75 Couples At Fine Arts Fund Dance Last Night

About 75 couples of La Grande's young people enjoyed the annual University of Oregon dance given for the benefit of the Fine Arts building fund last night at the Rex hall. The Varsity Vagabonds furnished music for the dancers, and dancing started at 9 o'clock and continued until midnight.

Miss Eleanor Glass was chairman in charge of the dance. She was assisted by Melvin Parker. Both are university students.

Finances for the Fine Arts building have nearly been raised and plans are to build the complete year.

A dinner party was given Wednesday evening at the J. A. Gaskill farm home when Mr. and Mrs. Gaskill entertained for Roy Rowan and Eugene Metcalf, who left La Grande yesterday for California, where they will enter college.

Garden flowers were used to decorate the rooms, a bouquet of roses serving as a centerpiece for the dinner table.

Those present were Misses Lola and Wilma Gaskill, Walter Hutchinson, the honor guests and the host and hostess.

After dinner the evening was spent in music and games.

Ladies' Aid Members Meet At Dry Creek

One hundred and five women-members of the Allied, Imbler and Summerville Ladies' Aid societies gathered at the grove near the Dry creek school house yesterday afternoon for a joint meeting and picnic.

Miss Geneva Sayre, returned missionary from China, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Sayre, of this city, was present and told something of her work among the Chinese, besides displaying a number of Chinese articles. Music was also a part of the afternoon's program.

A social was enjoyed later in the afternoon and a picnic luncheon was served by a committee composed of members from each of the three aid societies.

MEDICAL SPRINGS (Special)

Mrs. Corbett, Mrs. Winn Duncan and Mrs. Hill entertained the Medical Springs Women's club at Dunham Wright's orchard Thursday afternoon.

The usual routine of business presided over by the vice president, Mrs. M. Baker, was followed by a social during which time refreshments were served.

Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Larson and Mrs. Strong will have charge of the next meeting, which will be Aug. 19 in the basement of the school building.

MENUS

By Sister Mary
BREAKFAST—Plum, cereal, cream, coffee with sliced fried tomatoes, crisp granular toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Iced consommé, oysters, fish salad with cucumber dressing, rye bread and butter sandwiches, butterscotch cookies, milk, tea.

DINNER—Watermelon cocktail, yeast and rice rolls, spinach timbales, hearts of romaine with French dressing, apple pie with cheese, milk, coffee.

The breakfast dish of codfish hash, and tomatoes is so attractive to look at that it's sure to tempt the most fickle appetite. Serve the hash on a large platter and use the broiled tomatoes to make a border around the hash. Garnish with tiny sprigs of crisp parsley.

Cucumber Dressing
One cup whipping cream, 4 tablespoons lemon juice, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1 cup sliced cucumbers, 1/2 cup pimiento cut in tiny dice.

Chill all ingredients thoroughly. Whip cream with lemon juice, salt, pepper and sugar until firm. When ready to serve, add prepared and chilled cucumber and pimiento.

This is a delicious fish dressing to serve with any preferred fish as a salad. If salmon is chosen, minced green pepper makes a prettier dressing than red pimiento. Use the red pepper for a white fish salad.

HEALTH

CLEANLINESS IS ESSENTIAL FOR THE HEALTH, COMFORT, AND IMPROVEMENT OF RACE

By Alice G. Bryant, M. D., Boston, Mass.

Member Gorges Memorial Institute Cleanliness in all its phases is essential to our well-being. It is our guardian angel in the material world. Thoughtful people know what cleanliness means, and they also know the lack of it may unfortunately send them to the great Unknown.

Those who know least of this great fundamental question are surprisingly venturesome. They are content to be stand-patters and unconsciously cling to worn-out and unimproved facts and ideas like a limpet to his native rock. They contribute to the ill-health and suffering of themselves and their fellows. They prefer to go their own way and to stand and spread disease and misanthropism.

Cleanliness should be so instilled in us that our daily occupations and recreations will be steeped in it. The stubborn circumstances of overcrowding in big cities, the germ-laden dust, the smudge, smoke, dirt, the absence of the sun's beneficial rays, the unsanitary surroundings within and without the home, the uncleaned doors and windows, the communal refuse and picnic heaps, the unnecessary pools of water and stagnant water areas, the breeding and harboring of flies, mosquitoes, insects and rats, the fragrant distribution of germs in the friendly hand shake, the dust-laden flourish of handkerchiefs, the explosive cough, the saliva-moistened finger-tips and thumb-tipping of the leaves of a book, the universal car strap hangers, the besmeared door-knobs and doors, the one-for-all cup and towel and pepper-sprayer, the low-pressure, germ-laden drinking fountains, the generous sputum distributors, the contaminated food and milk supply, the unsanitary milk-carrying bottles, the loathsome teeth cavities, the discharging ears, the unclean clearing of the nose, the teeth rimming of the finger-nails, the finger-handling, picking, picking and scratching of the face and head, the unclean, unbuttoned clothing, the chronically soiled hands and nails, and the many and varied other shortcomings and omissions—all these, when control ceases either individually or collectively, aid in planting and distributing seeds of uncleanness and their cumulative effects will make you their unwilling victim.

