New Feature of Annual Exposition in Portland
Is Arranged for

A new feature of the Pacific International Livestock Exposition to be held at Portland, Oregon, on October 25 to November 5, is the Pacific International Wool Show. This exhibit will be held under the auspices of the Pacific Cooperative Wool Growers, with C. E. Greife, member of that association and director of the Pacific International, in direct charge.

"This show is open to every wool and mohair grower, whether a member of the wool growers association or not. All growers will receive the same consideration," announces Mr. Greife. "Rides and shipping tags may be secured by writing to the Pacific Cooperative Wool Growers, 461 Davis Street, Portland, Ore. Prizes may be sent to their warehouse at any time, where they will be taken care of and held for the show. "This is a real opportunity for wool and mohair growers to have their clips judged by the leading

BOSTON RIOTS MARK FINAL SACCO-VANZETTI HOURS

Rioting and protest over final decision that Sacco and Vanzetti, condemned radicals, must die, was marked in Boston with arrest of rioters. This NEA service photograph to The Observer shows, above, arrest of radicals picketing the state house, with the ringleaders, Harry Cantor, New York (left) and Alfred Baker (center) being led away by police. Below, picketing of the State House in the Sacco-Vanzetti protest.

PORTUGUESE GIRL
STUDIES AVIATION

LISBON (AP)—Portugal is the latest country to present to the world a "first woman aviator." "Other women become doctors, lawyers and professors, why shouldn't I be an aviator?" asks Miss Maria de Lourdes de Sa Telesda, 19-year-old daughter of a Portuguese army officer and her country's pioneer aviator. She has matriculated at the Military Aviation school.

CHICAGO FLYING CLUB
ALLOWS WOMEN TO JOIN

CHICAGO (AP)—Women have a big feature in aviation, in the opinion of Mrs. E. Lewis Campbell, president of the Women's Flying club of Chicago.

An auxiliary of the Chicago Flying club, the organization has 15 women members. Mrs. Campbell believes women pilots will be in demand in the advertising field. Several women's clothing firms, she has learned, contemplate advertising their merchandise by sky-writing and other ways in which airplanes can be utilized.

Women who would be pilots have a "lot of real nerve," she says. "It's no fun with them. They are trying for government flying licenses, and it won't be long until they get them."

POKER LOSER PAYS

NEW YORK—Folks who lose at poker in Florida must pay, apparently. Miguel J. Wolf lost $500 to Max Thuma at Miami City Court Justice Evans gave Thuma judgment pointing out that "Florida does not choose to civilly penalize the game of poker." Such debts are not collectible under a New York statute if contracted in New York.
