A case to try the wits of Philo Vance, amateur detective of fiction, is the disappearance in New York of Richard J. Reynolds, son of the late tobacco king. Discovery of his automobile half submerged in Long Island Sound was one baffling circumstance.

Klamath Falls Justice Guilty On Two Counts

MEDFORD, Ore., Oct. 8 (AP)—A jury in the federal court at 2 o'clock this morning returned a verdict of guilty on two counts of the indictment charging conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act against W. H. Barnes, justice of the peace at Klamath Falls, and A. D. Lambert, son of a Klamath Falls councilman. They were found guilty of maintaining a nuisance and possession of liquor. L. D. Rice, a co-defendant, was found guilty on one count, maintaining a nuisance. There were 15 counts in the indictment, alleging sale and possession on 14 counts.

Joe Evenson and Jack Miller, previously convicted bootleggers, entered pleas of guilty to similar charges. They were alleged to have used The Smoke, a Klamath Falls resort owned by Lambert, and where Barnes and Rice were employed as clerks, as a base of operations for their bootleg operations.

The court granted a motion asking for 15 days in which to file a motion for a new trial in the case of Barnes, Rice and Lambert. The government contended that the three convicted men knew of the operations of Miller and Evenson.