Let us keep before us the urgent necessity of maintaining and improving our cleanliness and our sanitary conditions. Cleanliness should be accessible to all. It is a most profitable investment for the health, comfort, improvement, and continuance of the race.

RUTH DRAPER SCORES
LONDON (AP)—Without scenery, orchestra or choiring wardrobe, Ruth Draper, American biologist, filled the Garrick theater for a two-week engagement, during which performances were often prolonged until 11:30 because of the applause.

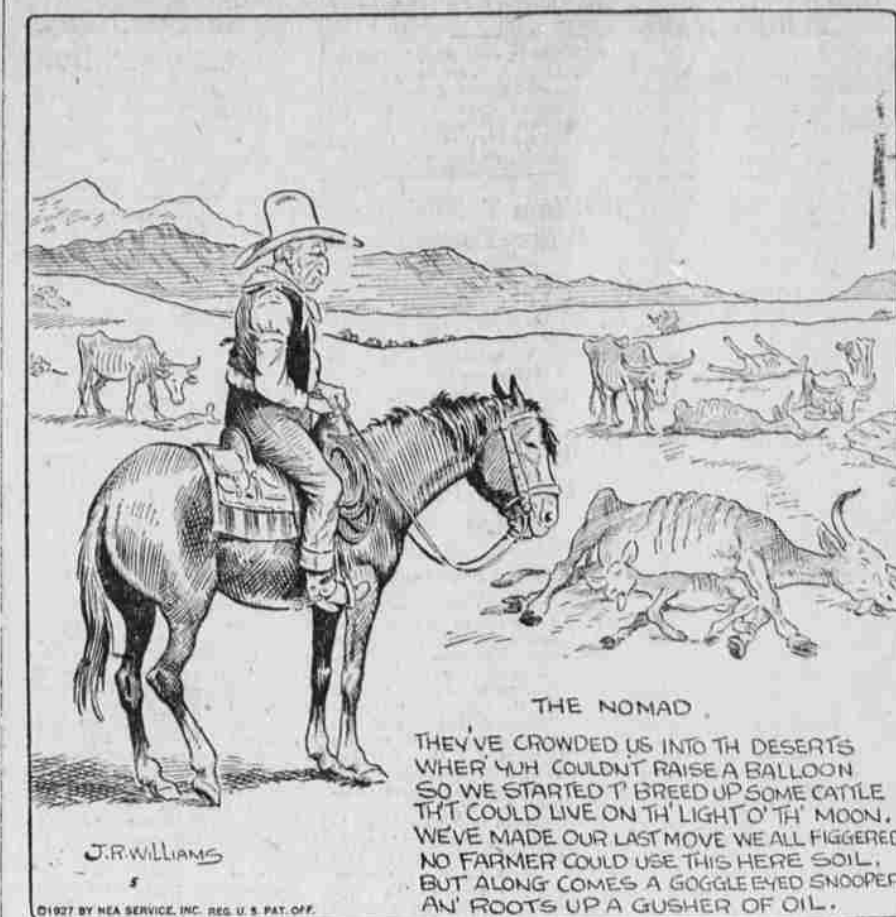

Her audiences included old ladies in bath chairs wearing Victorian bonnets, modern flappers and mannishly dressed women of the intelligentsia.

KIMBALL

1857-1927

The romance of a Great Piano

DURING the seventy years that have passed since the house of Kimball was founded in Chicago, then a pioneer settlement, it has steadily won and held recognition with music lovers. Today the Kimball piano is a prized possession in American households by the hundred thousand.

Eminent pianists, operatic artists and leaders in music in succeeding generations have chosen the Kimball for their personal use. At international expositions it has won highest honors wherever shown.

Yet the Kimball price-standard is impressively moderate, due to great production resources and long experience in manufacturing.

When you hear the wonderful tonal power and purity of the Kimball, you will realize how worthily its reputation has been earned. May we give you a demonstration today?
