Mrs. Lilliendahl's Frown and Smile

(NEA Service, New York Bureau)
Mrs. Margaret Lilliendahl frowned her refusal when detectives asked her to re-enact the murder of her husband, a New Jersey physician, as she had described it. But she smiled when she admitted she received clandestine "Peggy Anderson" letters from William Beach, neighbor who disappeared just before a charge was filed against him. These photos of Mrs. Lilliendahl were made on the back porch of her home as she talked to the sleuths. In one she is holding her pet Spaniel "Patsy."
