ENTERTAINS NORTHEAST LUMBER MEN

Retailers Special Train Stops in La Grande Saturday Afternoon

VISITORS INSPECT TWO LOCAL MILLS

Five Score Members of Party Guests at Dinner and Motion Picture Showing in Evening.

About 100 lumber men and their wives, forming a special train known as the Northeastern Retail Lumber Men's special which stopped in La Grande Saturday afternoon en route west, were in attendance at a dinner given at Honan hall Saturday night by the Eastern Oregon Pondosa Sales company and Eastern Oregon lumber men. About 25 Union, Wallowa and Baker county lumber men were in attendance.

Aug. J. Stange presided at a very brief and informal after dinner program. He called upon Leon Stoddard and Mr. Ogden, the president of the Pennsylvania Retail Lumber Men's association.

Mr. Stoddard, of the Pondosa company, spoke of the origin and purpose of the Eastern Oregon Pondosa Sales company and how Oregon white pine got its name. He expressed the hope that the visitors had had an instructive as well as a pleasant visit here and that they would carry away a good impression of Eastern Oregon.

Outstanding Feature

Mr. Ogden thanked the Eastern Oregon Pondosa Sales company and the Eastern Oregon lumber men for the entertainment and said that the stop here had been an outstanding feature of their trip.

Before introducing the speaker Mr. Stange related the purposes in having the lumber train stop in La Grande. Incidentally, this was the only stop in a pine producing country.

A very excellent dinner was served by the guild of the Episcopal church and a complimentary special edition of The Observer, printed especially for the visiting retailers, was distributed during the dinner.

Views Motion Pictures

After the dinner motion pictures, illustrating logging operations, were shown upstairs through the courtesy of the Bunting Tractor company. The pictures showed the use of caterpillar tractors in the woods and created a great deal of interest.

During the afternoon the lumber men were shown through the two local mills and Saturday night the train continued on its way to Tacoma for the national convention of Retail Lumber Men's association.

SPRINT SAVES HOUSE FROM DESTRUCTION

A long sprint from the Bowman-Hicks boarding house to the fire alarm box Saturday near midnight probably saved the wooden structure from being razed by fire, it is reported this morning.

At 11:40 o'clock a fire was discovered near the kitchen and the man who found it ran several blocks to turn in the alarm. Speed on the part of the fire department in answering the call confined the damage to a small amount.

It is believed that a cigaret may have caused the blaze.

OUT IN THE VALLEY

The blanket covering of the city of La Grande by The Observer is always taken for granted—with over 1700 papers delivered to readers here each evening. But it is sometimes forgotten that you who live on the farms and in the smaller towns of the two counties make up another group of readers almost equal in size to that of the city.

On the rural routes out of La Grande, for example, The Observer goes by its own carriers and by rural carriers to over 95 per cent of the box holders each day. Nearly as perfect coverage is available on the other rural routes in the valley. There are more guaranteed paid rural subscribers to The Observer than to any other two papers in the two counties combined. Is it any wonder that The Observer is so generally recognized as the most economical and effective medium available in this territory.

Riverside Park Church Service Attracts Fifty

About 50 persons gathered at Riverside park yesterday afternoon at five o'clock for the union church services which were held there with the Rev. J. A. Hall, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church south, as speaker. The Leif H. Awes, pastor of the English Lutheran church, presided over the services.

"The Fatherhood of God" was the subject of the Rev. Mr. Hall's sermon, in which he told of the acceptance of God as the father of creation, and as a preserver of families. He used the theory of the prodigal son in showing God's love for the people of the world.

Although several of the churches of the city are having vacation this month, the attendance was good for the summer season at the churches where morning services were held.

The English Lutheran church resumed services yesterday, after several week's vacation

In addition to the union service in the afternoon evening services were held at the Central Christian church, the Church of God and Church of The Nazarene.

This evening the congregation of the Christian church will begin a series of college prayer meetings. The meeting places this evening will be the Frank Millering and Hawley homes with Mr. Roberts and Joe Williams as leaders.

The stipulation between attorneys setting out the important parts of the settlement follows:

REYNOLDS SETS COURSE RECORD

Strokes 18 Holes in 71, One Above Par — Mrs. Perkins Turns in 95

A new course record for the La Grande country club was set over the week end when Charles Reynolds shot a 71, excelling by two shots the recently established record of 73 shot by the professional of Walla Walla, C. Jefferson. Mr. Reynolds came within one shot of making a par 70. Five birdies and consistent pars were made on the two rounds, the scores of which were 34 and 37. Mr. Jefferson, now the nearest contender for the low score, had one 34 and a 39 in the Walla Walla tournament a week ago when he made his 73.

The La Grande professional, Jack Renner, R. J. Campbell and H. B. Jamieson, of Enterprise completed the foursome in which Mr. Reynolds participated when the record was made. Mr. Reynolds shot the first three holes in three each making birdies on the first two. Three putts on the fourth hole gave him a five, one over par. A par four on five, a four on six, a par four on seven, a par four on eight, and a birdie four on nine completed the first round, totalling 34.

