Four Grid Stars Back This Fall In Coast Games

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Four names that blazed brightly across the Pacific coast football firmament in past years are back in the game this season.

Bill Hoffman, fullback who averaged 50-yard forward passes, and his Stanford teammate Dick Hyland are among the number. Hyland, aggressive Cardinal halfback, also was a member of the 1924 Olympic Rugby team.

Captain Morley Harty because of his early season work for Southern California was regarded as a rival of Morton Kær's for All-American honors but a knee injury intervened to blast his hopes. "Hutch" Moecker, alternative quarter for Washington State, is the fourth who is back in play. Moecker, though weighing only 145, is a veritable giant on the gridiron. Last season he was almost without an equal at returning punts and skirting the ends.

This shakeup in the national prohibition enforcement personnel suggests that there must have been a shake-down somewhere along the line.

Subway For Osaka

Teddy Baldock In Title Fight Soon

LONDON (AP)—Teddy Baldock, bantam-weight champion of the world, will defend his title for the first time this fall.

A match has been arranged by the International Sports Syndicate between Baldock and Willie Smith, the South African champion, and the contest will take place at the Royal Albert Hall not later than October.

Baldock reached the world's title in a contest with Archie Bell, Smith, who had a remarkable career as an amateur, represented South Africa at the Olympic Games in Paris in 1924, when he won the world's amateur championship. In spite of many offers to turn professional he returned to South Africa as an amateur, but about two years ago he relinquished his amateur status. A victory recently over Johnny Brown, the British champion, in one of his outstanding achievements.

After winning up their home stand, during which they won 17 out of 24 games, the New York Giants were spending next today for the first of several series that will have much to do with the present chances of the club.

The slugging New Yorkers had to hit him and often yesterday to beat the Boston Braves, 3-6.

Pittsburg held on to first place and a one-game margin over the Giants by beating Cincinnati, 5-9.

St. Louis and the Chicago Cubs were to have played a double header yesterday but rain halted the second game after the warlike champions had won the opener 13-1. The St. Louis victory lowered the Cubs into fourth place.

Shower of Honors

Renewed activity in the Rob-Gehrig home run duel occupied the American League spotlight at Boston where the Yankees divided a double header with the Red Sox. Gaston pitched the St. Louis Browns to a 5-1 win over Cleveland.

Aggies To Start Grid Work Soon; 13 Veterans Gone

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK—America's tennis veterans, gridding themselves for come-backs this year, hope to avoid anything like the "Black Thursday" that marked their downfall in 1926 before the thrust of Franco's Three Musketeers.

The memory of that occasion, one of the darkest in the country's international tennis annals, is still vivid. It witnessed the defeat in a single afternoon of Nick Williams, Bill Johnston and Bill Tilden, before the requests of René Lacoste, Jean Borotra and Henri Cochet. It was a debacle that came with little warning and left Vincent Richards alone of the "Big Four" at that time in the running. Vinny passed out of the picture at the hands of Borotra the next day and France enjoyed the sensation of a battle between two of its sons for the premier tennis crown of America.

The drama of last year's National Singles Championship was packed almost entirely into the quarter-finals. It is likely to be repeated in the 1927 tournament, starting Sept. 12 at Forest Hills. The French threat including Brugnon with the other three, is the same. Unless some younger figure such as George Lott or Johnny Doe breaks through, the American defense will still consist chiefly of the three veterans, Tilden, Johnston and Williams, with Francis Hunter filling in the vacancy left by Richards.

All of these stars will head the "seeded" list, as they did a year ago.

Line Biggest Problem

The line presents the biggest problem to coach Scheller. Lacoste undoubtedly will be slated for one tackle position. The other is a matter for the training season to decide. Center is the coach's most difficult problem as no left-hand candidates are available. Letterman will be back at guard and end.

The Orangemen face a tough schedule this year. They open in Corvallis, October 1, against the veteran California Aggies who last year played the powerful St. Marys eleven to a standstill for three periods. Five conference games follow: Southern California in Los Angeles, Oct. 5; Stanford in Portland, Oct. 22; Washington State (Homecoming) in Corvallis, Oct. 25; Oregon in Eugene, Nov. 17; and Idaho in Portland, Nov. 19. Then they top off the season by playing Carnegie in Portland Nov. 26.

Well, the old sheep men are coming down out of the mountains now to begin to figure around as to where they can do the best on more sheep sheds. Their sheep have increased considerably and consequently they will have to have more room so they can raise more sheep to buy more land to raise more sheep to buy more land to raise more sheep to buy more land, etc. It is certainly gratifying to see sheep men coming down out of the mountains and buy a half acre-load of shingles, a one of lumber and reach down in his hip pocket and pull out a roll of bills big enough to choose a row and handle the money just like it was a little vest pocket coin beer money. It makes you think that the old days have returned again. I guess there is more money in sheep than there is in digging for gold.

I wonder if the folks over in Idaho still take The Observer. We want them to remember us when they need some more paint and shingles.

CHIROPRACTIC

Will Get You Well

Your body at one time functioned normally and if given the chance will do so again. Pinched nerves, causing interference to the impulse they carry, are the cause of most human ailments, and by removing this pressure we are able to restore permanent relief from sickness or disease.

Why does your foot fall asleep when you cross your legs? Simply because you are producing pressure upon the great nerve of the leg, thus cutting off the nerve force to that extremity. A spinal pressure acts much in the same way. It is difficult to walk when your feet are numb, likewise the organs or parts of your body will not function properly when they do not receive the proper amount of nerve energy.
