AT THE THEATERS

"Is Zat So?" Showing at the Arcade

Farmerette—"I want a flap, a pint of paint, some powder, a wash and some hose."
 Frank Kilmurray—"Sorry miss, this is no beauty parlor."
 The professors wife tied a string around her absent-minded husband's finger to remind him to get his hair cut. On his way home to dinner he noticed it. "Ah, yes," he murmured, "I remember," and entering the shop he sat down before his favorite barber.
 "Er-yes, sir," said that artist, puzzled inquiry in his tone.
 "Er-oh, yes, cut my hair, please," commanded the absent-minded one.
 "Why certainly, sir, if you wish it," said the barber. "But you won't mind my mentioning the fact that I cut it this noon, will you?"

"Is Zat So?" And the answer is, "It is," one of the most amusing pictures in many months if not of the entire season. Of course we refer to Fox Film seven-serial hit which is showing at the Arcade theater today Tuesday and Wednesday under the title of the first three words of this review.
 There may be nothing new under the sun, but there is something decidedly novel in the idea of a prize fighter and his manager breaking into high society and staging a bout in the conservatory of a Fifth avenue mansion and then winning the hearts and hands of two of its inmates. The contrast between the pugilist, played by George O'Brien and the may man-about-town, played by Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and the fight manager, played by Edmund Lewis, and the society leader, played by Cyril Chadwick, furnish many hilarious episodes.
 "Is Zat So?" is a nerve tonic and a picture to give, in the language of the film, the "knockout to Old Man Ghim."
 Kathryn Perry, Doris Lloyd, Philippe de Lary and Dione Ellis have important roles in this merry film.
 Hal Roach has turned out another laugh riot in "Jewish Prudence," which will be the comedy attraction on the bill. A fine cast of players includes Max Davidson, Gaston Glass, Martha Sleeper, Johnny Fox and Jess Duvarska.

Will Rogers Sees Paris As It Is

Imagine being in Paris with Will Rogers! Well, such a thing is possible, for the famous humorist will show all who so desire the sights of the town for the price of a movie ticket at the Arcade theater starting today.
 Through the magic of the motion picture camera, Will gives his sight-seeing guests into a Limberneck hack, as he calls it, and takes them on a tour of the famous city. His remarks regarding the various things to be seen are said to be worth the price of admission alone, for all of the subtleties in this novel picture were written by Rogers himself.
 "In Paris" was filmed during Rogers' far-famed trip abroad as America's unofficial ambassador. His written accounts of the journey were published in a series of articles in the Saturday Evening Post under the title of "Letters of a Self-Made Diplomat to His President."

BEST WISHES TO LINDY
 ST. LOUIS—The Lone Eagle has a new rating. A Choctaw Indian of Oklahoma offers Lindbergh the name Tobhonsai Chitooka, (greatest white eagle) and added the hope that the colonel will soon "build nest in high tree with lots of little eagles."

"Fools of Fashion" is absorbing drama
 The frailties of women and their overpowering desire for glory is the motif of the Tiffany production "Fools of Fashion" which is showing here at the Colonial theater Tues and Wednesday. The story holds interest throughout by its dramatic plot, excellent direction, beautiful photography and gorgeous settings. The roles of the various characters are portrayed by as great a galaxy of screen stars that could possibly be gathered together for one production. The trials of a pair of newwyeds who are trying to adapt themselves to the better things of life, on a small income, and the fallacy of attempting it, and the heartiness that follow is the dramatic high light of "Fools of Fashion." Freed through her husband to follow the example of a supposedly wonderful housewife, the young bride finds

A Pound of Lead is No Heavier than a Pound of Feathers... but a severe loss to the business man or individual Property Owner, whether from flood, windstorm, or fire, may weigh heavier than anything else in the world—if it is not insured. The business of this agency is to insure property against such losses. Let's talk it over.