On his second round Mr. Reynolds played the first two holes in five, the next one in a par three, the fourth hole in a birdie four, and six in a birdie two. On the seventh hole he again shot a par four while on the eighth and ninth he turned in a five and a six. It is thought by local fans that Mr. Reynolds' total score will not be equalled for some time although his individual round tally may be surpassed. Other than Mr. Reynolds no scores under 80 have ever been submitted by local golfers, it is said.

Mrs. Perkins Shoots 95

Still another record was established over the week end when Mrs. W. C. Perkins, shooting a 95, broke all women's records for the course. Mrs. Perkins used, with but two exceptions, the men's tees when she shot the two rounds in 46 and 49.

Two members of the Carpenters' union, Perry Blanchard and Thomas Hodgson, went to Pendleton this morning to attend a combined meeting of the Pendleton Central Labor council and Carpenters' union and to discuss the possibilities of electing a queen to represent Pendleton here Sept. 5. An attempt will also be made to intercat the Pendleton organizations in participating with La Grande at the celebration.

OCEAN HOLDS SECRET OF 7 DOLE FLYERS

Aviation World Turns Eyes Westward Today with a Heavy Heart

NO TRACE FOUND OVER WEEK END

Residents of Honolulu, Continue to Hope That Miss Doran and Men Will Be Rescued.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 22 (AP)—The aviation world turned eyes westward today and with a heavy heart watched aircraft, naval vessels and merchant ships continue their intensive search in the trackless wastes of the Pacific for seven members of the flying fraternity who have not been heard from since leaving Oakland last week for Honolulu.

The efforts of 58 naval vessels, aided by merchant craft steering a course along the 2400-mile great circle between San Francisco and Honolulu after a six-day search failed to reveal any trace of the three missing planes—the Miss Doran, the Golden Eagle and the Dallas Spirit.

Flicker of Hope Dies

A faint flicker of hope regarding the plane carrying Miss Mildred Doran went up from Long Beach Cal., last night when a carrier pigeon landed there. At one time Miss Doran spoke of taking carrier pigeons on the flight and releasing them 150 and 200 miles out in the Pacific. Check of the markings on the bird revealed that it was a participant in a carrier pigeon race being conducted on the Pacific coast and had no connection with the San Francisco to Honolulu flyers.

Residents of Honolulu, mindful of the rescue of the late Commander John Rodgers, continued to express hope that the missing flyers would be found. Rodgers was found nine days after his seaplane was forced down.

Five-hundred launches on both the east and west shores of the Hawaiian islands have failed to give any indication of airplanes or of their crews. Every sampan (Japanese fishing boat) has been checked, but their occupants have brought no word or indication of hope.

Continues to Hope

William Malloska, Michigan millionaire and backer of the flight of the Miss Doran, said he would not give up hope of finding the plane and its occupants until seven days had passed. He believes the plane and its occupants may still be found floating, with the crew and Miss Doran hale, starved, but uninjured.

A jury trial was held about ten days ago in the justice court, which resulted in a hung jury. At that time a retrial was set for today.

Arguments in Kelley Case Being Heard in Salem Tribunal Today

SALEM, Ore., Aug. 22 (AP)—With permission of the court and with opposing counsel agreeing, District Attorney John H. Carson and Attorney Allan Carson both participated in the opening argument for the state today in the habeas corpus proceeding brought in an effort to save Ellsworth Kelley from the gallows.

With completion of the divided opening argument court was adjourned until 1 o'clock when Attorney M. L. Pipes will begin his argument for Kelley.

Attorneys for James Willis, also under death sentence, said today that nothing further will be done in court for two or three days concerning the petition for stay of his execution pending a mental examination.

Allan Carson argued that the prisoner has no remedy in habeas corpus. Habeas corpus, he contended, does not constitute writ of review. He showed that the only questions pertinent were whether the trial court was a competent tribunal whether it had jurisdiction of the person and whether it had jurisdiction of the judgment rendered. He showed that the trial was regular in all these respects.

The petition for writ of habeas corpus the attorney said, seeks to make the court before which the case is now being heard an appellate court over department No. 1, over the state supreme court and over the United States supreme court.

District Attorney Carson argued that the statute under which Kelley was sent to the state penitentiary is constitutional.

A portion of his argument pointed out that in the trial court, in the state supreme court and in the United States supreme court it was contended in behalf of Kelley that he was a convict and he was so held by Chief Justice Taft, who was quoted:

"Nothing else was ever asserted," said Carson, "but now they come in with an argument that is diametrically opposed to that and claim he was not a convict."

Accident Death Toll In Oregon Swelled Sunday

Portland Carpenter Victim of Surf — Boy Is Drowned When Swimming to Float.

TWIN ROCKS, Ore., Aug. 22 (AP)—Lawrence Anderson, 27, Portland carpenter, was drowned yesterday when he was swept out in the surf while bathing. His uncle, W. R. Buhler, of Portland, made a futile effort to rescue him.

