SOLITARY IN FAMILIES—God settles the solitary in families; he brings out those which are bound with chains; but the rebellious dwell in a dry land. Psalm 68:6.

The political parties may ignore the prohibition issue until a prohibition party arises and ignores them.

New York will yet be an American city if, as its newspapers say, 1,100,000 New York children have just started to school.

Herbert Hoover, in a fishing article in a current magazine, says the trouble with this country is that "it's too long between bites." If Herbert wants to be president, let him run on that platform.

A SCHOOL CYCLE

School days are longer than they used to be. "Extra-curricular" activities take much time. Mothers who have hoped to be able to sit down with their daughters and teach them quietly how to do their mending before clothes are put away each week find the daughters so full of demands on their time that they finally abandon hope.

Just as mother has begun to wonder how a girl will ever learn how to take care of a household, she finds on the list of needed school supplies, along with pencils, notebooks No. 5597 and other mysterious entries, "cereal needles 5 to 9. Thimble. Scissors. Two yards linen dish-towel."

"Sure I have domestic science this year. No, it's not sewing, it's cooking. But we have to make our towels, headbands and aprons before we start to cook."

This sounds sensible and logical enough, but mother still distrusts "Domestic Science" as being a frill without much substance. What do they cook?

"Why, we cook for the cafeteria, of course. Regular school lunches. You know. You stayed for lunch at school one day last year and you liked it. Why don't you ever come to the P. T. A.? Then you'd know all about these things!"

Fair enough. Why not? Well, mother wasn't much of a joiner and she was busy at home, and she never had paid any attention to the P. T. A. But the next time the school has an exhibition of work she goes. And she finds that sewing and cooking and other household arts are being taught sometimes better than she could teach them herself.

HEALTH

BREAST MILK IS BEST

BABY FOOD

By C. H. Moore, M.D., F. C. P., Portland, Oregon

Member Oregon Medical Association

The baby was seven weeks old, cried most of the time and was not gaining the normal rate of gain per week. Kindly intended neighbors told Mrs. Wood H. Prudent of High Street that her breast milk was causing the trouble. Similar mental remarks had come to her through a flood of advertisements of artificial baby foods. Mother instinct made her reluctant to want her baby so she took it at once to up-to-date Dr. Wise.

His verdict was direct and his treatment simple. "There is no such thing as pure breast milk," he told her. "Any of it is best," that the best substitute, breast milk is more than a food; it is a medicine that protects your baby from human diseases. Many lives are prematurely sacrificed and more ill health produced in adults by artificial feeding, to infancy than by any other cause. Your baby is probably not getting enough food for his needs. The quantity, not the quality, is at fault. Food is pure, weight-balance baby scales, weigh the baby before and after each nursing for ten minutes, and bring me the report."

She did, and it showed that when the baby needed attention once a day he was getting: but fifteen, or, worse than that, "Nurse the baby five times a day, ten minutes on each breast at each feeding. Then express the remaining milk by hand, working rapidly for ten minutes on each breast. Save every drop and feed it to the baby. After each nursing give one ounce of a formula, which tastes no sweeter than breast milk. Our nurse will demonstrate breast milk expression for you, or the nearest library will furnish you books that describe the method in detail. Get one of these and study it carefully."

Dr. Wise then determined the mother's blood pressure and hemoglobin. He advised nine hours of sleep a night with a nurse, a simple wholesome diet with ample fluids, a cup or more of nutrient vegetables (such as spinach), meat, milk and whole-wheat cereals and breads.

After one week of hard work on the mother's part, the breast milk began to increase and the baby was less fussy. In three weeks the amount was ample so that the artificial feeding was discontinued. The baby began sleeping eighteen hours a day the whole neighborhood had noticed the baby's feeding victory.

ONION GROWERS GET $16 TO $18

Peach Market Weak in Portland — Top Grade Wholesale Eggs Lower

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 24 (AP)—The last of the Walla Walla onion crop is being forced into the market and movement is reported slow and at reduced prices. From the Yakima valley, 500 to 600 cars are ready to roll but the quality of the grades is so favorable that shipments may be distributed through many weeks. Growers are bidding from 75c to $1.25 per ton.

Dealers in wholesale fresh fruits and vegetables were disposed this morning to shave prices on grapes and tomatoes in order to clean up for the week-end. Commercial grapes from around Salinas were quoted around $1 per 20-pound box. Malaga were at $1 and Thompson seedling were selling $1.25 per box.

State flasks have lost quality of recent receipts of local tomatoes such that prices are forced down to 75c and less per 100 lbs. box. California tomatoes were bringing $1.75 in a short trade.

The peach market is weak and heavy shod 2. H. Hales were making the low as $1.25. Malaga were down around 75c.

McMinville mushrooms were quoted at $2 per crate this morning. The Dallas Bartlett pears were $2.50 to $2.75 per fancy pack box and fancy gravitation apples from Hood River were quoted from $2.50 to $3 per box, according to size. Larger baskets were $1.

A slight reduction in the price of top grade whole eggs was put into effect on the dairy exchange lists for today. Extras and firsts are down 1/2c each to 27 1/2c and 21 1/2c per dozen respectively. Other grades are unchanged.

Country dressed meats and live poultry were quietly unchanged in prices in this morning's early trade on the local wholesale street. A casual under tone was felt for hams topping at 35c.

Heavy buying of U. S. Leathers, Class A stock which advanced 10 points to a new high record, was another feature. International Silver, up 7, and Kelly Springfield, up 5, reached new high prices, as did Barry Brothers, Navajo Chemical and Otis Elevator.

The closing was strong. Total sales approximated 500,000 shares.

WE SELL AND RECOMMEND ROYAL COAL

MINED AT CASTLE GATE, UTAH

Let's see here, now, about the only thing that I can think of to tell the people is about that wonderful 100% pure Monarch coal. Don't forget that there is a big sale on it Monday and it will go fast. We do not want to make the sale, just come down and we will show you what it is. Monarch is the only 100% pure point manufactured in America. The Martin-Senouir point company has a slogan, "a can of Monarch in a person's hand means a lifelong customer." There was a man in the office the other day told us we never would make anything selling point. That he bought a gallon of Monarch and made three out of it.

The California lump Royal Coal is just here. The next time Captain Reed makes a trip to the North Pole all he will have to do is take a lump of Royal coal with him and he won't have to worry about when he'll come back.

Few Men Carry Enough Life Insurance

You believe in life insurance. So does nearly every individual in America. But few men carry enough insurance to provide their families with as adequate an income after death as they now provide while living.

A man of 35 can assure his family $33 at his death for each dollar of his annual investment in life insurance. Yet many men carry very little insurance. These same men would stoutly resent the accusation that they are selfish where their families are concerned.

But are they not preferring the possession and use of one dollar for themselves over the protection of $33 for their family after they can no longer use the one dollar?

Your life insurance estate should be measured in terms of annual income that it can earn for your family.
