Campfire Girls Return To Home From Cove Camp

Seventeen girls returned to their homes in La Grande yesterday after attending the campfire girl camp held at the Episcopal church grounds at Cove by the Sacajawea campfire girl group and the auxiliary, Mrs. L. H. Aves.

The camp lasted for one week and on Wednesday 13 of the girls attending and their guardian climbed Mt. Fanny, hiking a distance of 15 miles. Upon reaching the top of the mountain the girls wrote their names in the book which is found there.

At the campfire council meeting on Saturday evening several girls received the taget finders' rank. They were Edna Jensen, Verla Melane, Helen Hughes, Opal Smith, Natalie Ebert and the guardian, Mrs. Aves.

The girls started ascending for this honor some time ago, when the climbed Mt. Emily and completed the work with the climb to the top of Mt. Fanny.

Several girls also received the Wabato order for good behavior in camp. They were Natalie Ebert, Verla Melane, Edna Towery, Edna Jensen, Thelma Inseth, Helen Hughes and Barbara and Juanita Sandanger.

The Rev. Schuyler Pratt, of the Episcopal church of Hood River, attended the council meeting Saturday night and talked to the girls.

All of the girls passed tests in swimming during the week, there being the pollywog, frog and fish tests. Verla Melane lacks one point of passing the fish test, which is the highest.

There were several visitors at the camp during the week.

Members of the Senior Christian Endeavor society of the First Presbyterian church went up Millcreek last evening, where the regular meeting of the society was held. Miss Bess Gelber is the leader.

The young people left La Grande at about 1:20 o'clock and proceeded to the meeting, enjoying a picnic supper.

Charles Levine, Drouhin Sign Up A New Contract

PARIS, Aug. 8. (AP)—Charles A. Levine and the French aviator, Maurice Drouhin, today signed a new contract. As soon as Levine deposits 200,000 francs the start of their Paris-to-New York flight will depend only on the weather conditions.

The contract provides that Drouhin shall receive 100,000 francs (about $4,000) for a year's services, dating from July 7, payable at the rate of 2000 francs weekly. In addition he will receive half the profits accruing from motion pictures, stories of the flight and so forth.

Levine agreed to deposit 500,000 francs with the Bank of France payable to Drouhin's wife at the rate of 10,000 francs a month for six months in case Drouhin is lost, the balance to be turned over at the end of that time.

With signature of the much delayed contract, Levine's attempt to return home by air and thus be the first man to fly the North Atlantic in both directions, may be possible within a few days. Everything now is ready for the hop off.

The women present were Mrs. T. H. Hefty, Mrs. G. E. Barker, Mrs. T. H. Conklin, Mrs. A. G. Conkire, Mrs. L. M. Taitel, Mrs. L. E. Anderson, Mrs. L. R. Lay, Mrs. Jack Pfeleber and her house guest, Miss Alice Pfeleber, Mrs. A. H. Orton, Mrs. Schuyler Pratt, of Hood River, Mrs. William M. Bradner, Mrs. J. Gayette and Mrs. H. S. French.

MENUS

By Sister Mary
BREAKFAST—Peaches, cereal, cooked with raisins, cream, crisp whole wheat toast, milk, coffee.
LUNCHEON—Baked eggs with hammy and cheese sauce, and liver with French dressing, health muffins, lemonade.
DINNER—Tenderloin of beef, browned potatoes, lima beans in cream, radishes and celery, muscovite of watermelon nut cookies, milk, coffee.
The dinner suggested would make an ideal hot weather company dinner as it is, but if a more elaborate meal is wanted a salad course could be added. A tomato aspic would combine with the other dishes and has the advantage of requiring no last minute preparation.
Muscovite of Watermelon
Four cups shredded watermelon, 2 1/2 cups powdered sugar, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 tablespoons orange juice, few gratings nutmeg.
The melon should be seeded and the pink flesh picked fine with a fork. Sprinkle with orange and lemon juice and sugar. A melon not naturally sweet will need more than 2 1/2 cups sugar. Add one or two gratings of nutmeg and turn into freezer. Freeze without stirring. Pack in four parts ice to one part salt and let stand three hours. Serve in sherbet glasses.

