AT THE THEATERS

Madge Bellamy In "Colleen" At Star

An absorbing story, fine direction and the beautiful and ever-placid Madge Bellamy in the role of an Irish lassie, contribute equally in making a splendid and novel perfect screen entertainment of "Colleen," the feature attraction of the Star theater Sunday and Monday. This happy comedy drama of racing horses and Irish hearts, starred with laughter and thrilling thrills and suspense, will bring an unqualified approval.

Miss Bellamy gives one of the best performances of her career in this story of an old and impoverished Irish family which comes to America to relieve its fortunes.

With their great race horse, "Colleen," But Miss Bellamy is not alone in making this production the splendid entertainment it is. There is J. Farrell Macdonald in the part of the father of the lover, played by Charles Morton, who with Tom McGuire, are a never-fading cause for mirth, while Ted McNamara in role of groom brought forth of laughter every time he appeared in a scene.

This is a picture sure to please every member of the family. A comedy and the latest Paramount News will also be presented.

Jackie Coogan In New Picture At Colonial

In each picture thus far revealing the genius of Jackie Coogan, a different facet of his singular appeal has been disclosed. Since the silver sheet with Charlie Chaplin in "Old Clothes," his most recent film release, every characterization depicted by Jackie has been different from every other. Different depths of pathos, different degrees of merriment, different heights of tragedy and different qualities of humor have been explored in the astoundingly art of this wonder child.

Now comes "Johnny Get Your Hair Cut," different from all the others, at the Colonial theater Sunday and Monday. It is as effective as the best Jackie has given to the world of his admirers. It may not be as elaborate as others he has made; its plot is simpler and less involved; it is not so adventurous as "The Rag Man" nor so harrowing as "Oliver Twist," but it possesses more human appeal with its delightfully wiseful spiritual quality. The story is that of an orphaned youth whose dream of life is an overwhelming ambition to become a successful jockey. How he beats his way to a horse car from one race track to another in his persistent endeavor to become an apprentice jockey, is reminiscent of some of his very first films. His meeting with Mother Skapp, who has a jockey's boarding house in Tanforan and whose duties were not unlike those of the old body who lived in a shoe, is deftly told by the director, "Pop" Shumlin, the used trainer whose only claim to fortune after years spent on horse tracks, is a broken down horse named "haystack," mess Jackie. Ultimately and between the two they work out their salvation.

In this excellent film Jackie has his hair cut.

"Three's a Crowd" Features Harry Langdon

What Lindbergh did for aviation, Harry Langdon does for screen comedy with "Three's a Crowd," his new feature screen screen has released. It will be shown at the Arcade theater Sunday only.

Langdon brings new comedy trails with each of his features, and "Three's a Crowd" is no exception. It is the "surprise" picture of 1927. It contains multitudes of laughs, and a story which is well worth seeing.

Harry is depicted as a tenement boy who falls in love with an ideal, Gladys McConnell, "Baby Star," who plays the ideal. He never meets her, but his adventures in the attempt constitute the story. And what a story!

Langdon, the intangible, is supreme in "Three's a Crowd." It will add new laurels to his crown, and new fans to his following. Langdon is unquestionably the funniest fellow on the screen today, and his witfulness and pathos only accentuate his draft humor.

"Three's a Crowd" is the sort of entertainment this department can recommend—even urge—for the whole family.

"Forgotten Sweeties" is the title of the Hal Roach comedy which will be the first feature of the bill. Charlie Chase is the star and his absent-minded wandering from the straight and narrow path of marital bliss provide the hilarious moments in this delightful farce. Chase is admirably supported by a cast which includes Shirley Palmer, Anita Garvin and Mitchell Lewis.
