A BARBER?

News item in Omaha Bee News: "Mrs. Ruth Jones, 2702 Bristol street, complains that her husband, James R., a barber, was prone to go for days without speaking to her. She filed a petition for divorce."

A policeman was walking his beat in a residential district when a badly battered house-to-house salesman rushed up to him.

"Say, officer," he panted, pointing to a red-headed woman, who had just eluded on his wagon, "I want you to arrest that man. Just look what he did to me!"

Walking meditatively into the street, the policeman asked the red-headed woman, "Did you hit this man?"

"Oh, did," was the shameless reply. "What for?"

"Allegation of affections," replied the woman. "He said I'd hit his wife's car with my electric lawnmower."

SEVEN FAIRY TALES

I "My price for the suit," said the tailor, "is one hundred dollars, but it isn't worth a penny over twenty-five."

"Another word out of you," cried the heaped-up husband in his razing wife, "and I'll house the coal scuttle off your ear."

"I 've," said the great theatrical producer, "I shall close the play tomorrow night. Of course, it is making big money, but I feel that it is not real art."

"I never caught a really big fish in all my life," said the fisherman.

"You have seen the hours from top to bottom," said the real estate agent, "and I strongly advise you not to buy it."

"Our merchandise," announced the advertisement, "is not so bad. You might possibly do worse."

"Nonsense," cried the professional pugilist, "I don't want a penny if I win. The fame, that, is quite enough."

LOVEY DOVEY STUFF

While hoating on the bay at midnight, I saw the woman's arm. She had round a neck of land. To keep its shoulder warm. This made me jealous as could be. It really made me sore. And so I paddled toward the land. And closely hugged the shore.

OUT OUR WAY

OH-HOH-HO-IM SO WORRIED THAT WE WONT FIND THEM ALL. WE'VE ONLY FOUND ONE IN ALL THIS DISTANCE. OH WHY DID THAT STRING HAVE TO GO AND BREAK? THEY'RE REAL PEARLS TOO.

DONT WORRY, DONT WORRY, WE'VE ONLY COME FOUR MILES, THER ALONG HERE SOMMERS.

THE ROUND UP.

AT THE THEATERS

"The Climbers" Is Thrilling Romance

"The Climbers," Warner Bros' rather historical romance starring Irene Rich, is a thrilling love story of both Old Spain and New Spain.

The background for the opening chapters in the Spain of the early nineteenth century. When the throne of King Ferdinand VII was endangered by political intrigue, New Spain, Spain in America, with atmosphere of adventure unhampered by conventionalities yields the environment to later sequences.

Miss Rich is seen as the Duchess of Aragon, a lady whose popularity in the royal court causes her to be made the object of a conspiracy which culminates in her banishment to New Spain.

Forrest Stanley, who plays the leading male role in "The Climbers," is used as the foot in the plot. Likewise a member of the Spanish nobility, his banishment to New Spain lays the structure for the plot unfolded in the new land of adventure and romance.

Fiorella Fairbanks is seen in an important role as the daughter of Miss Rich, who when separated from her father, mother, courageously seeks to follow her.

Others in the cast are Clyde Cook, Myrna Loy, Anders Randolph, Rosemary Cooper, Nigel Harrie, Hector Sarno, Joseph Striker, Max Barwin, Martha Franklin and Dot Farley. Paul L. Stein directed the making of the picture which is based on Clyde Rusk's stage play.

"The Climbers" is showing at the Colonial Theater today and Wednesday.

"Between Dangers" Is Thrilling Western Drama

He has a pleasing personality and a screen presence that immediately arouses interest. There is not a single harsh note in his acting, the fact of the matter being that one doesn't feel that Buddy is acting at all.

He gives the impression that the events which are actually happening and it is this element of logic that probably has a great deal to do with the vividness of his picture.

The action of the story centers around Tom Rawlins (Buddy Roosevelt) and his attempts to get possession of the ranch willed to him by his uncle. He is sand-bagged and his identification papers stolen by some crooks, one of whom impersonates him in order to get the ranch. Tom, however, follows them up and in spite of many obstacles, wins out both in war and love.

This is undoubtedly one of the most thrilling Westerns that have come this way in many months. Roosevelt is given excellent support, and Alma Rayford is particularly charming in the role of leading lady. The picture, presented by Lester F. Scott, Jr., is from the story by Walter J. Colburn and was directed by Richard Thorpe.

Other attractions of the program include a comedy and fables.

Time Adds Glory To Famous "Covered Wagon"

James Cruze's Paramount production "The Covered Wagon" is still entitled to a place at the head of the list. There has never been such a picture as this one which made a triumphant return to the Arcade theater last night when it will be shown again today and Wednesday.

The production is undoubtedly one of the most magnificent screen presentations ever shown here. If you saw it on its original visit, you can well afford to see it again but if you missed it at that time, you can't afford to miss it again!

The long line of excellent players is headed by J. Warren Kerrigan and Lois Wilson. The latter will be remembered for her fine work in "The Vanishing American."

As Will Barton, leader of a wagon train, Kerrigan falls in love with Molly Wingate (Miss Wilson) whom he meets when his wagon joins those headed by his father (Charles Ogle). Alan Hale, playing the role of Sam Woodhull, a scoundrel, is engaged to Lois and later rivalry arises between him and Barton.

Throughout the story, Woodhull is set on "getting" Barton. After a series of thrilling events, he encounters Barton in California where the latter has made a fortune in the gold fields. Woodhull is about to shoot from ambush when Jackson, an old scout, sees Woodhull and kills him. Barton is informed that he has been cleared of certain charges and— but see this fine picture! The passage of time has only served to add to its glory!
