Club Women Make Plans For First Meet of Season

Although it is yet early in the season several committees of the La Grande Neighborhood club have started work on the 1927-28 program. Mrs. Sherwood Williams, president, is preparing the program for the coming year, the first meeting of which has been set for Tuesday, Oct. 4.

The year book committee has started to work in earnest and the year's programs are now being outlined and made ready for the printing of the book, which will be mailed to all club members before the date of the first meeting.

The annual flower show committee, of which Mrs. Fay Williams is chairman, has also started work on this year's flower show, which will be held Sept. 15. Meetings of this committee are being held regularly and all plans for the show will soon be complete.

Women on the committee with Mrs. Williams are: Mrs. Adolph Stegert, Mrs. H. B. Colman, Mrs. H. K. O'Brien, Mrs. W. H. Hunter, Mrs. Earl Hough, Mrs. W. J. Lehman, Mrs. J. D. Stater, Mrs. Julia Holmes, Mrs. Frank Lilly, Mrs. Glover Grinneth, Mrs. Elmer Stoddard, Mrs. G. L. Larson, Mrs. C. S. Moore, Mrs. V. R. Melville, Mrs. J. W. Knowles, Mrs. F. H. Kiddle and Mrs. Lynn Bohmkamp.

Mrs. A. T. Hill, who is president of the Grande Ronde presbytery, went to Enterprise this morning and is attending a meeting of the Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church there this afternoon, where she will give a report of the biennial convention, which was held in Oakland, Calif., during the early summer.

Mrs. Hill attended the convention as a representative from the Grande Ronde presbytery and was the only person from this section of the state in attendance. She will spend all day in Walla Walla county and return to her home here tomorrow.

Announcements

The daughters of Utah Pioneers of the camp of the first ward of the L. D. S. church will meet at the home of Mrs. W. D. Hanks, at her home at 703 O Avenue, Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. All members are requested to be present.

MENUS

By Sister Mary
BREAKFAST—California grapes, cereal, cream, broiled fish, haddock, toasted corn bread, milk, coffee.
LUNCHEON—Devilled lobster, French fried potatoes, cucumber rings, spinach and egg salad, watermelon, lemonade.
DINNER—Fruit cocktail, veal and pork, chicken potatoes, stewed beef, carrot-potter and cabbage salad, stuffed baked apples with whipped cream, crisp cookies, milk, coffee.

The luncheon menu with its devilled lobster offers a suggestion for a company luncheon. A more elaborate dinner can be served, if preferred, but the simple one of chilled meat is in excellent taste.

Devilled Lobster
One two-pound lobster, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon paprika, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1 1/2 cups milk, buttered croutons.

Plunge lobster into a large kettle of boiling water to which 2 tablespoons salt have been added. Cover and bring quickly to the boiling point. Boil rapidly for five minutes and simmer twenty. The shell must be a bright red. Remove at once from boiling water and plunge into cold water. Sit down through the center between the claws. Remove black vein through the center. Crack claws and remove meat. Use tail fins and small claws for garnish. Cut meat in small cubes. Melt butter, stir in flour and when mixture bubbles slowly add milk, stirring constantly. Mix salt and lemon juice, stirring to make smooth. Add with pepper to sauce and bring to boiling point. Boil two minutes and add lobster meat. Scrape the shell of the lobster meat, removing lungs. Fill shell

HEALTH

DO YOU LIVE IN NO MAN'S LAND?

By Joseph Patrick Kane, M. D., and J. R. McNethey, M. D., Tacoma, Wash.

Member Gorkas Memorial Inst. There is a great strip of territory which lies between light-hearted, robust health and outright invalidism, a No Man's Land, where doctors cannot go because they are not invited and health officials can but look on and pour out advice and entreaty. Here live the children who are not the happy, healthy, promising men and women of tomorrow. Adenoids and diseased tonsils like fungus growths or parasitic vines, or rust or smut, such as we see in the vegetable kingdoms are sapping their vitality and destroying their natural growth and beauty.

