

SOCIETY NEWS

Chapter I, P. E. O. Honors Organizer, Mrs. Mary Husted

Honoring Mrs. Mary Husted, of Portland, state organizer, members of Chapter I of P. E. O. entertained at luncheon yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the Foley hotel.

About 20 of the chapter members were present for the luncheon, after which they went to the home of Mrs. A. L. Richardson, president of Chapter I, where a short business session was held and initiatory work was put on for the state officer.

Mrs. Husted gave an interesting talk during the afternoon, emphasizing the supreme convention of P. E. O. which she attended in Oklahoma City. She is now en route to her home in Portland from the convention city.

The rooms of the Richardson home were prettily decorated for the afternoon, many bouquets of roses and asters being used.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Appleby entertained the members of the C. O. club at a 7 o'clock dinner last evening at their home on First street.

After a two-course dinner six tables of bridge were enjoyed for the remainder of the evening. Mrs. Hal Bohnenkamp made high score among the women club members and the men's club prize was won by Norman Frees.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Reaver, parents of the hostess, were the only guests present, and were given the guest prizes.

Bouquets of red roses were used to decorate the rooms.

An attractive party took place last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Siegrist on Walnut street, when they entertained the members of the Alpha club at a bridge-dinner.

Covers were laid for 20 around one large table arranged in the dining room of the home, on which pink roses were used as a centerpiece. Roses were also used to decorate the other rooms of the home.

A three-course dinner was served at 7 o'clock, after which bridge was played at five tables. Mrs. H. M. Bay made high score among the women players and the men's prize went to William Siegrist.

Lodge Convention Will Be Tomorrow

The last meeting previous to the Royal Neighbors' district convention, which will be held here tomorrow, will be this evening when an adjourned session will be held at the home of the orator, Mrs. Curtis Eaton, 5016 Cedar street. The members will ballot on candidates at that time and complete other business preparatory to the convention.

Plans for the convention were finished Wednesday evening, when the regular lodge session was held, with the district deputy, Mrs. Irma Kiebler in attendance. About 50 members were present for the meeting and Mrs. George Macervey was elected convention delegate.

About 250 women are expected here for the convention tomorrow, coming from every town in the district, which includes Baker, Union, Wallowa and Unadilla counties.

The convention will be held in the I. O. O. F. lodge rooms, and will open at 10:30 o'clock in the morning. Mrs. Ida Hamblin, state superintendent, will be among those present.

O. A. C. Corvallis, Ore., Oct. 14.—Freda Klipenstein, of La Grande, has been elected vice president of the Madrigal club, the women's musical organization on the campus. Other officers elected were: Gertrude Skow, of Portland, president; Rose Mary McMullen, of Eugene, secretary; Myrtle Clayton, of Enterprise, treasurer, and Elizabeth Simpson, of Pendleton, librarian.

The Madrigal club and the men's Glee club have begun work under the direction of Paul Petri, professor of music. During the year operettas will be produced by the two clubs and a probable tour of the state will be taken.

A birthday party was given on Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. Paulette Diet in honor of her son, James. The afternoon was spent playing games, after which refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Gwendolyn Fancett.

Those present were Adrian Raas-

FREE FACIALS

Mrs. Whitman, the specialist of the Krank Mfg. Co., will be with use one more day.

Moon Drug Co.
Agents For The Ovel Drug Co.

Jewelry

Mrs. Putnam Hostess To Church Class

Mrs. R. L. Putnam entertained the members of the Young People's Sunday school class of the Central Christian church Wednesday evening at her home on Pennsylvania avenue. Mrs. Putnam is the new teacher of the class and the meeting was held to make plans for the year's work and reorganize the group.

Most of the evening was spent discussing plans, after which the hostess served refreshments.

Carnation Club Meets at Tiffin

Mrs. Olive Kennedy and Mrs. Ernest Walden entertained the Carnation club last evening with an 8 o'clock dinner at the Tiffin. The tables were cleverly decorated in accordance with the Halloween season, black and orange being the predominant colors.

A two-course dinner was served, after which a short business session was held, presided over by the president, Mrs. E. P. Heaster. Five tables of bridge were then formed for the remainder of the evening. High score was made by Mrs. Clark Webb and the second prize went to Mrs. C. E. Wale. Mrs. Harry Owen received the consolation prize.

