COVE PERSONALS
COVE (Sheela)—Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Jones and small son are invited here Thursday and are invited in the house, next to the Methodist church, on the highway. F. K. White has furnished 200 ends of wood for the school this year.
Miss Mildred Blehars, a student at O. A. C., is home for the summer vacation.
Miss Florence Delaney, of Portland, is visiting among her old friends here and her sister, Mrs. Mervet Alexander.
Miss Mildred Payton, of Baker, an O. A. C. student, and Miss Hazel Adams, of Union, a Coquille teacher, were overnight guests of Mrs. T. R. Conklin Wednesday.
Mrs. George Hadden and daughter, Rita, of Naupia, Ida, are guests of Mrs. Hadden's sister, Mrs. Cora Bloom.
Mrs. L. G. Senter, Mrs. L. M. Laird and Mrs. Ray Van Orsdale and two children, Lyle and Jean, accompanied by Mrs. Avery Harrison, of La Grande, were Pendleton visitors Wednesday. Mrs. Van Orsdale, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Schetter, here returned to her home in Pendleton, Gordon, Miss, a student of Occidental college in Los Angeles, who has been spending a part of his vacation with his parents in La Grande Friday.
Mrs. A. L. Becker has as her guest Mrs. Walgreen, of Pendleton, who arrived Thursday for a few days visit.
Mrs. T. C. Holly was hostess at a small bridge luncheon Wednesday. The guests were Mrs. G. E. Barker, Mrs. A. G. Conklin and Mrs. T. R. Conklin.
Mrs. William J. Hallmark and two sons, Lewis and Arnold, spent Thursday at Dr. Erwin's office in La Grande.
J. E. Calavan, state club leader of O. A. C., and E. A. Kaye, county school superintendent, met the various club workers and their

Wife—"If I were to die I wonder would you remember me for long?"
Hubby—"I think so, dear—the doctor says my indignation is incurable."

"Egotism is the anaesthetic nature gives to deaden the pain of being a fool."

"A man's place is by his wife's side." "Yes," said Mr. Meekton. "But few husbands these days can travel that fast."

At a concert a young lady began a song. "The autumn days have come. Ten thousand leaves are falling."
But she began too high. "Ten thousands," she screamed, and stopped.

"Start her at five thousand," cried an auctioneer present.

Alice: "Gladys has a position as a detective in a big department store."
Grace: "Well I don't envy her. Imagine being a plainclothes woman."

"How's collections at your church, Brudder Jackson?"
"We ain't had to stop in the middle of a collection to go and empty the box."

The secretary of commerce says we have recovered from the war. Melba so, but we'd like to know just what we've recovered.

The Lady—What d'yer mean by insulting my sister?
The Gentleman—I never insulted 'er. All I see was that if 'er face was 'or fortune, she ought to be 'or fortune for tryin' ter pass counterfeit money.

Talking to one's self is regarded as a form of insanity. Fortunately for most of us talking about one's self is not so regarded.

BRANDED FLAPPERS
RICHMOND, Va. — A "brand" about six inches above the knee is the latest fad of the flapper bathing beauty in the Old Dominion. A few pieces of adhesive tape, a few idle hours on the beach, or at the lake, and the girl wears the brand of her choice, usually that of some favored college Greek letter fraternity. The tape prevents sunburn and tanning, leaving the letters plainly visible.

BRITISH GOODS EXCLUDED
MADRID—Impending increases in the customs tariff are expected to eliminate completely all British manufactured goods from the Spanish market.

Leaders of the school house Wednesday evening. The purpose of the meeting was an urgent call for them to make ready their exhibit at the annual picnic at the experiment station at Union, Tuesday, Aug. 29. This picnic is being arranged to take the place of the county fair that has been discontinued. Cove has four clubs, cooking, sewing, homemaking and gardening, to be displayed at the annual picnic.

Mrs. J. R. Price and Mrs. L. M. Laird will entertain the Ladies' Guild at the home of Mrs. Price Thursday.

Section No. 1 of the Woman's club will give a "White Elephant" party at the home of Mrs. Allen Trippier Wednesday.

AT THE THEATERS

"Paid to Love" Coming To Star Sunday

For the dissemination of fact and the playful use of allegorization, "Paid to Love" is a satirical review of a royal romance. It's the Fox picture which comes to the Star theater Sunday only, with George O'Brien and Virginia Valli in the leading roles. J. Farrell MacDonald, as the rich American, who, of course, substitutes for Sir Daniel Cupid, is as funny a comedian as he ever was, which is saying a great deal.

The story deals with a mythical kingdom, the crown prince of which is more interested in mechanics than women. The old king would have his elder son marry and produce heirs, rather than remain single and produce strange noises in the royal garb with his mousing machinery.

But what happens is entirely out of the schedule and it wouldn't be sporting to tell it.

On the same program will also be shown a Krazy Kat comedy and the latest Paramount News.

Melodrama At Colonial Has Great Climax

Played against the background of surging sea and the truly changing and hazardous life of the coast guard patrol, "Perils of the Coast Guard," playing today at the Colonial theater, offers a melodramatic theme climaxing in a heroic scene by the hero of the title of the girl he loves.

All of which is carried by Helen Landis as the hero, Dorothy Dwan as the heroine and Jimmy Aubrey as the inevitable "funny man." Young Landis plays the role of Tom North, the captain of the guards who, clad in the uniform appropriate to the part, is both convincing and satisfying.

The resulting of man and ship being his chosen profession, we are not surprised to find him saving the life of the heroine right off the bat. The heroine, of course, is Dorothy Dwan. Dorothy, you may remember, is the wife in real life of none other than the famous comedian, Larry Semon. No doubt you remember her playing opposite him in that super feature, "The Wizard of Oz." In the present production she is a wealthy girl who marries the young life saving captain because she loves him—only that, and nothing more. Jimmy Aubrey plays a "funny" member of the coast guard who is kept active bumping in and out of hot water. Lillian Gale plays opposite him in the role of the heroine's maid who successfully draws his attention for a time but who finally submits to his blandishments with grace and gratitude.

"Perils of the Coast Guard" was produced by Gerson Pictures Corporation, under the personal supervision of H. Berger, and directed by Oscar Apfel.
