RESORT TO ADS

UNION BEACH, N. J. (AP)—Through ads in the town's weekly paper gossips are told to mind their business by Alfred Mirro, barber, and Floyd Wenzel, insurance agent. Mirro offers to give truthful information to such persons who have been telling his wife about him. Wenzel advertises that he has not circulated a story about divorcing his wife.

One of these days a Republican candidate is going to come right out and refuse to run for the presidency.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

AT THE THEATERS

A Gigolo's Romance At Colonial

Romance— in the hearts of a Broadway gigolo and a cabaret cigarette girl. That is the subject matter of Warner Bros.' production of "Matinee Ladies," starring May McAvoy showing at the Colonial theater today and Friday.

Back of this romance is a picture of rich and fashionable wives who have lost interest in their fat bald husbands and who yearn for amorous adventures with younger men during the long afternoons. This demand has been satisfied in New York where these matinee ladies are probably to be found in greatest abundance at the afternoon cabarets where impecunious young men who dance divinely are easy to meet.

Bob, played by Malcolm MacGregor, is one of these easy-to-meet young men. The money he earns as a dancing man saves his college career when it seems that nothing can. Thus he meets the cabaret cigarette girl (May McAvoy). They fall in love, but each suspects the other. Can she love a dancing man? Is a cigarette girl in such a place worth his love? These were the questions which they ask themselves, but in the sweep of events such considerations are soon overwhelmed by more vital considerations. Hedda Hopper, Richard Tucker, Margaret Seddon, Cissy Fitzgerald, and Jean Lefferty are seen in the supporting cast. Byron Haskins directed.

"The Unknown" With Lon Chaney Opens Friday

The tinsel and glamor of a circus—and the sinister shadows of the underworld—these are the two extremes in Lon Chaney's latest and most startling contribution to the drama of the screen.

"The Unknown," Metro-Goldwyn Mayer's newest Chaney vehicle which will be the feature attraction at the Arcade theater Friday and Saturday is a thriller, a mystery, and a wonderfully sweet human love story, all in one, with Lon Chaney, master of weird disguises, in what is undoubtedly the strangest role in his career.

Chaney plays an armless sideshow freak, using his feet as his hands in all the ways the human hands can be used—a thing in itself that took months of practice. He throws knives, fires rifles and does other tricks before an audience in his "act"—and, in his private life, eats, drinks, smokes—and even shaves with his pedal extremities. His facial disguise is amazing—but his uncanny use of his feet, after what would seem an incredibly brief practice, sets this role apart from any he has ever done.

The story is a grim mystery tale, through which, like a golden thread, runs a delicate romantic and a remarkable story of sacrifice. Chaney plays an underworld leader, masquerading as a circus freak and working a series of criminal agencies from the strange hiding place. He comes to love Estrellita, the dancer in the circus (played by Joan Crawford), and this arouses his jealousy for Malabar, the strong man, a role handled by Norman Kerry.

The resultant complication, and the astounding sacrifice that marks the climax of the tale are as original as they are audacious. Tod Browning, who directed the play, is also its author, and Waldemar Young did the scenario. Browning made huge successes, it will be remembered, of "The Unholy Three" and "The Road to Mandalay" among others, but in this play the Browning-Chaney combination seems to have reached almost the ultimate in effective protrayal of a mystery story.

"God's Country" Showing at the Star

Universal is certainly turning out some crackerjacks to late. The Star theater has garnered the local rights on "Back to God's Country" and it is being shown today and Thursday.

This is a remarkable production and has an excellent cast. Renee Adoree is charming and wistful in the starring role. No doubt our citizenry will flood her with fan letters after this.

GLOTZBACH MARRIES

VANCOUVER, Wash., Oct. 6. (AP)—Floyd W. Glotzbach, former husband of Mrs. Margerite Matzenhauer, grand opera singer, and Mrs. Mildred A. Hazel, of New York, were married here Tuesday night. Glotzbach still faces a forgery charge in Portland, Ore., where a jury disagreed after trying him last week.

Roasts from the so-called tender cuts of meat are better cooked without water. In case there is not very much fat, get an extra piece of suet and skewer it to the top. Place the meat in a very hot oven to sear on the outside. Then reduce the temperature and cook slowly until done.

Vapors stop Colds

ONLY vapors can reach colds direct. That's why Vicks brings such quick relief.

When rubbed on at bedtime it is vaporized by the body heat and breathed right into the air passages.

At the same time, like a poultice, it "draws out" the soreness.

Either liquid or dry cleaners may be used to clean windows or glass. Many persons prefer the liquids, such as clear water, or water with washing soda, borax, ammonia, kerosene, or alcohol, added. No dust is scattered in using them. Commercial powders, usually composed of whiting or other material are applied in a thin paste, allowed to dry thoroughly, and then are rubbed off with a soft, clean rag or paper. This method, when employed, should be used before cleaning a room.