Mrs. Heaster and Mrs. Clark Webb will be the November hostesses to the club.

Mrs. Frank Malotte was hostess at a bridge-luncheon Wednesday afternoon at her home at 1817 Adams avenue. A three-course luncheon was served early in the afternoon, after which three tables of bridge were at play. Mrs. Hubert Cole made high score and the consolation prize went to Mrs. Earl Hough.

The rooms were cleverly decorated in keeping with the Halloween season. Purple and gold colored asters were the flowers used

did not find his duties at the palace anything the dispatch added, and improved his time by cultivating Italian, according to the extent of winning her hand. The government did its utmost to prevent their elopement becoming known, but it finally leaked out.

Princess Irena, slender, blue-eyed, 17-year-old daughter of Denmark's Queen Marie, of Rumania, is reported to have thrown over prospects of marriage with the Prince of Wales, King Boris of Rumania or some other member of royalty to elope with an obscure naval lieutenant of her own country.

Dispatches to the Westminster Gazette, of London, and the New York Evening Post say the rumors has social and governmental circles in Bucharest by the ears and that the royal household has issued a decree forbidding the Rumanian newspapers from printing accounts of "journeys of any member of the royal family."

Missings For Days.

Irena has been missing for some days from her usual haunts, the dispatch to the Post said, and was thought to be on a yacht in the Black sea. She is said to have become acquainted with the naval lieutenant when he was aide de camp to her father, the late King Ferdinand.

The young officer, described as handsome and of courtly manners, was of bridge were at play.

Mrs. Hubert Cole made high score and the consolation prize went to Mrs. Earl Hough.

The rooms were cleverly decorated in keeping with the Halloween season. Purple and gold colored asters were the flowers used

did not find his duties at the palace anything the dispatch added, and improved his time by cultivating Italian, according to the extent of winning her hand. The government did its utmost to prevent their elopement becoming known, but it finally leaked out.

Princess Irena, slender, blue-eyed, 17-year-old daughter of Denmark's Queen Marie, of Rumania, is reported to have thrown over prospects of marriage with the Prince of Wales, King Boris of Rumania or some other member of royalty to elope with an obscure naval lieutenant of her own country.

Dispatches to the Westminster Gazette, of London, and the New York Evening Post say the rumors has social and governmental circles in Bucharest by the ears and that the royal household has issued a decree forbidding the Rumanian newspapers from printing accounts of "journeys of any member of the royal family."

Missings For Days.

Irena has been missing for some days from her usual haunts, the dispatch to the Post said, and was thought to be on a yacht in the Black sea. She is said to have become acquainted with the naval lieutenant when he was aide de camp to her father, the late King Ferdinand.

The young officer, described as handsome and of courtly manners, was of bridge were at play.

Mrs. Hubert Cole made high score and the consolation prize went to Mrs. Earl Hough.

The rooms were cleverly decorated in keeping with the Halloween season. Purple and gold colored asters were the flowers used

did not find his duties at the palace anything the dispatch added, and improved his time by cultivating Italian, according to the extent of winning her hand. The government did its utmost to prevent their elopement becoming known, but it finally leaked out.

Princess Irena, slender, blue-eyed, 17-year-old daughter of Denmark's Queen Marie, of Rumania, is reported to have thrown over prospects of marriage with the Prince of Wales, King Boris of Rumania or some other member of royalty to elope with an obscure naval lieutenant of her own country.

Dispatches to the Westminster Gazette, of London, and the New York Evening Post say the rumors has social and governmental circles in Bucharest by the ears and that the royal household has issued a decree forbidding the Rumanian newspapers from printing accounts of "journeys of any member of the royal family."

Missings For Days.

Irena has been missing for some days from her usual haunts, the dispatch to the Post said, and was thought to be on a yacht in the Black sea. She is said to have become acquainted with the naval lieutenant when he was aide de camp to her father, the late King Ferdinand.

The young officer, described as handsome and of courtly manners, was of bridge were at play.

Mrs. Hubert Cole made high score and the consolation prize went to Mrs. Earl Hough.

The rooms were cleverly decorated in keeping with the Halloween season. Purple and gold colored asters were the flowers used

did not find his duties at the palace anything the dispatch added, and improved his time by cultivating Italian, according to the extent of winning her hand. The government did its utmost to prevent their elopement becoming known, but it finally leaked out.

