"My little girl wants everything she sees," said a La Grande man, "which wouldn't be so disagreeable if it wasn't for the fact that she sees everything."

My new kid's name is Gladys. She's one of those two by four girls. I want her to be just like you. I want her to be just like you. I want her to be just like you.

"Haven't I told you, honey, that you'll wash your fingers if you drive nails?"

"Yes, I know, Dad, but Jane's holding the nail."

We have a little nephew and niece, seven and five years old, respectively. The little boy depends on his sister for advice. The children have been taught that "ain't" is not good grammar.

At the supper table the little brother said, "We are going to have some milk—ain't we?"

Not entirely satisfied with this pronunciation, the mother turned to her sister and said, "Annie, ain't we, is that right?"

Annie was stumped too. However, after serious pondering, she evinced the following solution: "Don't we is right, but don't say ain't."

Hotly: "I haven't a decent frock to wear in the party tonight."
Toss: "Then why not wear that indecent one you had on last night?"

Barber: "Your head is badly in need of a shampoo, etc."
Teller (to the barber's chair): "Year and your clothes are decidedly shabby, but I don't care about it."

He's a pet o' scores o' phenates. He's the blonde model's preference. When it comes to wimmen—we males. Doff our hats in deference. The boy's got an air so blazes. He's not satisfied by 'st' feel. It's 'st' type that no girl shames. Just a girl with "check's Appeal."

Hardware Clerk: "Would you be interested in something to finish your furniture, madam?"
Homemaker: "No, we have a baby."

One doctor says a woman is as low spirited when she is 41. But how does he know that, when some of them ever gets to be more than 39?

"I think there is something remarkable about a night watchman."
Watchman: "Yer right, ma'am; it settles in the pore of legs sometimes 'til I can't hardly walk."

Rather, Lady: Ah wants a fresh-colored bathing suit for mah gal, and Ah don't want no pink one, either.

Bids will be received to the hour of 7:30 o'clock P. M. AT THE THEATERS

Worthwhile Picture Is "College Days"

No one should miss seeing "College Days," which was shown for the first time here yesterday at the Columbia Theater. It is one of the best college pictures ever shown in this city. We can safely say that it tops the list insofar as that type of picture is concerned.

The story holds interest from the very beginning until the final fadeout. It has some of the prettiest girls and boys ever seen on the screen; it has beautiful photography, and plenty of suspense and thrills—all in all, it is a picture that should not be missed by those who like good screen entertainment.

"College Days" tells of the advent of a typical university youngster who entered a co-ed college and at once his love and attractiveness won for him a host of friends, mostly of the feminine sex. Naturally he falls in love and the sweetly told story of the courtship and many mistakes he has to overcome, all fit in to a perfectly directed and acted story.

A. P. Younker has written this clean, wholesome college tale. He was also responsible for the adaptation of "Frogs of Harvard" for the screen. The leading roles are taken by Marjorie Day, Charles Deane, James Harrison, Dunbar Thompson, Brooks, Benedict, Kathleen Key, Edna Murphy, Robert Hanson, Crawford Kent, Gibson, Gertrude, Lawford Davidson and Pat Harmon.

One of the pleasures of this interesting film entertainment is a certain university football game given an intercollegiate football game that for excitement has the audience at the edge of their seats. Richard Thorne is credited with the direction of the picture, and his skill can be found in the carefully chosen scenes. A. P. Younker is credited with supervising the production of "College Days."

The picture will be the feature attraction at the Columbia Theater last night.

"Frisco Sally Levy" Is Sparkling Comedy

"Frisco Sally Levy" a sparkling comedy romance of Irish-Jewish life with Sally O'Neil and Roy O'Arcy, shown to the Star Theater Tuesday and Wednesday. William Building, who directed Mary Pickard in "Little Annie Rooney" directed this new Metro-Goldwyn Mayer screen hit, in which Sally O'Neil plays the part of a headstrong and impudent girl courted by two lovers Roy O'Arcy to the Jewish lover and Charles Delaney the Irish lover. Tenen Teltz contributes a distinguished bit of character acting to this film as Sally's father, and Kate Price, as her mother, does equally good work.

The story is rich in humor, pathos and heart interest, being so profoundly true to life as to hold the attention from the first.