Society Deserts Dressmakers' Shops

PARIS (AP)—Until bad weather drives them from the seashore and the resorts where they are resting up, society's members will not be seen in Parisian dressmaking saloons.

Ordinarily the newcomer finds as much interest in the shoppers as in the styles. But there is a noticeable dearth now of interesting people in the Rue de la Paix and the Champs Elysees shops.

Professional buyers and bargain hunters dominate the scene.

When the fashionable shoppers return to Paris winter collections will have lost their new looks after several weeks of display. The maagnificents will have learned how best to wear the new models and the trend of the new style will be definitely known.

It is significant that Paris dress houses do not show advance winter styles at summer resorts, although each spring they send summer models to winter resorts. The well dressed world hates to say good-bye to summer.

Movies' Brilliant Premieres Give Thrill To Hollywood Star-Gazers

By Wade Werner (Motion Picture Feature Editor)
HOLLYWOOD, (AP)—Those people who crowd around the entrance of a motion picture theater on a big opening night in or near Hollywood see a brilliant pageant with a stellar cast.

The night sky above them is awash with flashing searchlights. The street flames with bunting and glitters with arc-lights. Roofs across the street are full of spectators. There are heads in every window. Happers cling to fire-escapes and clamber to the tops of parked automobiles.

It is really a big night, and celebrities are here by the hundreds. Mary Pickford gets a big hand from the crowd as she steps into the lake of light with her husband, Douglas Fairbanks, and how Gloria Swanson thrills the throng! Her husband, the Marquis de Falaise, seems to enjoy it. John Gilbert arrives with a party of hangers-on. Sophie, the Japanese character actor, stops the show when he arrives in conventional black with Madame Sojin all color in oriental costume.

"Ah!" gasps the crowd as another splash of color bursts into view. It is Tom Mix in a purple tuxedo, a purple froak and a broad, black sombrero. He stops to shake hands with youngsters who have wriggled their way to the very edge of the path of glory. Back in the crowd other children wave hands from atop the shoulders of their parents.

Announcers are bellowing the names of arrivals: Mae Busch—the Schickelpruths, Rudolph and Joseph—Jack Holt—Marie Prevost—Bessie Love—Wallace Beery—Raymond Hutton—Colleen Moore—Rod LaTogque and Verna Banks—Dolores del Rio—Laura La Plante—May McAvary—Anta—Sewart—Bebe Daniels and Charlie Faddock—Ernest Torrence—C. Mother of Bishop Remington Passes

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 8. (AP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Bailey Remington, 86, died here yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles Carver Jr., after a short illness resulting from cerebral hemorrhage. Mrs. Remington was the widow of the late Joseph Price Remington, dean of the Philadelphia college of pharmacy, scientist and author. She was the mother of Dr. William P. Remington, Episcopal bishop of Eastern Oregon.

Mrs. Remington had been a Portland resident for three years. The funeral services were set for this afternoon at the Carver residence, Bishop Remington officiating.

What's Your Financial Ambition?
The Success You Dream and Think About
Do you ever wonder how much better off you'll be financially ten years from now?—twenty or thirty years? Have you got a definite ambition to be worth at least so much by the time you are a certain age, or to have a certain independent annual income?
Most people have financial ambitions—have to have if they get anywhere. One man may attain his goal by careful, regular savings that can be invested in gilt-edged bonds. Another may desire real estate holdings that will return a certain income.
Your immediate ambition may be a home of your own, or a small fruit acreage, or a business of your own. Only by having such definite ambitions and planning intelligently for them, can you hope to make your dreams come true. Your banker is always ready and glad to aid your planning with friendly and experienced counsel.