Princess Irena, slender, blue-eyed, 17-year-old daughter of Denmark's Queen Marie, of Rumania, is reported to have thrown over prospects of marriage with the Prince of Wales, King Boris of Rumania or some other member of royalty to elope with an obscure naval lieutenant of her own country.

Dispatches to the Westminster Gazette, of London, and the New York Evening Post say the rumors has social and governmental circles in Bucharest by the ears and that the royal household has issued a decree forbidding the Rumanian newspapers from printing accounts of "journeys of any member of the royal family."

Missings For Days.

Irena has been missing for some days from her usual haunts, the dispatch to the Post said, and was thought to be on a yacht in the Black sea. She is said to have become acquainted with the naval lieutenant when he was aide de camp to her father, the late King Ferdinand.

The young officer, described as handsome and of courtly manners, was of bridge were at play.

Mrs. Hubert Cole made high score and the consolation prize went to Mrs. Earl Hough.

The rooms were cleverly decorated in keeping with the Halloween season. Purple and gold colored asters were the flowers used

did not find his duties at the palace anything the dispatch added, and improved his time by cultivating Italian, according to the extent of winning her hand. The government did its utmost to prevent their elopement becoming known, but it finally leaked out.

Princess Irena, slender, blue-eyed, 17-year-old daughter of Denmark's Queen Marie, of Rumania, is reported to have thrown over prospects of marriage with the Prince of Wales, King Boris of Rumania or some other member of royalty to elope with an obscure naval lieutenant of her own country.

Dispatches to the Westminster Gazette, of London, and the New York Evening Post say the rumors has social and governmental circles in Bucharest by the ears and that the royal household has issued a decree forbidding the Rumanian newspapers from printing accounts of "journeys of any member of the royal family."

Missings For Days.

Irena has been missing for some days from her usual haunts, the dispatch to the Post said, and was thought to be on a yacht in the Black sea. She is said to have become acquainted with the naval lieutenant when he was aide de camp to her father, the late King Ferdinand.

The young officer, described as handsome and of courtly manners, was of bridge were at play.

Mrs. Hubert Cole made high score and the consolation prize went to Mrs. Earl Hough.

The rooms were cleverly decorated in keeping with the Halloween season. Purple and gold colored asters were the flowers used

did not find his duties at the palace anything the dispatch added, and improved his time by cultivating Italian, according to the extent of winning her hand. The government did its utmost to prevent their elopement becoming known, but it finally leaked out.

Princess Irena, slender, blue-eyed, 17-year-old daughter of Denmark's Queen Marie, of Rumania, is reported to have thrown over prospects of marriage with the Prince of Wales, King Boris of Rumania or some other member of royalty to elope with an obscure naval lieutenant of her own country.

Dispatches to the Westminster Gazette, of London, and the New York Evening Post say the rumors has social and governmental circles in Bucharest by the ears and that the royal household has issued a decree forbidding the Rumanian newspapers from printing accounts of "journeys of any member of the royal family."

Missings For Days.

Irena has been missing for some days from her usual haunts, the dispatch to the Post said, and was thought to be on a yacht in the Black sea. She is said to have become acquainted with the naval lieutenant when he was aide de camp to her father, the late King Ferdinand.

The young officer, described as handsome and of courtly manners, was of bridge were at play.

Mrs. Hubert Cole made high score and the consolation prize went to Mrs. Earl Hough.

The rooms were cleverly decorated in keeping with the Halloween season. Purple and gold colored asters were the flowers used

did not find his duties at the palace anything the dispatch added, and improved his time by cultivating Italian, according to the extent of winning her hand. The government did its utmost to prevent their elopement becoming known, but it finally leaked out.

Princess Irena, slender, blue-eyed, 17-year-old daughter of Denmark's Queen Marie, of Rumania, is reported to have thrown over prospects of marriage with the Prince of Wales, King Boris of Rumania or some other member of royalty to elope with an obscure naval lieutenant of her own country.

Dispatches to the Westminster Gazette, of London, and the New York Evening Post say the rumors has social and governmental circles in Bucharest by the ears and that the royal household has issued a decree forbidding the Rumanian newspapers from printing accounts of "journeys of any member of the royal family."

Missings For Days.

