HEALTH

MORE NEED THAN EVER FOR SUMMER VACATIONS

By Orville Harry Brown, M. D., Ph. D., Phoenix, Ariz.
Member George Memorial Inst.
Why should we take vacations? The old adage, "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy" is sufficient answer, though by no means the only one.

Modern American business life is rapid and strenuous. Most of us work at a tension through the greater part of the year. Our hearts, blood vessels, brain, etc., get very little rest. Or it may be that it is the muscles, which are kept constantly busy. Hence the vacation should afford relaxation from the accustomed type of activity.

This does not mean that one should go to extremes. The man with the white collar job does relatively little muscular work. He should spend his vacation with complete freedom from the strains and stresses of his routine job, but he may occupy the recreation period in an activity, largely physical, provided it is not extended much beyond the usual amount.

Many persons make the mistake of spending most of their vacation in a sedentary occupation and overdoing in vacation periods. One of the greatest surgeons of all time made this serious mistake. The reference is to Dr. Nicholas Sena, who died in 1905, after a vacation in South America climbing mountains. He was brought back to Chicago on a stretcher, with an acutely dilated heart, and never recovered. His heart was untrained to the severe strain which he put upon it in what he planned to be a rest period.

A vacation should be a recreation. This word comes from the Latin word meaning to create again or

Last evening as the sun went down My frow put on her evening gown, And stepped into the Nash sedan, and took a ride with her old man.

We went down to the Moon Drug Store And then we passed another door, We motored down Spence ave-nue, And hid our parson, howdy-do.

Then we started back for home, The Nash began to roll and groan, As it turned into our abode, A lumber truck sat in the road.

I almost ran right into it, My wife then had another fit— Or all the screams you ever heard, I tell you folks, just mark my word.

I stopped that Nash, as still as death, And then I tried to catch my breath, Next year at this time I will weigh Not as much as I do today.

My growth is stunted, can't grow no more,

It makes me feel so thin and poor, Carbons or blasts don't bother me, A thunder storm or falling tree,

But oh, boy, when my frow she screams, It sounds just like a fire siren,

Then I tremble, I tell you that, I hardly remember my name is Pratt.

P. S.—Next Sunday afternoon the K. O. M. picnic will be held at the Riverside park. We want all the Kansas, Oklahoma and Missouri folks to be here, but please don't take your lunches and swank off by yourself somewhere, as you may have some fried chicken and you should put it on the table where I could get some, too.

Remember, I am your president this year and you may not always have a president that is a chicken eater.

new. Our vacations should create new vigor and improved health. The great open spaces in the west, among others, afford ideal vacation spots, and many will soon be going to the back-to-nature places. A word of warning needs to be sounded regarding sanitation and the results of improper sanitation.

Protect yourself and those who come after you by digging holes and carefully covering all excretions and debris. This should be done immediately.

Typhoid and typhoid are two serious diseases which are directly due to improper sanitation. Typhoid may be a water-borne disease; this occurs if sewage waste from a typhoid patient or a typhoid carrier contaminates the water supply. As this may occur where sanitary disposal of sewage is absent, the back country is where typhoid may be lurking. Typhoid vaccination is safe, simple, and efficient. Go to your physician and ask him to give you the protective treatment.

A vacation is a splendid opportunity to do a lot of reading for which time seems lacking in the regular routine of a busy life. So read and rest. Everything should be sacrificed for rest, relaxation, and sleep during vacation times.

A "SMALL ITEM"

NEW YORK—The sum of $1,600,000 is just "a small item" to John D. Jr., when it's devoted to certain purposes. Questioned regarding gifts to that total he recently made for repairs to the Rheims Cathedral and Versailles and Fontainebleau palaces, Mr. Rockefeller dismissed them as unworthy of recalling.

Smoking and Throat Protection

As viewed by 9651* Doctors

WHAT is the quality that so many of those whose voices are precious have found that makes LUCKY STRIKE cigarettes delightful and of no possible injury to those voices?

For the answer, a number of physicians, many of them leading physicians, in various parts of the United States were recently asked these two questions:

Q1—In your judgment is the heat treatment or toasting process applied to tobaccos previously aged and cured, likely to free the cigarette from irritation to the throat?

9651 doctors answered this question "YES".

Q2—Do you think from your experience with LUCKY STRIKE cigarettes that they are less irritating to sensitive or tender throats than other cigarettes, whatever the reason?

11,105 doctors answered this question "YES".

Consider what these figures mean; consider that they represent the opinion and experience of doctors, those whose business it is to know.

Joseph Caillaux, Noted French Orator, writes:

"I have found your Lucky Strike Cigarettes very agreeable. They do not hurt my throat in the least and are very soothing to my voice."
