DEMOCRATIC UNITED WEST HOPES FALL

United West democrats, who are in the midst of a campaign to elect a committee to represent the party at the national convention, are disappointed in the results of the recent election.

The party's defeat is attributed to the fact that the voters of the United West are not as enthusiastic about the party's platform as they were in previous years.

Despite the disappointment, the party's leaders are optimistic about the future of the party in the United West.

They believe that the party's platform is sound and that they will be able to win the support of the voters in the future.

The party's leaders are also confident that they will be able to win the support of the voters in the future.

Additional results of the handicap tournament were submitted yesterday. Charles Reynolds won from A. E. Kinnison, 5-4, completing the first round. W. D. Vaughn, a winner of the first round, defeated L. K. Kinnel, two up, yesterday, advancing to the next round.