Irena has been missing for some days from her usual haunts, the dispatch to the Post said, and was thought to be on a yacht in the Black sea. She is said to have become acquainted with the naval lieutenant when he was aide de camp to her father, the late King Ferdinand.

The young officer, described as handsome and of courtly manners, was of bridge were at play.

Mrs. Hubert Cole made high score and the consolation prize went to Mrs. Earl Hough.

The rooms were cleverly decorated in keeping with the Halloween season. Purple and gold colored asters were the flowers used

did not find his duties at the palace anything the dispatch added, and improved his time by cultivating Italian, according to the extent of winning her hand. The government did its utmost to prevent their elopement becoming known, but it finally leaked out.

Princess Irena, slender, blue-eyed, 17-year-old daughter of Denmark's Queen Marie, of Rumania, is reported to have thrown over prospects of marriage with the Prince of Wales, King Boris of Rumania or some other member of royalty to elope with an obscure naval lieutenant of her own country.

Dispatches to the Westminster Gazette, of London, and the New York Evening Post say the rumors has social and governmental circles in Bucharest by the ears and that the royal household has issued a decree forbidding the Rumanian newspapers from printing accounts of "journeys of any member of the royal family."

Missings For Days.

Irena has been missing for some days from her usual haunts, the dispatch to the Post said, and was thought to be on a yacht in the Black sea. She is said to have become acquainted with the naval lieutenant when he was aide de camp to her father, the late King Ferdinand.

Jewelry

Paris' latest ensemble is the Roman gold set of necklace, earrings and bracelet. Hand-hammered, they are an exact reproduction of old Roman links and come in Roman gold finish.

Louis Standley, and Mrs. Irwin Moss.

Carnation Club Meets at Tiffin

Mrs. Olive Kennedy and Mrs. Ernest Walden entertained the Carnation club last evening with an 8 o'clock dinner at the Tiffin. The tables were cleverly decorated in accordance with the Halloween season, black and orange being the predominant colors.

A two-course dinner was served, after which a short business session was held, presided over by the president, Mrs. E. P. Heaster. Five tables of bridge were then formed for the remainder of the evening. High score was made by Mrs. Clark Webb and the second prize went to Mrs. C. E. Wale. Mrs. Harry Owen received the consolation prize.

Mrs. Heaster and Mrs. Clark Webb will be the November hostesses to the club.

Mrs. Frank Malotte was hostess at a bridge-luncheon Wednesday afternoon at her home at 1817 Adams avenue. A three-course luncheon was served early in the afternoon, after which three tables of bridge were at play. Mrs. Hubert Cole made high score and the consolation prize went to Mrs. Earl Hough.

The rooms were cleverly decorated in keeping with the Halloween season. Purple and gold colored asters were the flowers used

did not find his duties at the palace anything the dispatch added, and improved his time by cultivating Italian, according to the extent of winning her hand. The government did its utmost to prevent their elopement becoming known, but it finally leaked out.

Princess Irena, slender, blue-eyed, 17-year-old daughter of Denmark's Queen Marie, of Rumania, is reported to have thrown over prospects of marriage with the Prince of Wales, King Boris of Rumania or some other member of royalty to elope with an obscure naval lieutenant of her own country.

Dispatches to the Westminster Gazette, of London, and the New York Evening Post say the rumors has social and governmental circles in Bucharest by the ears and that the royal household has issued a decree forbidding the Rumanian newspapers from printing accounts of "journeys of any member of the royal family."

Missings For Days.

Irena has been missing for some days from her usual haunts, the dispatch to the Post said, and was thought to be on a yacht in the Black sea. She is said to have become acquainted with the naval lieutenant when he was aide de camp to her father, the late King Ferdinand.

The young officer, described as handsome and of courtly manners, was of bridge were at play.

Mrs. Hubert Cole made high score and the consolation prize went to Mrs. Earl Hough.

The rooms were cleverly decorated in keeping with the Halloween season. Purple and gold colored asters were the flowers used

did not find his duties at the palace anything the dispatch added, and improved his time by cultivating Italian, according to the extent of winning her hand. The government did its utmost to prevent their elopement becoming known, but it finally leaked out.

Princess Irena, slender, blue-eyed, 17-year-old daughter of Denmark's Queen Marie, of Rumania, is reported to have thrown over prospects of marriage with the Prince of Wales, King Boris of Rumania or some other member of royalty to elope with an obscure naval lieutenant of her own country.

