Revised Scripture: Parents obey your children in the Lord or you'll catch the devil.

Sometimes talk is cheap. Sometimes it isn't. Just saying "I do" may cost half of anything you have.

Proud Father—What shall we call it?
Proud Mother—Let's call it Quits.

The apparel often proclaims the man and the lack of it the stylish woman.

"What does a hush show?" asks a beauty specialist. We can't answer off hand, but it seldom shows through.

They say there were only two men in the world who ever really understood women. One of them committed suicide and the other one is in the hospital.

A model man is usually considered an old model by the flapper.

"I hope dear," said the bride of the traveling salesman, "that you'll think of me every day while you're gone."
"Yes, dear, I will," responded hubby absently. "I'll make a memorandum of it."

A man recently shot his wife because she refused to speak to him. A man like that deserves to hang.

As long as 95 per cent of the thinking is done by five per cent of the people, there will always be a few people who will get ahead and a whole lot who will remain behind.

AT THE THEATERS

"Covered Wagon" Of Pioneer Days Lives in Film

Among the historic settings for "The Covered Wagon" is James Cruze's dramatization for Paramount of Emerson Hough's story of the wagon train of 1845 which opened a three day run at the Arcade theater today for a second triumphant showing. In old Fort Bridger—the oldest settlement in Wyoming, it was made a trading post in 1822 and lay on the middle branch of Black Forks of the Green River.

Which first established Fort Bridger was in territory belonging to Mexico. It became a favorite for trading establishment. In 1847 the Mormons migrated to Salt Lake Valley and a new element was introduced. Then came the immigration to the gold fields of California and the mighty trail to Oregon which former expeditions continued until several years later when the Union Pacific Railroad was built. Bridger reaped a golden harvest and helped many an immigrant on his journey.

Not only the old post but Jim Bridger himself lives again in this superb film spectacle which was produced with a wealth of accurate detail and which depicts the coming of the families from the old trading point—Westport, Landing, now Kansas City, Mo.—to the west.

No more fascinating period exists in American history. The trappers, the scouts, Indians and goldseekers are the most picturesque figures that can be found in the records of this country and the vitality of the west marks the greatest epoch in the development of the United States.

J. Warren Kerrigan and Luis Witton play the leading roles. Alan Hale is the villain. The cast is artistic and satisfying.

"Between Dangers" A Knockout For Thrills

A Western drama bubbling over with tense excitement and stirring incidents is the attraction Tuesday at the big theater. It is called "Between Dangers" and stars Buddy Roosevelt, one of the Pacific featured Western players.

This picture is a knockout as far as thrills are concerned. In the very first scene one gets an inkling of the impending clash of opposing forces and throughout the picture one is never sure just what the turn of events will lead to.

Buddy Roosevelt plays the part of Tom Rawling, a young man who has fallen heir to a ranch left to him by his uncle. His papers are stolen and he is unable to identify himself as the rightful owner.

Complications set in. He is accused of murder and robbery, and there is talk of lynching him. From then on events move with lightning speed to a climax that ends in a breath-taking fight on the brink of a high cliff.

From all angles, this picture is distinctive. The element of suspense and mystery has been expertly worked into the story and combined with the thrilling situations, makes a piece of screen entertainment well worth seeing.

The picture, which was directed by Richard Thorpe, has a fine supporting cast which includes Anna Raymond, Charles Thurston, Dennis Young, A. Taylor and others.

A featured comedy and a Fables are also a part of the program for the second family day at the Star, so named as the entire family is admitted for one big ticket.

Traffic signs are supposed to arrest attention, and traffic officers to arrest inattention.