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 22 (AP)—Dale Lionberger, 17, was drowned yesterday at Blue Lake park when he sank suddenly while attempting to swim to a float. Efforts of lifesavers to find the body were unavailing for 20 minutes. When the boy was found a pulmotor was used, but he could not be resuscitated.

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 22 (AP)—Struck by an auto while walking across the west approach of the Burnside bridge Saturday night, Fred E. Day, 68, a watchman for the Oregon, Washington Railroad and Navigation company, was killed. His body was identified Sunday when his wife reported to the police that he was missing.

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 22 (AP)—Paul C. Garrison, 48, lumberman and real estate dealer, drowned yesterday in Rainy Lake about three quarters of a mile east of Union avenue near Columbia boulevard. His body was recovered by the harbor patrol following notice from C. F. Schiemelfenig that he had found Garrison's clothing on the bridge.

Until three years ago, Garrison was western representative of the A. R. Rogers Timber company of Minneapolis, Minn., at Bend and Prineville. Since that time he has been a dealer in real estate and timber in Portland.

Government To Investigate 'Tin' In South Oregon

GRANTS PASS, Aug. 22 (AP)—Financial assistance necessary to carry to a conclusion the government white metal investigations now under way here has been assured through the visit yesterday of William Spry, commissioner of the general land office of Washington.

"I have gone over the samples of the metal taken out and they look mighty good to me," declared the commissioner. "I am fairly well satisfied that you have a good thing here. You need financial assistance and we are prepared to give you such assistance as may be necessary. If you have anything here we want to help you get it. That is what the interior department is for—to develop resources."

Commissioner Spry, formerly governor of Utah for two terms, spent a day conferring with S. W. F. Boyer, division inspector, and H. W. Merrin and Horace Burritt, mineral inspectors, who are now engaged in making a thorough test of the Southern Oregon white metal deposits.

Jimmy Johnston Leads With a 74

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 22. (AP)—Jimmy Johnston, of Minneapolis playing his home course, set the pace today in the first qualifying round of the national amateur golf championship with a 74, one stroke ahead of Bobby Jones, British open champion, and four better than the defending title holder, George Von Elm, who was all over the lot with his shots.

Donald Carrick, Toronto, Canadian champion, with a 72 took the lead over the field. Francis Ouimet tied with Jones at 75.

Carrick did not long hold the lead, as Phillips Finlay, a New York youth, came in with a pair of 36's for a par.

COURT HOUSE SINKING

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 22 (AP)—Cracks in the Multnomah county court house walls have been due to the building sinking three-quarters of an inch on the east side, said William Huntley Hampton, civil engineer, in a letter read today by the county commissioners. Hampton said the sinking was due to lack of proper footing for the building in a sand pile. He said many other buildings in the business section were in the same condition.

LITTLE HOPE IS HELD BY DOOMED MEN

Attempts to Save Sacco and Vanzetti Meet with No Success

SUPREME COURT REFUSES TO ACT

Stay of Execution Almost Wholly Up to Governor Fuller and Massachusetts Tribunals.

BOSTON, Aug. 22 (AP)—Attempts to save Sacco and Vanzetti this afternoon apparently were almost wholly back to Governor Fuller and Massachusetts state courts.

For United States Supreme Justices H. Holmes, Brandeis, Taft and Stone, had refused to intervene. Counsel for the two men then went before Governor Fuller for a stay to allow them further time to seek supreme justices, and also seeking to have Fuller order examination of federal department of justice records for possible new evidence.

The docketing of petitions for Sacco-Vanzetti writs of certiorari by the clerk's office of the United States supreme court at Washington is merely one step toward bringing the case before the court for review. It does not act as a stay of execution, and the matter of accepting the petitions must be approved by a single justice before they can go further.

Basis For Further Appeal

The fact that the case is pending, however, was made the basis for a further appeal by defense counsel today to Governor Fuller. Attorney Musmanno went to the state house this noon with letters to the governor asking for a respite on the ground that the legal proceedure had not been completed in the U. S. supreme court. One of the letters was written by Musmanno and a second by Attorneys Hill, Evaria and Field, who also addressed a similar letter to State Attorney General Reading.

Musmanno announced early today that Chief Justice Taft had sent him a telegram in which he announced his refusal to receive a petition for a stay of execution because the matter was outside his jurisdiction.

Musmanno added that Mr. Taft had advised him to go before one of the three supreme court justices now in this district if he wished action on such a petition. The defense attorney has appealed in vain to Justices Holmes and Brandeis and today Justice Stone declined to intervene.

Musmanno said that he expected to receive sometime during the day a decision from Chief Justice Hall of the superior on a petition for a stay laid before him last week.

Up to Judge Sisk

Elias Field, of defense counsel, said later that Chief Justice Hall had placed the petition for stay in the hands of Judge Sisk, of the superior court, who was with Chief Justice Hall at a conference with defense counsel last week. Field went to the Suffolk county court house to see Judge Sisk.

Upon returning from a conference with Judge Sisk, Field said that no action had been taken.

Boston during the forenoon had not serious outbreaks of violence in Sacco-Vanzetti demonstrations although 52 arrests were made when police broke up a picket line in