Dispatches to the Westminster Gazette, of London, and the New York Evening Post say the rumors has social and governmental circles in Bucharest by the ears and that the royal household has issued a decree forbidding the Rumanian newspapers from printing accounts of "journeys of any member of the royal family."

Missings For Days.

Irena has been missing for some days from her usual haunts, the dispatch to the Post said, and was thought to be on a yacht in the Black sea. She is said to have become acquainted with the naval lieutenant when he was aide de camp to her father, the late King Ferdinand.

The young officer, described as handsome and of courtly manners, was of bridge were at play.

Mrs. Hubert Cole made high score and the consolation prize went to Mrs. Earl Hough.

The rooms were cleverly decorated in keeping with the Halloween season. Purple and gold colored asters were the flowers used

did not find his duties at the palace anything the dispatch added, and improved his time by cultivating Italian, according to the extent of winning her hand. The government did its utmost to prevent their elopement becoming known, but it finally leaked out.

Princess Irena, slender, blue-eyed, 17-year-old daughter of Denmark's Queen Marie, of Rumania, is reported to have thrown over prospects of marriage with the Prince of Wales, King Boris of Rumania or some other member of royalty to elope with an obscure naval lieutenant of her own country.

Dispatches to the Westminster Gazette, of London, and the New York Evening Post say the rumors has social and governmental circles in Bucharest by the ears and that the royal household has issued a decree forbidding the Rumanian newspapers from printing accounts of "journeys of any member of the royal family."

Missings For Days.

Irena has been missing for some days from her usual haunts, the dispatch to the Post said, and was thought to be on a yacht in the Black sea. She is said to have become acquainted with the naval lieutenant when he was aide de camp to her father, the late King Ferdinand.

The young officer, described as handsome and of courtly manners, was of bridge were at play.

Mrs. Hubert Cole made high score and the consolation prize went to Mrs. Earl Hough.

The rooms were cleverly decorated in keeping with the Halloween season. Purple and gold colored asters were the flowers used

did not find his duties at the palace anything the dispatch added, and improved his time by cultivating Italian, according to the extent of winning her hand. The government did its utmost to prevent their elopement becoming known, but it finally leaked out.

Princess Irena, slender, blue-eyed, 17-year-old daughter of Denmark's Queen Marie, of Rumania, is reported to have thrown over prospects of marriage with the Prince of Wales, King Boris of Rumania or some other member of royalty to elope with an obscure naval lieutenant of her own country.

Dispatches to the Westminster Gazette, of London, and the New York Evening Post say the rumors has social and governmental circles in Bucharest by the ears and that the royal household has issued a decree forbidding the Rumanian newspapers from printing accounts of "journeys of any member of the royal family."

Missings For Days.

Irena has been missing for some days from her usual haunts, the dispatch to the Post said, and was thought to be on a yacht in the Black sea. She is said to have become acquainted with the naval lieutenant when he was aide de camp to her father, the late King Ferdinand.

The young officer, described as handsome and of courtly manners, was of bridge were at play.

Mrs. Hubert Cole made high score and the consolation prize went to Mrs. Earl Hough.

The rooms were cleverly decorated in keeping with the Halloween season. Purple and gold colored asters were the flowers used

did not find his duties at the palace anything the dispatch added, and improved his time by cultivating Italian, according to the extent of winning her hand. The government did its utmost to prevent their elopement becoming known, but it finally leaked out.

Princess Irena, slender, blue-eyed, 17-year-old daughter of Denmark's Queen Marie, of Rumania, is reported to have thrown over prospects of marriage with the Prince of Wales, King Boris of Rumania or some other member of royalty to elope with an obscure naval lieutenant of her own country.

Dispatches to the Westminster Gazette, of London, and the New York Evening Post say the rumors has social and governmental circles in Bucharest by the ears and that the royal household has issued a decree forbidding the Rumanian newspapers from printing accounts of "journeys of any member of the royal family."

Missings For Days.

Irena has been missing for some days from her usual haunts, the dispatch to the Post said, and was thought to be on a yacht in the Black sea. She is said to have become acquainted with the naval lieutenant when he was aide de camp to her father, the late King Ferdinand.

The young officer, described as handsome and of courtly manners, was of bridge were at play.

