57 BUSHELS OF WHEAT ON VALLEY ACRE

Harvesting Is Gaining Headway Throughout Union County

150,000 BUSHELS ARRIVE AT MILLS

Island City Company Working Day and Night to Prepare 5000 Barrels for China.

With the wheat harvest in the Grande Ronde valley in full blast another record yield, better than the one reported five days ago, has been received by the Pioneer Flour Mill at Island City.

The wheat was grown by L. C. Kennedy on his farm about a mile and a half east of La Grande, on the Cove market road. He had a 25-acre field of 57-bushel wheat and from it harvested 154 bushels, a little better than 27 bushels to the acre.

Combine Saved Crop

In spite of the fact that Mr. Kennedy had an extra heavy stand of wheat, things looked gloomy for him following the heavy rain storm, which caused much of the grain of the valley to fall over. His crop was damaged considerably by the storm, but S. T. Halley went into the field with his Holt combine and was able to save practically all of the fallen grain.

150,000 Bushels In

At present the Pioneer Flour mill has received about 150,000 bushels of wheat, about 25,000 bushels have been received at all of the Island mills in the county, which handle a large portion of the grain harvested here.

Many orders for flour have been received at the company's office at Island City, and at present the mill is working both day and night preparing a shipment of 5000 barrels of flour, which will be sent to China, to leave from the Portland port Aug. 22. A large order was also been received from the Island of Guatemala.

Weather Is Not Favorable For Flights To U. S.

PARIS, Aug. 12 (AP)—Prospects were not bright this morning for trans-Atlantic flights. While there was some hope that three French pilots camping at Le Bourget might take off Sunday on their trans-Atlantic expedition the idea was not encouraged by French weather men.

Based on their calculations on messages from ships making weather observations on the Atlantic by government orders, these experts insist there is little chance of proper flying weather until the beginning of next week.

Charles A. Levine, owner of the Bellanca plane Columbia, which is ready for a return flight to America with Maurice Drouhin as pilot, appears to share the pessimism of the weather experts.

M'ADOO TALKS OF 'PRIVATE RIGHTS'

Lawless Liberty Is Not Freedom, But Anarchy, Western Demo Says

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Aug. 12 (AP)—Lawless liberty is not freedom, but anarchy, William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, said today in an address before the University of Virginia's institute of public affairs.

All liberty must be restricted to the point where it is compatible with the liberty of all, the speaker said.

"There cannot be private rights in any proper sense of the term except as they are defined and determined by the community acting through its appropriate organs, he continued.

"Whenever a question arises, for example, concerning the relation of public utilities, the prevention of fraudulent security issues, the protection of the health of women and children, or the control of traffic in habit-forming drugs and beverages, the first and greatest obstacle to be overcome is almost sure to be argument that whatever might otherwise be a valid exercise of the state's police power is a wrongful invasion of private rights."

In the past, Mr. McAdoo said, this argument had been commonly used only against legislative bodies and not against constitutional provisions, it being assumed that the scope of private rights could extend no farther than the terms of constitutional guarantee.

Now, however, he added, it is being contended, "under the pretenses chiefly of a dislike for one of the recent amendments to the constitution," that there are rights which are snared from interference by society even when acting in its constitution-making capacity.

Thomas Jefferson, continually appealed to as an exponent of private rights, believed in inherent natural rights, he said, as belonging to communities or societies but not to private individuals.

80,000 RED MEN REVOLT IN BOLIVIA

White Residents of South American Sections in a State of Terror

REBELLION SPREAD LAID TO RADICALS

If All of Indians Should Go on Warpath, Move May Assume Nature of a Catastrophe.

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Aug. 12 (AP)—The uprising of eighty thousand Indians which has kept white residents of the departments of Potosi, Cochabamba, and Sucre in a state of terror for several days, appears to be spreading throughout the republic.

Stories of depredations are filtering in from all points and white landholders are fleeing before the infuriated descendants of the ancient Incas to more populated centers.

Whites in Minority Active measures are being taken by the government to prevent a spread of the rising to the departments of La Paz. There are approximately 200,000 Indians in this department, with the whites decidedly in the minority, and fears are voiced by officials that if the movement does reach La Paz, it might easily assume the nature of a catastrophe.

The charges are being made in congress by the minister of interior that communist agents are responsible for the outbreak, inciting the Indians to nation-wide rebellion to establish the supremacy of their race and obtain ownership of all lands. He told the newspaper El Diario that the rebellion had entered a grave phase, inasmuch as many Indians had obtained firearms in the use of which they are famed.

Slain by Indians White inhabitants of the three departments, where the disturbances started, have been slain and their homes burned by the Indians, who, armed for the most part with clubs and slingshots, are reported to be out to destroy every vestige of the white man's civilization.

Indians comprise about 70 per cent of Bolivia's population. To cope with the situation, the Bolivian government is hurriedly dispatching troops from various concentration points and several bloody clashes already have occurred.