If their parents cannot be convinced, whether they are inclined, we can do nothing, because the right of a parent, however ignorant or ill-fitted by nature or training to be a parent, always supersedes the right of the child to his best obtainable physical health. With bad teeth on which digestion and nourishment depend so much, with defective vision, with pale thin little bodies, what chance have they to accomplish their destiny?

If the parents of some of these children looked on them with the same critical apprehension with which they look upon the offspring of their livestock they would not hesitate longer as to what should be done. The majority of these children can be helped, many of them transformed into magnificent little human beings. That's where the sorrow comes in and that's why it is necessary to plead their case so strongly.

When we remember that children are the only representatives of our immortality that we can leave behind us, it is strange that they are so often dismissed with the familiarity of a Mohammedan, they are as they are.

Here in this No Man's Land live also men and women not sick to the point of prostration and not well enough to enjoy the gift of life fully. Many of them have forgotten what health is. The infections are at work. Years ago the germs which are killing them by inches found lodging in bad teeth, diseased gums, tonsils, and other nooks and crannies of their bodies, and like a slow poison are working their destruction.

Appendicitis, gall-bladder disease, heart disease, kidney disease, high blood pressure, apoplectic attacks, rheumatism, headaches—more and more we find these diseases and disabilities of middle life traceable to infections and defects which could have been prevented in childhood or in the first years of maturity. Even diabetes, the authority of Banting, who discovered insulin, is due to infection in half the cases at least.

As Robinson says in his "Mind in the Making": "We have avail-

Soviet Peasants Hoard Salt As War Scare Sweeps Over Nation

MOSCOW (AP)—The Union of Socialist Soviet Republics is in the grip of a "war scare," and the peasants have begun to hoard salt, sugar, tea and coffee. M. Rudenny, a former Cossack who is supreme commander of the Soviet Cavalry, in a popular figure, and receives ovations everywhere he goes from the populace, which now thinks that the spectacle of war is looming over the Russian frontier.

The intensive campaign for defense of the Union against imperialist countries, led by the official Soviet press in connection with the rupture of relations with Great Britain and Volokoff's murder in Warsaw, has precipitated a wave of "military hoards," "weeks of defense," "ways of aviation" and "harm fight" of all sorts, on a large and countrywide scale.

Workers, peasants and government employees are recommended to make "voluntary" contributions out of their meager salaries and incomes for the construction of war planes to bear identical names such as: "Young Communist," "Red Metallurg," "Red Doctor," "Baku Worker."

The capital of the Russian oil fields, Baku, is typical. There, during one week, the so-called "Week of Defense," over 60,000 rubles ($120,000) were collected among a 240,000 population, not counting much larger sums contributed by state and professional groups. Ten thousand new members have joined the ranks of the "Osoaviakhim" or Society of Defense, Aviation and Chemical Research, and fifteen rifle ranges have been opened for workers.

Moscow today looks as though the country might be on the eve of mobilization. On Sundays numerous detachments of workers, red scouts, young communists and boys and girls, preceded by brass bands playing ballroom tunes, march into the open country to carry on maneuvers and military games. Practical knowledge and ingenuity and material resources to make a far fairer world than that in which we find ourselves. Let's make it so by going away with "No Man's Land."

Movie Men Scan Censor's Marks, List Casualties

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A Casualty list of motion pictures which have had subtitles shut away, emotional scenes manipulated or plots taken apart by censors in various states, cities and foreign countries is being compiled at the Hollywood office of Will H. Hays, head of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America.

Jason Lee, member of Hays and censorship board of the Hays organization, who is organizing the casualty list, stresses the fact that the number of pictures suppressed by the censors' shears is extremely small in comparison with the thousands of reels passed without change. Nevertheless, instances collected since January 1, when he began indexing the casualties, are very interesting.

The index segregates the expurgations under such heads as crime, obscenity, cruelty, fire, gambling, poison, mangling, robbery, profanity, girl-love, dancing, kissing and lack of clothes.

At a scene in eliminated by the New York state board of censors, for instance, because it shows all the details of a snoring, a card game in the hotel under a card with the name of the picture, the reel number, a description of the matter eliminated and the name of the eliminating board.
