"Yes—None, kosh dingle, one of them Pollock girls comes down and carries it off with a pair of calves."

ABSENT-MINDED
"How," says, where in blazes are you two worthless boobies going?
Why don't you get to work?"
"We're working, boss.
We're carrying the load plank up to do mill."

"Blank! I don't see any plank!"
"Blank! Well, fol de Lawd's nose, Sam, if we hadn't gone and cleaned out de plank!"

AT THE THEATERS

Forest Fire Provides Realism For Picture

With motion picture production yearly becoming bigger, if not always better, the producers are rapidly putting to rest such carping critics who still maintain that a stage production can be staged as realistically as a picture. Very few hip, spectacular scenes on the screen now are "faked" as they were of yore and the producers are leaving nothing untried to give their patrons realism plus plenty of thrills.

Airplanes are actually wrecked in mid-air; real locomotives come together head-on to provide a "punch" for a picture. Ships are actually sunk daily and weekly off the California coast to make a cinema holiday for the fans. And the latest to record is that of a motion picture company involving in the forests of Oregon and there, with actual fire and flame rising through acres of timber land, staging a forest fire scene that almost sings your eyebrows as you look at it on the screen from a front seat.

This has been done in "Flames," the feature picture at the State today and Saturday. It is the big dramatic climax of the picture, porting a fine finish to an amusing, exciting and melodramatic story of the Northwest, Joan Heesholt, Virginia Vall and Eugene O'Brien play the leading roles.

"Cupid and the Clock" is the company's showing.
Sunday brings the ever popular Richard Dix in "Quicksand," a stirring tale of the Mexican border.

Colleen Moore Here In "Naughty But Nice"

A galloping romance is the way someone has described "Naughty But Nice," the most recent First National picture bringing Colleen Moore to the screen.
"That's just what it is, a galloping romance."
Sometimes, however, a gallop seems too slow a pace for this love comedy, for it gathers momentum with each scene until it has everyone sitting on the edge of his seat.
That's the way it affected the audience that greeted the picture's first showing at the Arcade theater last night when it opened a three-day engagement.
The story tells how a shy, green little Texas wildflower bloomed under the influence of an exclusive Eastern finishing school, into a gorgeous wildflower. Some of the year's best comedy situations have been injected into the story, and the many daring scenes are handled in a deft, delightful way.

The skill and charm with which Miss Moore has invaded her role are certain to appeal to everyone who sees the picture because she has brought to the characterization of "Berndice Samboons" all the ylvvinity, insolence, wilful youthfulness, intensity that have made her known and loved wherever motion pictures are exhibited.

From the moment Colleen introduces Hallow Coober, a total stranger, as her husband she gets into hot water that makes the laughs hurtle as the water grows hotter.
Of a new comedy film, Oswald, the Lucky Rabbit, a later New and a Fisher are also being shown.

"Beau Geste" Coming To Arcade Sunday

The French Foreign Legion, the endless, gorgeous, giant sand dunes of the French Sahara, a famous, missing supply, hundreds of desert warriors sweeping an horseback to attack a lonely fort manned by 40 men, practically all in mutiny—there you have just a glimpse of the romance and thrills combined in "Beau Geste" which comes to the Arcade theater Sunday for an extended run.

No greater effort was ever put into the making of a motion picture. The romantic, thrilling screen mystery story, adapted from one of the most popular novels in years, represents a larger understanding than even "The Ten Commandments," which was also produced by Paramount.

Ronald Colman, Alice Joyce, Noah Berry, Mary Brian, Ned Hamilton, William Powell, Norman Trevor, Victor McLaglen and Ralph Forbes are featured, but there are scores of others nearly as prominent.

"Beau Geste" is a mystery story of the Foreign Legion on the deserts of Africa that will tighten your very skin with excitement.