Mrs. Hubert Cole made high score and the consolation prize went to Mrs. Earl Hough.

The rooms were cleverly decorated in keeping with the Halloween season. Purple and gold colored asters were the flowers used

did not find his duties at the palace anything the dispatch added, and improved his time by cultivating Italian, according to the extent of winning her hand. The government did its utmost to prevent their elopement becoming known, but it finally leaked out.

Princess Irena, slender, blue-eyed, 17-year-old daughter of Denmark's Queen Marie, of Rumania, is reported to have thrown over prospects of marriage with the Prince of Wales, King Boris of Rumania or some other member of royalty to elope with an obscure naval lieutenant of her own country.

Dispatches to the Westminster Gazette, of London, and the New York Evening Post say the rumors has social and governmental circles in Bucharest by the ears and that the royal household has issued a decree forbidding the Rumanian newspapers from printing accounts of "journeys of any member of the royal family."

Missings For Days.

Irena has been missing for some days from her usual haunts, the dispatch to the Post said, and was thought to be on a yacht in the Black sea. She is said to have become acquainted with the naval lieutenant when he was aide de camp to her father, the late King Ferdinand.

The young officer, described as handsome and of courtly manners, was of bridge were at play.

Mrs. Hubert Cole made high score and the consolation prize went to Mrs. Earl Hough.

The rooms were cleverly decorated in keeping with the Halloween season. Purple and gold colored asters were the flowers used

did not find his duties at the palace anything the dispatch added, and improved his time by cultivating Italian, according to the extent of winning her hand. The government did its utmost to prevent their elopement becoming known, but it finally leaked out.

Princess Irena, slender, blue-eyed, 17-year-old daughter of Denmark's Queen Marie, of Rumania, is reported to have thrown over prospects of marriage with the Prince of Wales, King Boris of Rumania or some other member of royalty to elope with an obscure naval lieutenant of her own country.

Dispatches to the Westminster Gazette, of London, and the New York Evening Post say the rumors has social and governmental circles in Bucharest by the ears and that the royal household has issued a decree forbidding the Rumanian newspapers from printing accounts of "journeys of any member of the royal family."

Missings For Days.

Irena has been missing for some days from her usual haunts, the dispatch to the Post said, and was thought to be on a yacht in the Black sea. She is said to have become acquainted with the naval lieutenant when he was aide de camp to her father, the late King Ferdinand.

The young officer, described as handsome and of courtly manners, was of bridge were at play.

Mrs. Hubert Cole made high score and the consolation prize went to Mrs. Earl Hough.

The rooms were cleverly decorated in keeping with the Halloween season. Purple and gold colored asters were the flowers used

did not find his duties at the palace anything the dispatch added, and improved his time by cultivating Italian, according to the extent of winning her hand. The government did its utmost to prevent their elopement becoming known, but it finally leaked out.

Princess Irena, slender, blue-eyed, 17-year-old daughter of Denmark's Queen Marie, of Rumania, is reported to have thrown over prospects of marriage with the Prince of Wales, King Boris of Rumania or some other member of royalty to elope with an obscure naval lieutenant of her own country.

Dispatches to the Westminster Gazette, of London, and the New York Evening Post say the rumors has social and governmental circles in Bucharest by the ears and that the royal household has issued a decree forbidding the Rumanian newspapers from printing accounts of "journeys of any member of the royal family."

Missings For Days.

Irena has been missing for some days from her usual haunts, the dispatch to the Post said, and was thought to be on a yacht in the Black sea. She is said to have become acquainted with the naval lieutenant when he was aide de camp to her father, the late King Ferdinand.

Princess Jilts Royalty; Favors Young Officer

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (AP)—Princess Irena, slender, blue-eyed, 17-year-old daughter of Denmark's Queen Marie, of Rumania, is reported to have thrown over prospects of marriage with the Prince of Wales, King Boris of Rumania or some other member of royalty to elope with an obscure naval lieutenant of her own country.

Dispatches to the Westminster Gazette, of London, and the New York Evening Post say the rumors has social and governmental circles in Bucharest by the ears and that the royal household has issued a decree forbidding the Rumanian newspapers from printing accounts of "journeys of any member of the royal family."

Missings For Days.

Irena has been missing for some days from her usual haunts, the dispatch to the Post said, and