orchestra—banjo and mandolin—strummed "The Looking Over a Four Leaf Clover," children scampered along the two decks and their elders hung over theboarded rails. Suddenly when a mile out, a rain storm broke and with it came a gust of wind out of the northwest. As the captain, Arthur Olson, who has sailed the lake 18 years sought to head his boat into the wind, the passengers rushed to the port side, away from the driving rain. The boat tipped sharply and as the lake water rushed over the decks, turned over.

Children Held Under

Children, candies and popcorn

will clutched in their hands, fought to free themselves, but the weight of chairs and other encumbrances on deck held them under. Some were thrown free of the boat and many of these grabbed on a boat and raft as the steamer righted itself and sank until all but the roof of the upper structure was submerged.

Twenty-one bodies were recovered before the steamer was raised to be towed ashore. Others were found after the craft was brought to the surface.

The five members of the crew skinned and those all experienced sailors saved many from drowning by tossing life preservers and rafts to those in the water. The Favorite's two life boats also were unmoored and into these clambered a number of the survivors.

Officer Saves Four

Leon Sobata, an army officer, whose hand was mangled, told of throwing four children into a boat. Sobata related his experience as his hand was being dressed.

"I got four kids and a woman, the boat was full of water and we could not any more in. A girl started bawling out with a straw hat. I was dizzy. When the Favorite went down she listed—and she swam."

Opal Horton, 12, of Hugo, Okla., visiting in Chicago, dragged two little girls through a window and held them afloat until a member of the crew pulled them into a life boat.

"It was terrible, I wish I had gone with the boat," Olson murmured as he watched his steamer being raised. At that instant a fire guard reached into the first life deck and dragged out a small boy.

"It's horrible—horrible. I tell you," the boat's master shouted. "I did the best I could—I tell you man it was terrible and I had only recently spent a lot of money improving the Favorite."

Rescues Father

Sixty-year-old George Holmen, of Berwyn, Ill., saved his father and attempted to rescue his mother but she died from shock and heart disease. A mother of five children, Mrs. Gertrude Bernat, who also was aboard the Eastland when it capsized in the Chicago river, again escaped death on the Favorite. Four members of her family, a married daughter, a grand daughter, nephew and his-in-law were drowned.

"I said to my husband when we boarded the boat, 'I don't like the looks of this—it has a tendency to lean to one side.'" He said—come on, don't spoil the party."

The only one of 27 victims not identified is a small girl about eight. Authorities believe the child was Rose Polen, daughter of Mrs. Cella Polen, another of the victims. Mr. Polen who established his wife's identity was prostrated and unable to go to the morgue.
